A Bit Overwhelmed:

Dead Son's War Bride Joins Family

By DICK SIMONSON
Star Staff Writer

WANN, Neb.—The residents of this tiny hamlet have taken the Japanese wife and child of a dead soldier-son to their hearts—and the pair has been a bit overwhelmed by it all.

After more than two years of haggling among immigration officials, President Eisenhower last summer signed special legislation admiting Mrs. Ishi Washburn and Terry as non-quota immigrants.

The mother and child arrived in Denver Dec. 20, where they were met by Mrs. Glen Skiles, a sister of the soldier.

Mrs. Washburn, 24-year-old nurse from Kyoto, Japan, met and married Pfc. Wendell Washburn, thrice-wounded Yank Ranger-paratrooper when he was sent to the big service hospital in Kyoto during the Korean war.

Shortly thereafter in 1951, he returned to Korea, and when fighting ceased, his unit was assigned to a base in Japan.

On the night that should have been the happiest for the young couple, Wendell was stabbed to death in his barracks while he slept. The killer was never found by Army investigators, his parents said.

At almost the same time, Ishi was giving birth to Terry at the Kyoto-Army hospital.

Now, young Terry, a strapping 35-pounder, and his mother are making their home here with Wendell's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Washburn. Wann is eight miles north of Ashland, where Wendell is busied in a cemetery.

Still in Kyoto are her father, three sisters, and three brothers.

"I learn English slow," said Mrs. Washburn, a petit brunette.

"Wendell spoke good Japanese, though, and we could understand each other fine." With this she attempted to quiet the 2½ year-old "cowboy" who'd been completely outfitted by Santa Claus.

Likes Malts

Terry thinks malted milks are "swell," his grandfather said, but as yet he's not "too keen on hamburgers."

"Yes, I like America," the war-bride mused. "You have many, many automobiles here."

In Japan, she explained, television "is in some stores, but not in homes."

Christmas has been the high-point since their recent arrival.

Several cousins, along with Little Terry, received a personal visit from "Santa Claus." Although the tot was "scared at first," his grandfather said, he "really enjoyed it all later."

Mrs. Washburn, while retaining hers and Terry's residence here, said she hopes to spend considerable time in Denver with her sister-in-law.

"It's such a big place," she said, wide-eyed.

Road Group Asks Relocation Policies

Want Anderson To List Duties Of State Agencies; Crosby Stalls

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

The Highway Commission at its meeting Tuesday voted to ask Gov-elect Victor Anderson to outline the duties and responsibilities of both the commission and the State Highway Department.

In particular they want responsibility placed in connection with highway re-locations now under study and future relocations.

It was over this responsibility that the commission, the department and the governor recently clashed. The commission had voted that the decision of Gov. Robert Crosby and State Engineer L. N. Ress on relocation of Nebr. 35 between Wayne and Wakefield should be reversed.

Crosby's Statement Delayed

Gov. Crosby has stated that before leaving office, he intends to issue a statement giving his views of the law in regard to division of responsibilities.

Tuesday he said he would hold up the statement pending action at its meeting.

The commission also agreed on proposed primary and state aid systems of highways for presenting to the Legislature as instructed by the law establishing the commission. It was agree that 500 copies of the maps should be printed for distribution when the commission reports to the Legislature.

Actually, little difference exists between the two systems, Ress explained, because both are built with state and federal funds and maintained by the state. He said a bill would be introduced in the coming session to provide for one state highway system.

A legislative committee was named to work with the department on highway legislation introduced at the next session.

Lists Bills

Ress told the commission that among bills the department will sponsor include recodification of present state highway laws with elimination of conflicts and outmoded provisions and a retirement system for department employees.

Other bills will provide for breaking up the Department of Roads and Irrigation into separate agencies. This will also make possible changes in salaries of employees. The state engineer's salary is now frozen under the eight year provision of the Constitution.

Ress reported to the commission that construction put under contract the past year amounted to $22,448,000. Of this, $7,200,000 was on primary roads, $3,200,000 secondary funds, $373,000 on the interstate system, cities and villages $1,034,000, urban funds $750,000 and county matching $878,000.

The contracts provide for 86 miles of concrete, 37 miles of bituminous mat, 259 miles of gravel and 452 miles of grading and culverts.

Ress explained that the federal secondary funds are intended primarily for matching with county funds but that counties have failed to take advantage of those funds. So far, he said the state had managed to make up the difference so that no federal funds have been lost, but he said this could not last indefinitely.

A provision for transfer of 10 per cent of primary or secondary federal funds to the other category, he said is all that saved the state from losing federal funds. Last biennium the secondary funds were used for the Omaha road to Carter Lake and this year a transfer permitted construction of Lincoln's "O" Street viaduct.

The State Engineer explained that he could see little opportunity for the state to match all of the federal interstate road funds available. It requires provision for a four-lane limited access highway.

Access roads to either the interstate system or the proposed toll roads would require the state to build many access roads to cities that would be by-passed, Ress said.

He explained that the interstate route has been changed to come a mile and a half closer to Lincoln in order to cut down the roads from the city to it. He said it would quite likely also by-pass Seward, York and Aurora.

The commission reduced slightly its proposed 6,500 mile limit on the primary system so that roads of this type could be built.

'Do-It-Yourself' Plans Have Their Hazards

The G. R. Swiharts of 2338 Calumet Court discovered Tuesday night that "doing it yourself" has its haazrds.

Swihart was removing paint from a window sill in the kitchen when some paint remover spilled onto the gas range, coming in contact with the pilot light.

A chair and the range were partially damaged before firemen doused the blaze.

—Mendes Test—

Arms Okay Seen

Arming Approval Is Expected By French

PARIS (INS) — The French National Assembly is expected to approve West German rearmament in a confidence test vote Wednesday—but without enthusiasm and in a very close ballot.

The key vote to put 500,000 West Germans in the regional defense unit known as the Western European Union, linked with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, is scheduled at 4 p.m. (9 a.m. CST).

(Radio Moscow made another last ditch effort Tuesday night to wreck the pacts by accusing the French government of trying to dupe public opinion by maintaining that talks with the Russians would be possible after ratification of the accords.

(In a special French language broadcast the radio said a ratification of the Western defense accords would make any talks on German reunification or the Austrian question quite useless.)

Tough Job

French Premier Pierre Mendes-France, whose government will stand or fall on the issue, told his associates he faced a tough job in winning approval of an over-all ratification bill.

Deputies broke up early Tuesday after a 14-hour session in which Mendes-France won assembly approval, 289, to 251, for the articles in the Paris accords providing for West German entry into NATO.

The Assembly's Foreign Affairs Committee blocked another immediate vote of confidence on an article providing for Bonn's rearming within the Western European Union (WEU), the new seven-nation pact based on the old five-nation Brussels treaty.

The committee rejected the bill whereupon the Premier quickly introduced a new ratification bill which will be one of the issues in the two test votes Wednesday.

German Entry

The other test will come when Mendes-France seeks a reversal of the Assembly's vote last Friday, in which the Paris legislative body rejected the key part of the Paris accords, the part allowing German entry into WEU.

Mendes-France told his aides Tuesday "the vote will be close and the majority strongly reduced."

In this political maneuvering of course there was always the danger of miscalculation which could lead to defeat of the ratification bill. The Premier's opponents, including those who reluctantly have gone along wtih Mendes-France on the accords rather than risk the danger of a wrecked Western alliance, are determined to give him only a bare majority.

If Mendes-France should get an adverse vote he must resign, and France will be shunted aside by the United States and Britain who are determined to rearm West Germany regardless of French action.

When Is A Stopped Car Not A Stopped Car? When It's Parked

When is a motor vehicle "stopped" and when is it "parked"?

This was a question in a city traffic charge against Max Kier, Lincoln attorney, which has been dismissed by Lancaster District Judge Harry Spencer.

Kier had appealed from a Municipal Court conviction and a $5 fine on a charge of "stopping a motor vehicle in such a manner as to interfere with lawful use of the street."

The police officer, who issued the summons, testified he observed the car stopped on South between 25th nad 26th last June 16.

On cross-examination, he admitted the driver was not in the car when he "ticketed" it.

Kier contended the charge of "stopping a motor vehicle" was not proved by the evidence in that the car was "observed in a parked condition," the driver "already having left the vehicle."

Kier observed that "cars are ticketed for parking offenses," while drivers must be summoned in traffic offenses, as implied by the charge.

Judge Spencer sustained the defendant's motion for dismissal for want of proof on the charge.

Clergyman Murdered, Former Convict Held

Curate Of St. Peter's Church In Philadelphia Beaten To Death

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The 59-year-old curate of historic St. Peter's Episcopal Church was beaten to death Tuesday in his bachelor quarters near the heart of the city.

The body of Dr. Benjamin H. Bissell, clad only in a tee-shirt, was found by police looking into an auto accident.

It lay on a bed in a welter of tumbled and bloody linen. The floor of the bedroom was strewn with clothing and other personal belongings snatched from hooks or from bureau drawers. Telephone wires in the dining-room were ripped from the wall box. Lights blazed throughout the three-rooms-and-bath apartment.

Later in the day investigators said that an ex-convict who was released from prison less than three months ago admitted that he was with the clergyman in his apartment Monday night and striking him after a quarrel.

About a half hour before Dr. Bissell's body was found, his sedan of British make, was smashed up in an accident several blocks from where the curate lived.

Morrison

Pinned in the wreckage of the car was the former convict, identified by police as James Morrison, 26. The officers said that Morrison, who was driving Dr. Bissell's car, was released from Holmesburg Prison in Philadelphia last Sept. 30 after serving the maximum of one to three years for larceny.

Detective Henry Brown of the homicide details quoted Morrison as saying that he could not remember how long he was in the minister's apartment nor how many times he struck him with his fists. Morrison denied that he ransacked the apartment. Asked to explain why Dr. Brissell's wristwatch was in the wrecked car, Morrison told police, "I must have picked it up while looking for mine."

Pending further investigation, police charged Morrison with larceny of an automobile and burglary. He is under guard in Jefferson Hospital, handcuffed to his bed in a public ward.

English Churches

Born in Hebron, Conn., Dr. Bissell attended Wesleyan College and won a Ph. D. degree from Yale. Before coming to St. Peter's, he served as curate at three English Churches. St. John's, London (1930-32), St. Andrews, Chesterton, Cambridge (1933-39) and in 1950 at Heath Vicarage, Leighton Buzzard, Bedfordshire. For a time he also served in Oxford, on a missionary assignment. His missionary work included also posts in Central America and the West Indies.

He was the author of a book entitled "The American Indian in English Literature of the 18th Century."

His only known survivors is a married sister believed to be living in Arizona.

Delinquency A Major Factor

Return To Religion, Stronger Family Ties Best Ways To Halt Youths' Lawlessness, FBI Boss Says

NEW YORK (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says a crime wave of "grave proportions" may strike the nation unless an alarming increase in juvenile delinquency is checked.

Hoover, writing in the January issue of the American magazine, advocated a return to religion and strengthening of family ties as means of halting youthful lawlessness.

Hoover

Available reports, he said, indicate crime of all kinds increased about 8.2 per cent in 1954 over 1953.

Hoover said that in 1953 persons under 18 accounted for 53.6 per cent of all car thieves in 1,174 reporting cities, 49.3 per cent of burglars, 40.1 of all other thieves, 18 per cent of robbers and 16.2 per cent of rapists.

One of the things which has helped bring about the delinquency problem, Hoover said, is the "age of debunking."

He declared it had "seriously undermined the traditions, customs and standards of adult conduct and added:

"When children grow up among adults who refuse to recognize anything as fine, good, or worthy of respect, it is not surprising that a certain number fail to develop high moral standards or even to distinguish between right and wrong."

Declaring juvenile delinquency is always rooted in adult delinquency, Hoover said he believes the easiest way to bring about higher moral values is through religion.

Noted Doctor And Patient Found Dead

. . . Suicide Pact Indicated

ATLANTA (AP) — The wife of a 40-year-old former paratroop surgeon found him dying and a woman patient dead Tuesday on a bed in the latter's home.

Preliminary police investigation pointed to a suicide pact stemming from a love affair.

Mrs. Paul D. Vella told police she went to the home of Mrs. Avon Bonner, 34, to determine why her husband hadn't returned home for breakfast after answering a 3 a.m. call to the Bonner house.

There, she said, she found her husband and Mrs. Bonner, both fully clothed, lying on a bed. Mrs. Bonner apparently had been dead for some time and Vella died before arrival of police in response to a call from Mrs. Vella.

In the room were seven empty or partially empty bottles labeled as containing powerful sedatives. Autopsies were performed and a coroner's inquest was to be held later.

Detective W. E. Petty identified Mrs. Bonner's husband as Crenshaw Bonner, Southern sales representative of the Music Corp. of America. Petty said Bonner told officers he separated from his wife two months ago after 14 years of marriage and had agreed to give her a divorce so she could marry Vella. He added that he had custody of their three sons, aged 9, 8 and 3, and that the children have been staying with his mother.

Vella also is survived by three sons.

A native of New York, he won several decorations in World War II as a surgeon with the 517th Parachute Infantry Regiment during the fighting in Italy.

Omaha Woman Plunges 150 Feet; Is OK

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—Two young women survived a 150-foot cliff plunge in an auto Monday night, one rescued from a precarious perch half way up.

Miss Ava Muckler, 22, Omaha, Neb., the driver, and Miss Sonia Kravchook, 18, St. Paul, Minn., were touring California. Highway patrolmen said their car failed to complete a hairpin turn in the San Marcos Pass on California's Highway 150 about 25 miles north of here.

Miss Kravchook walked to a ranch home. Miss Muckler crawled back up the cliff, about half way, then hung on to bushes as the ground began crumbling beneath her.

A highway patrolman slid down to help her while another radioed here for rope, with which she was brought up the cliff.

Both young women, with cuts and bruises but not in serious condition, were taken to Cottage Hospital for an observation.

County Road Crash Fatal To David Citian

DAVID CITY, Neb. (AP)—Vaude Parsley, 36, was fatally injured and two others hurt in the collision of two cars at an intersection five miles west of David City Tuesday afternoon.

John Parsley, 62, father of Vaude, was described as in "very critical" condition at a David City hospital. The two, farmers near Rising City, were together in one car.

Driver of the other car, a 1955 model demonstrator, was auto salesman Clark Beaver of Bellwood. He suffered cuts and bruises. The Beaver car burned after the accident.

Warm Up After Winter Jilting

After promised winter weather failed to develop in Nebraska, the weather bureau forecasts a general warm up over the state Wednesday.

Temperatures are predicted to rise into the 30s and lower 40s. Wednesday night, however, it is expected to turn colder again.

Early Wednesday morning lows belied the forecast warmup. North Platte, at 12:30 a.m., had a 5 below zero reading. Imperial had 4 degrees, Burwell 6, and Sidney 8.

'Natural' Curves Covered By 'Respectable' Clothes—

Comic Book 'Czar' Proud Of Sweeping 'Face Lifting'

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

NEW YORK (INS) — The nation's comic books are undergoing a new look, a real face-lifting."

Former New York City Judge Charles F. Murphy, who is acting as code administrator for Comics Magazine Association of America, said Tuesday that sweeping revisions of comic books have been made since his "czar's" office was created by the industry two months ago as a self-regulatory movement.

All forms of horror, terror, violence and crime-instruction books are outlawed under the code, according to Murphy.

And — sh-h-h — Murphy said that more than 25 per cent of the changes made by his staff of reviewers involved reduction of feminine curves to more "natural dimensions" and extending the line of clothing "to cover a respectable amount of the female body."

Giving the ladies "the Dior look," is the standard phrase used by Murphy's reviewers.

The balance of changes involved taking out facial distortions, the removal of knives and bullets and explicit examples of how crimes are committed.

Reporting on the progress of his work as "czar" at a news conference in his office in Manhattan, Murphy said some of the revisions included:

1. The expunging of more than 5,656 comic drawings since Oct. 27.
2. The outright rejection of 126 comic book stories as "unsuitable."

Murphy said the drawings and stories are part of 440 magazines slated for publication in early 1955. Magazines whose contents are suitable for perusal are to be stamped by late February with a seal of approval in the upper right hand corner.

Commenting on the code adopted last Oct. 26, Murphy declared:

"I have been adamant on the strict enforcement of the spirit as well as the letter of the code."

John Goldwater, president of the Comics Magazine Association of America, reported that the first stage of the Industry's self-regulation has been "successful."

"Many artists and writers have learned to rewrite or redraw sequences and still maintain the same reader interest," Goldwater said.

"I am sure there is not a single artist or writer working for the comic book industry today who does not now realize that it is possible to write effective, best-selling comic book stories without in any way violating accepted standards of good taste."

Twenty-eight firms are members of the association. Three comic book concerns have so far refrained from membership.

Judge Murphy told reporters that many factors contribute to juvenile delinquency. Some people, he said, point to home life, schools, environment and comic books but "you can't name any single one as responsible." Every one, he added, is "trying to find the answer."

In the long run, Murphy declared, "the public will have to decide for itself whether we are doing our job satisfactorily."

Local Committee Begins Comic Book Study Wednesday

Lincoln's Juvenile Crime Prevention Committee is scheduled to begin its study of the comic book situation at a meeting Wednesday afternoon. The Committee, along with the Lincoln City Library, was charged with this responsibility in a resolution approved by the City Council.

The Council resolution, introduced by Councilwoman Mrs. Fern Hubbard Orme, is aimed at developing a self regulatory program among wholesalers, publishers, retailers and others who have any part in the distribution and sale of comic books. The committee is expected to review all present activity in the field of comic book regulations.

Want Anderson To List Duties Of State Agencies; Crosby Stalls

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

The Highway Commission at its meeting Tuesday voted to ask Gov-elect Victor Anderson to outline the duties and responsibilities of both the commission and the State Highway Department.

In particular they want responsibility placed in connection with highway re-locations now under study and future relocations.

It was over this responsibility that the commission, the department and the governor recently clashed. The commission had voted that the decision of Gov. Robert Crosby and State Engineer L. N. Ress on relocation of Nebr. 35 between Wayne and Wakefield should be reversed.

Crosby's Statement Delayed

Gov. Crosby has stated that before leaving office, he intends to issue a statement giving his views of the law in regard to division of responsibilities.

Tuesday he said he would hold up the statement pending action at its meeting.

The commission also agreed on proposed primary and state aid systems of highways for presenting to the Legislature as instructed by the law establishing the commission. It was agree that 500 copies of the maps should be printed for distribution when the commission reports to the Legislature.

Actually, little difference exists between the two systems, Ress explained, because both are built with state and federal funds and maintained by the state. He said a bill would be introduced in the coming session to provide for one state highway system.

A legislative committee was named to work with the department on highway legislation introduced at the next session.

Lists Bills

Ress told the commission that among bills the department will sponsor include recodification of present state highway laws with elimination of conflicts and outmoded provisions and a retirement system for department employees.

Other bills will provide for breaking up the Department of Roads and Irrigation into separate agencies. This will also make possible changes in salaries of employees. The state engineer's salary is now frozen under the eight year provision of the Constitution.

Ress reported tc the commission that construction put under contract the past year amounted to $22,448,000. Of this, $7,200,000 was on primary roads, $3,200,000 secondary funds, $373,000 on the interstate system, cities and villages $1,034,000, urban funds $750,000 and county matching $878,000.

The contracts provide for 86 miles of concrete, 37 miles of bituminous mat, 259 miles of gravel and 452 miles of grading and culverts.

Ress explained that the federal secondary funds are intended primarily for matching with county funds but that counties have failed to take advantage of those funds. So far, he said the state had managed to make up the difference so that no federal funds have been lost, but he said this could not last indefinitely.

A provision for transfer of 10 per cent of primary or secondary federal funds to the other category, he said is all that saved the state from losing federal funds. Last biennium the secondary funds were used for the Omaha road to Carter Lake and this year a transfer permitted construction of Lincoln's "O" Street viaduct.

The State Engineer explained that he could see little opportunity for the state to match all of the federal interstate road funds available. It requires provision for a four-lane limited access highway.

Access roads to either the interstate system or the proposed toll roads would require the state to build many access roads to cities that would be by-passed, Ress said.

He explained that the interstate route has been changed to come a mile and a half closer to Lincoln in order to cut down the roads from the city to it. He said it would quite likely also bypass Seward, York and Aurora.

The commission reduced slightly its proposed 6,500 mile limit on the primary system so that roads of this type could be built.

Arming Approval Is Expected By French

PARIS (INS) — The French National Assembly is expected to approve West German rearmament in a confidence test vote Wednesday—but without enthusiasm and in a very close ballot.

The key vote to put 500,000 West Germans in the regional defense unit known as the Western European Union, linked with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, is scheduled at 4 p.m. (9 a.m. CST).

(Radio Moscow made another last ditch effort Tuesday night to wreck the pacts by accusing the French government of trying to dupe public opinion by maintaining that talks with the Russians would be possible after ratification of the accords.

(In a special French language broadcast the radio said a ratification of the Western defense accords would make any talks on German reunification or the Austrian question quite useless.)

Tough Job

French Premier Pierre Mendes-France, whose government will stand or fall on the issue, told his associates he faced a tough job in winning approval of an over-all ratification bill.

Deputies broke up early Tuesday after a 14-hour session in which Mendes-France won assembly approval, 289, to 251, for the articles in the Paris accords providing for West German entry into NATO.

The Assembly's Foreign Affairs Committee blocked another immediate vote of confidence on an article providing for Bonn's rearming within the Western European Union (WEU), the new seven-nation pact based on the old five-nation Brussels treaty.

The committee rejected the bill whereupon the Premier quickly introduced a new ratification bill which will be one of the issues in the two test votes Wednesday.

German Entry

The other test will come when Mendes-France seeks a reversal of the Assembly's vote last Friday in which the Paris legislative body rejected the key part of the Paris accords, the part allowing German entry into WEU.

Mendes-France told his aides Tuesday "the vote will be close and the majority strongly reduced."

In this political maneuvering of course there was always the danger of miscalculation which could lead to defeat of the ratification bill. The Premier's opponents, including those who reluctantly have gone along wtih Mendes-France on the accords rather than risk the danger of a wrecked Western alliance, are determined to give him only a bare majority.

If Mendes-France should get an adverse vote he must resign, and France will be shunted aside by the United States and Britain who are determined to rearm West Germany regardless of French action.

Dear Deer

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP)—Venison in his freezer cost George H. Bailey dear. It came from a buck that collided head-on with Bailey's automobile. The car damage was several hundred dollars. The deer dressed out a little more than 100 pounds of usable meat.

When Is A Stopped Car Not A Stopped Car? When It's Parked

When is a motor vehicle "stopped" and when is it "parked"?

This was a question in a city traffic charge against Max Kier, Lincoln attorney, which has been dismissed by Lancaster District Judge Harry Spencer.

Kier had appealed from a Municipal Court conviction and a $5 fine on a charge of "stopping a motor vehicle in such a manner as to interfere with lawful use of the street."

The police officer, who issued the summons, testified he observed the car stopped on South between 25th nad 26th last June 16.

On cross-examination, he admitted the driver was not in the car when he "ticketed" it.

Kier contended the charge of "stopping a motor vehicle" was not proved by the evidence in that the car was "observed in a parked condition," the driver "already having left the vehicle."

Kier observed that "cars are ticketed for parking offenses," while drivers must be summoned in traffic offenses, as implied by the charge.

Judge Spencer sustained the defendant's motion for dismissal for want of proof on the charge.

Clergyman Murdered, Former Convict Held

Curate Of St. Peter's Church In Philadelphia Beaten To Death

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The 59-year-old curate of historic St. Peter's Episcopal Church was beaten to death Tuesday in his bachelor quarters near the heart of the city.

The body of Dr. Benjamin H. Bissell, clad only in a tee-shirt, was found by police looking into an auto accident.

It lay on a bed in a welter of tumbled and bloody linen. The floor of the bedroom was strewn with clothing and other personal belongings snatched from hooks or from bureau drawers. Telephone wires in the dining-room were ripped from the wall box. Lights blazed throughout the three-rooms-and-bath apartment.

Later in the day investigators said that an ex-convict who was released from prison less than three months ago admitted that he was with the clergyman in his apartment Monday night and striking him after a quarrel.

About a half hour before Dr. Bissell's body was found, his sedan of British make, was smashed up in an accident several blocks from where the curate lived.

Morrison

Pinned in the wreckage of the car was the former convict, identified by police as James Morrison, 26. The officers said that Morrison, who was driving Dr. Bissell's car, was released from Holmesburg Prison in Philadelphia last Sept. 30 after serving the maximum of one to three years for larceny.

Detective Henry Brown of the homicide details quoted Morrison as saying that he could not remember how long he was in the minister's apartment nor how many times he struck him with his fists. Morrison denied that he ransacked the apartment. Asked to explain why Dr. Brissell's wristwatch was in the wrecked car, Morrison told police, "I must have picked it up while looking for mine."

Pending further investigation, police charged Morrison with larceny of an automobile and burglary. He is under guard in Jefferson Hospital, handcuffed to his bed in a public ward.

English Churches

Born in Hebron, Conn., Dr. Bissell attended Wesleyan College and won a Ph. D. degree from Yale. Before coming to St. Peter's, he served as curate at three English Churches. St. John's, London (1930-32), St. Andrews, Chesterton, Cambridge (1933-39) and in 1950 at Heath Vicarage, Leighton Buzzard, Bedfordshire. For a time he also served in Oxford, on a missionary assignment. His missionary work included also posts in Central America and the West Indies.

He was the author of a book entitled "The American Indian in English Literature of the 18th Century."

His only known survivors is a married sister believed to be living in Arizona.

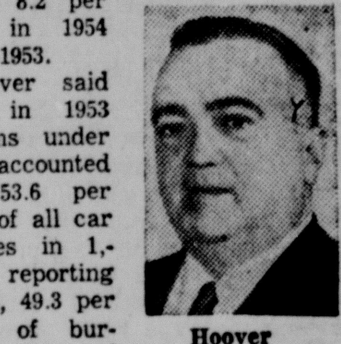
Return To Religion, Stronger Family Ties Best Ways To Halt Youths' Lawlessness, FBI Boss Says

NEW YORK (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says a crime wave of "grave proportions" may strike the nation unless an alarming increase in juvenile delinquency is checked.

Hoover, writing in the January issue of the American magazine, advocated a return to religion and strengthening of family ties as means of halting youthful lawlessness.



Hoover

Available reports, he said, indicate crime of all kinds increased about 8.2 per cent in 1954 over 1953.

Hoover said that in 1953 persons under 18 accounted for 53.6 per cent of all car thieves in 1,174 reporting cities, 49.3 per cent of burglars, 40.1 of all other thieves, 18 per cent of robbers and 16.2 per cent of rapists.

One of the things which has helped bring about the delinquency problem, Hoover said, is the "age of debunking."

He declared it had "seriously undermined the traditions, customs and standards of adult conduct and added:

"When children grow up among adults who refuse to recognize anything as fine, good, or worthy of respect, it is not surprising that a certain number fail to develop high moral standards or even to distinguish between right and wrong."

Declaring juvenile delinquency is always rooted in adult delinquency, Hoover said he believes the easiest way to bring about higher moral values is through religion.

Noted Doctor And Patient Found Dead

. . . Suicide Pact Indicated

ATLANTA (AP) — The wife of a 40-year-old former paratroop surgeon found him dying and a woman patient dead Tuesday on a bed in the latter's home.

Preliminary police investigation pointed to a suicide pact stemming from a love affair.

Mrs. Paul D. Vella told police she went to the home of Mrs. Avon Bonner, 34, to determine why her husband hadn't returned home for breakfast after answering a 3 a.m. call to the Bonner house.

There, she said, she found her husband and Mrs. Bonner, both fully clothed, lying on a bed. Mrs. Bonner apparently had been dead for some time and Vella died before arrival of police in response to a call from Mrs. Vella.

In the room were seven empty or partially empty bottles labeled as containing powerful sedatives. Autopsies were performed and a coroner's inquest was to be held later.

Detective W. E. Petty identified Mrs. Bonner's husband as Crenshaw Bonner, Southern sales representative of the Music Corp. of America. Petty said Bonner told officers he separated from his wife two months ago after 14 years of marriage and had agreed to give her a divorce so she could marry Vella. He added that he had custody of their three sons, aged 9, 8 and 3, and that the children have been staying with his mother.

Vella also is survived by three sons.

A native of New York, he won several decorations in World War II as a surgeon with the 517th Parachute Infantry Regiment during the fighting in Italy.

Omaha Woman Plunges 150 Feet; Is OK

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—Two young women survived a 150-foot cliff plunge in an auto Monday night, one rescued from a precarious perch half way up.

Miss Ava Muckler, 22, Omaha, Neb., the driver, and Miss Sonia Kravchook, 18, St. Paul, Minn., were touring California. Highway patrolmen said their car failed to complete a hairpin turn in the San Marcos Pass on California's Highway 150 about 25 miles north of here.

Miss Kravchook walked to a ranch home. Miss Muckler crawled back up the cliff, about half way, then hung on to bushes as the ground began crumbling beneath her.

A highway patrolman slid down to help her while another radioed here for rope, with which she was brought up the cliff.

Both young women, with cuts and bruises but not in serious condition, were taken to Cottage Hospital for an observation.

County Road Crash Fatal To David Citian

DAVID CITY, Neb. (AP)—Vaude Parsley, 36, was fatally injured and two others hurt in the collision of two cars at an intersection five miles west of David City Tuesday afternoon.

John Parsley, 62, father of Vaude, was described as in "very critical" condition at a David City hospital. The two, farmers near Rising City, were together in one car.

Driver of the other car, a 1955 model demonstrator, was auto salesman Clark Beaver of Bellwood. He suffered cuts and bruises. The Beaver car burned after the accident.

Warm Up After Winter Jilting

After promised winter weather failed to develop in Nebraska, the weather bureau forecasts a general warm up over the state Wednesday.

Temperatures are predicted to rise into the 30s and lower 40s. Wednesday night, however, it is expected to turn colder again.

Early Wednesday morning lows belied the forecast warmup. North Platte, at 12:30 a.m., had a 5 below zero reading. Imperial had 4 degrees, Burwell 6, and Sidney 8.

The Weather

NEBRASKA: Wednesday, increasing cloudiness and a little warmer. Thursday, cloudy with scattered snow flurries. High Wednesday 40s northwest and extreme north.

'Natural' Curves Covered By 'Respectable' Clothes—

Comic Book 'Czar' Proud Of Sweeping 'Face Lifting'

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

NEW YORK (INS) — The nation's comic books are undergoing a new look, a real face-lifting."

Former New York City Judge Charles F. Murphy, who is acting as code administrator for Comics Magazine Association of America, said Tuesday that sweeping revisions of comic books have been made since his "czar's" office was created by the industry two months ago as a self-regulatory movement.

All forms of horror, terror, violence and crime-instruction books are outlawed under the code, according to Murphy.

And — sh-h-h — Murphy said that more than 25 per cent of the changes made by his staff of reviewers involved reduction of feminine curves to more "natural dimensions" and extending the line of clothing "to cover a respectable amount of the female body."

Giving the ladies "the Dior look," is the standard phrase used by Murphy's reviewers.

The balance of changes involved taking out facial distortions, the removal of knives and bullets and explicit examples of how crimes are committed.

Reporting on the progress of his work as "czar" at a news conference in his office in Manhattan, Murphy said some of the revisions included:

1. The expunging of more than 5,656 comic drawings since Oct. 27.
2. The outright rejection of 126 comic book stories as "unsuitable."

Murphy said the drawings and stories are part of 440 magazines slated for publication in early 1955. Magazines whose contents are suitable for perusal are to be stamped by late February with a seal of approval in the upper right hand corner.

Commenting on the code adopted last Oct. 26, Murphy declared:

"I have been adamant on the strict enforcement of the spirit as well as the letter of the code."

John Goldwater, president of the Comics Magazine Association of America, reported that the first stage of the Industry's self-regulation has been "successful."

"Many artists and writers have learned to rewrite or redraw sequences and still maintain the same reader interest," Goldwater said.

"I am sure there is not a single artist or writer working for the comic book industry today who does not now realize that it is possible to write effective, best-selling comic book stories without in any way violating accepted standards of good taste."

Twenty-eight firms are members of the association. Three comic book concerns have so far refrained from membership.

Judge Murphy told reporters that many factors contribute to juvenile delinquency. Some people, he said, point to home life, schools, environment and comic books but "you can't name any single one as responsible." Every one, he added, is "trying to find the answer."

In the long run, Murphy declared, "the public will have to decide for itself whether we are doing our job satisfactorily."

Local Committee Begins Comic Book Study Wednesday

Lincoln's Juvenile Crime Prevention Committee is scheduled to begin its study of the comic book situation at a meeting Wednesday afternoon. The Committee, along with the Lincoln City Library, was charged with this responsibility in a resolution approved by the City Council.

The Council resolution, introduced by Councilwoman Mrs. Fern Hubbard Orme, is aimed at developing a self regulatory program among wholesalers, publishers, retailers and others who have any part in the distribution and sale of comic books. The committee is expected to review all present activity in the field of comic book regulations.

—DIVORCES, MARRIAGES DECLINE—

U.S. Baby Crop In '54 Sets Record

. . . Births This Year To Top 4 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—The biggest baby boom in American history has occurred in 1954.

Surgeon Gen. Leonard A. Scheele of the U.S. Public Health Service made that estimate Tuesday, saying births this year will top four million for the first time. The birth rate per 1,000 population, however, is expected to fall below the 1947 record.

Scheele also forecast, on the basis of vital statistics for the first 10 months, 1954 will show the lowest death rate in history.

The figures showed a drop in both marriages and divorces compared with previous years. Divorce rates have dropped more than 40 per cent since the 1946 peak in the aftermath of World War II.

Death Rate Dips

Scheele said the death rate for 1954 is expected to run 9.2 per 1,000 population. That would be a substantial drop from the rates of 9.6 or 9.7 which have prevailed over the past five years.

Infant and maternal deaths are expected to hit new lows.

"The absence of any reported outbreak of influenza in 1954, with consequent low death rates, accounts for the decline," Scheele said in a prepared statement.

The expected birth rate of 25.2 per 1,000 population would be the second highest in 28 years, and only 5.3 per cent below the peak year of 1947.

Fewer Marriages

A continuing rise in the births of third, fourth and fifth children was probably responsible for the birth increases in 1953 and 1954. No increase in births of first children was expected because of falling marriage rates since 1951.

The marriage rate sank to 9.2 per 1,000 population in the first 10 months of 1954, compared with 9.7 for the similar 1953 period.

"Low birth rates during the 1930s, resulting in relative scarcity of young people of marriageable age in the present decade, were held chiefly responsible for the marriage decline," Scheele said.

Divorces in the first three quarters of 1954 were down 4 per cent from the comparable 1953 period on the basis of reports from 25 areas.

State Shows Increase

The Nebraska Health Department said it had no estimate of 1954 births, but said the births for the first six months of the year were above the figure for the first six months of 1953.

Births in the first six months of '54 were 15,934, compared to 15,253 in the first six months of 1953.

By RENNIE TAYLOR
AP Science Reporter

BERKELEY, Calif (AP) — The world might approach a solution of its increasingly pressing population problem by likening humanity in general to a cancerous growth, a widely known medical researcher said Tuesday.

The philosophy behind this idea is that the human species is a growth that must be controlled and the problems involving its control are something like the problem of controlling malignancy in an individual.

This viewpoint was put before the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science by Dr. Alan Gregg, vice president of the Rockefeller Foundation.

Still Booming

Just as malignant cells grow rapidly and sometimes spread all through the body, so the human species has grown and spread through the earth. In 450 years world population has increased from 500 million to 2.3 billion and is still booming.

Dr. Gregg compared the metastasis, or spreading of cancer, to the colonization of undeveloped parts of the globe: the big appetite of cancer cells to the growing demands of humanity for food, in the course of which man has made inroads on other forms of earthly life.

City slums, he said, in some respects correspond to the degradation of parts of the body attacked by cancer cells.

In another discussion of this problem Dr. Dudley Kirk, of the Population Council, Inc., New York City, said that if the present growth rate continues for another 200 years the global population would reach 40 billion. This he said would mean an average of 750 people per square mile on the entire land surface of the earth. If the growth rate should double, which is a possibility, the 40 billion figure could be reached in about 100 years, he reported.

Period of Grace

Dr. Kirk said the world has a "period of grace" — about two or three generations — to work out a balance. It already shows signs of starting the job, he added.

The main control methods in use, he reported, are: 1. late marriage, as in Ireland. 2. birth control, as practiced in Western Europe, and 3. abortions which in Japan now are reported to exceed one million a year.

Among the alternates, he said, are decimation of the population through war, and overpopulation which would bring on more malnutrition and higher death rates.

Two Injured In Broadside Car Collision

A Walton man and his sister, 65 and 68 years old, were seriously injured in a two-car collision while turning into the drive of their farm home 10½ miles southeast of Lincoln Tuesday night.

Theodore Tychsen, who suffered shock, possible rib and chest injuries and head lacerations, was reported in fair condition Wednesday morning at Lincoln General Hospital.

His sister, Emma Tychsen, suffered chest, rib and hip injuries. She was also in fair condition.

Two teenagers in the other car were slightly injured. They were 19-year-old Jim Wood, a farmer of Rt. 1, Bennet, who was driving, and Donna Anderson, 17, of Bennet. Both suffered minor lacerations and were not hospitalized.

Safety Patrol officers reported the northbound Tychsen car was making a left turn into the farm drive when it was hit broadside by the southbound Wood car, just coming over a hill.

Tychsen's car rolled over twice, landing on its wheels. The Wood car was completely spun around in the impact. Both cars were demolished.

GREENSBURG, Pa. (AP) — The Greensburg Daily Tribune Tuesday published two photographs which it said had been taken inside the Westmoreland County Courthouse where a court-ordered ban against photos is in effect.

The photos showed John Wesley Wable as he was taken to and from the courtroom Tuesday where he was sentenced to death in the electric chair for the slaying of a trucker on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

The ban against photos has been in effect since last Feb. 25 shortly before Wable went on trial. The order stipuates that no photographs of prisoners shall be taken in the courthouse or jail.

A Post-Gazette photographer, James Klingensmith instructed to make himself as conspicuous as possible, took his camera from a shopping bag in a corridor in full view of the sheriff and his deputies. The officers converged on him and ordered him not to use the camera.

Meanwhile, Don Bindyke, another Post-Gazette photographer, and Bob Purdy, a free lancer working for the Tribune, took their shots with concealed miniature cameras.

Howell Has Handcuff Trouble; Loses 40th Bid For Freedom

William E. Howell, ex-Nebraska Penitentiary inmate, Tuesday lost his 40th bid in Federal District Court for freedom.

Judge John W. Delehant dissolved an issued writ of habeas corpus in finding on the evidence presented in hearing that Howell was lawfully in the custody of U. S. Marshal William Raab.

The hearing was delayed some 20 minutes when a key jammed in the lock of one bracelet as Howell's handcuffs were being unlocked before he entered court.

Sawed Off

A technician at the Lincoln Police station tried to extract the key, but later sawed off the offending 'bracelet.'

In his petition and testimony before Judge Delehant. Howell contended he was unlawfully seized by the marshal on Dec. 21 when released from the state prison. He alleged he was not informed of any proceedings against him and denied existence of any.

Reviewing court records in the government's case, Judge Delehant noted that Howell was indicted, tried and convicted in a U.S. District Court for Kansas for violation of the Dyer Act (transporting a stolen vehicle) and sentenced in February, 1948, to four years imprisonment consecutive to his current state sentence.

Lawful Process Existed

The court further found that lawful process for his custody, transportation, and confinement in the Federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., existed.

Howell also contended that while he was an inmate of the Nebraska prison he was taken to Kansas where he was tried on the federal indictment, alleging such process did not extend from one federal court district to another.

Judge Delehant noted that Howell was surrendered by Nebraska prison authorities to the Kansas court temporarily for trial.

Nothing In Evidence

Judge Delehant said there was nothing in the evidence that this was an unlawful process or incident as alleged by Howell.

But even if it were, the court continued, the long line of case authority is that even though there may be wrongdoing in the bringing of a person into court for trial, if the trial is lawfully had, this does not afterwards destroy the validity of the trial or judgment.

Howell, who has been in federal custody at the Lincoln city jail since Dec. 21, will be taken to the Leavenworth Federal prison immediately, Marshall Raab said after the hearing.

Howell, who brought a total of 68 actions in various courts during his imprisonment in the Nebraska Penitentiary on a 10-year term for jail escape in Thayer Court, will probably resume his self-styled legal work there.

4 Bodies Found In Submerged Car

BECKLEY, W. Va. —A car containing the frozen bodies of four persons was pulled from the lake of a recreational park near here.

Sheriff John C. Ward identified the driver of the car as James Lenford Cox, 33, of Beckley. The passengers were listed as John Grover Ward, 29, Donald Nichols, and Violet Shaffer, all of towns in Raleigh County.

Coroner B. B. Richmond Jr , said there was no evidence of foul play and attributed the deaths to drowning.

Three youngsters hunting in the area noticed a rectangular patch of open water in the 10-foot-deep lake, otherwise frozen over with ice.

They notified authorities, who had the car pulled from the lake with a tow truck.

Raymond Krupicka Rites Postponed

Funeral services for Raymond A. Krupicka, 27, of Lincoln, who was killed in a car accident near Socorro, N. M., Saturday, have been held up indefinitely because of Mrs. Krupicka's condition in the Albuquerque hospital. Mrs. Krupicka, 25, was injured in the same accident.

The funeral was previously arranged for Wednesday at Farmer Funeral Home in Exeter.

Warrant For Bank Robbery Names Man

OMAHA (INS)—A federal warrant has been issued in Omaha for the arrest of Floyd De Frates, about 25, in connection with the $1,537 robbery of the First National Bank of Fremont, Neb.

W. H. Williams, agent in charge of the Omaha FBI office, said the warrant was issued by U.S. Commissioner M. O. Cunningham following an investigation by the Dodge County seriff's office, the Fremont police department and the FBI.

Williams said De Frates is believed to be a resident of California and was in the Fremont area about one week before the bank robbery.

De Frates reportedly was born in Fremont, according to Williams.

The FBI officer said the investigation of De Frates was begun as the result of a tip received by Dodge County Sheriff Pelham McGee. Williams did not reveal the source or the nature of the tip.

The bank was robbed during the noon hour by a lone bandit who approached the cage of Teller Max Paulson and shoved a black lunch bucket through the window along with a note instructing the teller to put all the cash in the drawer into the lunch bucket.

Joe Plans Last Public Hearings; Plans Changed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) changed his mind Tuesday and decided to hold one last set of hearings Monday in his Senate Investigation subcommittee's search for Communists in defense plants.

Last Sunday he said he planned no more public hearings of the subcommittee under his chairmanship. Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) is scheduled to become the new chairman when the Democrats organize the Senate next month.

Tuesday, without giving any names, McCarthy said he has ordered 16 witnesses subpoenaed for public testimony Monday morning, afternoon and evening. He said some of the 16 will identify others among whom, he said, "some will take the Fifth Amendment" and refuse to answer questions about alleged Red connections.

McCarthy said the witnesses will be asked about "Communist penetrations in General Electric plants in New England, Westinghouse Electric in Pittsburgh and Allis-Chalmers in Boston."

He said there was a possibility, too, that he may call for questioning "two alleged Communists in the Army."

The Bergen County grand jury, after deliberating three hours, returned four indictments to Superior Court Judge J. Wallace Leyden.

Does Not Pay To Be Curious

OMAHA (AP) — George Brown, 19, Omaha, was curious about what Detective Inspector Ernest Brown was doing when the inspector's car whizzed by at 55 miles an hour.

So he set out in his car to follow the inspector. He was arrested by detectives who were trailing Brown in another car and who clocked George Brown at 50 miles an hour.

Detective Inspector Brown? He was chasing Ozie Grant, 31, Omaha, for speeding.

Both Grant and George Brown were fined $25.

BERKELEY, Calif. (INS) — The head of the world's largest scientific federation declared a "sickness" of "suspicion and distrust" afflicts America but said there are signs the illness may be checked by the Eisenhower administration.

The statement was made by Warren Weaver, president of the 50,000-member American Association for the Advancement of Science.

15-Day Decision

WASHINGTON (INS) — Rep. Clarence Cannon (D-Mo), incoming chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, said huge standing armies have become obsolete because the next war will be decided in the air within 15 days after it starts.

Cannon made his statement in answer to a request from the national Chamber of Commerce to comment on budgetary problems.

Message Studied

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower may revise his State of the Union message if France rejects the German rearmament plan.

The message is scheduled to be delivered to a joint session of Congress Jan. 6. The White House said the President cannot complete the message until he knows what the French National Assembly does about bringing West Germany into the North Atlantic Alliance as a full partner.

Airlines Get Big Share Of Military Mail

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department announced Tuesday it is diverting to U.S. commercial airlines the great bulk of postage-paid military air mail addressed to overseas destinations.

A Pentagon spokesman estimated it will double the volume of overseas military air mail now being carried by commercial airlines, and will pay the carriers an additional $18,400,000 a year starting next July 1.

Under present policy, the Military Air Transport Service now handles most mail addressed to overseas military post offices.

Acting Defense Secretary Robert B. Anderson ordered the new policy into effect. Henceforth, only registered air mail addressed to Army or Fleet post offices and Defense Department mail will be carried by MATS.

The Pentagon spokesman said the order carries forward a policy started about a year ago.

The Civil Aeronautics Board said for the year ending last Sept. 30, Pan American Airways and Transcontinental World Airways carried 13,805,000 ton-miles of air mail across the Atlantic. Estimated volume for the two lines for the full year ending June 30 is 17,873,000, and is estimated at 18,758,000 for fiscal 1956.

The largest volume increase is expected in trans-Pacific service, supplied by PAA and Northwest Airlines.

In the year ending Sept. 30, the two lines handled 10,404,000 ton-miles over the Pacific. The estimated total for the year ending next June jumps to 20,016,000, and the projected mail load for the full year starting next July 1 is 32,663,000-ton miles.

U.S. Baby Crop In '54 Sets Record

...Births This Year To Top 4 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—The biggest baby boom in American history has occurred in 1954.

Surgeon Gen. Leonard A. Scheele of the U.S. Public Health Service made that estimate Tuesday, saying births this year will top four million for the first time. The birth rate per 1,000 population, however, is expected to fall below the 1947 record.

Scheele also forecast, on the basis of vital statistics for the first 10 months, 1954 will show the lowest death rate in history.

The figures showed a drop in both marriages and divorces compared with previous years. Divorce rates have dropped more than 40 per cent since the 1946 peak in the aftermath of World War II.

Death Rate Dips

Scheele said the death rate for 1954 is expected to run 9.2 per 1,000 population. That would be a substantial drop from the rates of 9.6 or 9.7 which have prevailed over the past five years.

Infant and maternal deaths are expected to hit new lows.

"The absence of any reported outbreak of influenza in 1954, with consequent low death rates, accounts for the decline," Scheele said in a prepared statement.

The expected birth rate of 25.2 per 1,000 population would be the second highest in 28 years, and only 5.3 per cent below the peak year of 1947.

Fewer Marriages

A continuing rise in the births of third, fourth and fifth children was probably responsible for the birth increases in 1953 and 1954. No increase in births of first children was expected because of falling marriage rates since 1951.

The marriage rate sank to 9.2 per 1,000 population in the first 10 months of 1954, compared with 9.7 for the similar 1953 period.

"Low birth rates during the 1930s, resulting in relative scarcity of young people of marriageable age in the present decade, were held chiefly responsible for the marriage decline," Scheele said.

Divorces in the first three quarters of 1954 were down 4 per cent from the comparable 1953 period on the basis of reports from 25 areas.

State Shows Increase

The Nebraska Health Department said it had no estimate of 1954 births, but said the births for the first six months of the year were above the figure for the first six months of 1953.

Births in the first six months of '54 were 15,934, compared to 15,253 in the first six months of 1953.

BERKELEY, Calif (AP) — The world might approach a solution of its increasingly pressing population problem by likening humanity in general to a cancerous growth, a widely known medical researcher said Tuesday.

The philosophy behind this idea is that the human species is a growth that must be controlled and the problems involving its control are something like the problem of controlling malignancy in an individual.

This viewpoint was put before the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science by Dr. Alan Gregg, vice president of the Rockefeller Foundation.

Still Booming

Just as malignant cells grow rapidly and sometimes spread all through the body, so the human species has grown and spread through the earth. In 450 years world population has increased from 500 million to 2.3 billion and is still booming.

Dr. Gregg compared the metastasis, or spreading of cancer, to the colonization of undeveloped parts of the globe; the big appetite of cancer cells to the growing demands of humanity for food, in the course of which man has made inroads on other forms of earthly life.

City slums, he said, in some respects correspond to the degradation of parts of the body attacked by cancer cells.

In another discussion of this problem Dr. Dudley Kirk, of the Population Council, Inc., New York City, said that if the present growth rate continues for another 200 years the global population would reach 40 billion. This he said would mean an average of 750 people per square mile on the entire land surface of the earth. If the growth rate should double, which is a possibility, the 40 billion figure could be reached in about 100 years, he reported.

Period of Grace

Dr. Kirk said the world has a "period of grace" — about two or three generations — to work out a balance, It already shows signs of starting the job, he added.

The main control methods in use, he reported, are: 1. late marriage, as in Ireland, 2. birth control, as practiced in Western Europe, and 3. abortions which in Japan now are reported to exceed one million a year.

Among the alternates, he said, are decimation of the population through war, and overpopulation which would bring on more malnutrition and higher death rates.

Two Injured In Broadside Car Collision

A Walton man and his sister, 65 and 68 years old, were seriously injured in a two-car collision while turning into the drive of their farm home 10½ miles southeast of Lincoln Tuesday night.

Theodore Tychsen, who suffered shock, possible rib and chest injuries and head lacerations, was reported in fair condition Wednesday morning at Lincoln General Hospital.

His sister, Emma Tychsen, suffered chest, rib and hip injuries. She was also in fair condition.

Two teenagers in the other car were slightly injured. They were 19-year-old Jim Wood, a farmer of Rt. 1, Bennet, who was driving, and Donna Anderson, 17, of Bennet. Both suffered minor lacerations and were not hospitalized.

Safety Patrol officers reported the northbound Tychsen car was making a left turn into the farm drive when it was hit broadside by the southbound Wood car, just coming over a hill.

Tychsen's car rolled over twice, landing on its wheels. The Wood car was completely spun around in the impact. Both cars were demolished.

GREENSBURG, Pa. (AP) — The Greensburg Daily Tribune Tuesday published two photographs which it said had been taken inside the Westmoreland County Courthouse where a court-ordered ban against photos is in effect.

The photos showed John Wesley Wable as he was taken to and from the courtroom Tuesday where he was sentenced to death in the electric chair for the slaying of a trucker on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

The ban against photos has been in effect since last Feb. 25 shortly before Wable went on trial. The order stipuates that no photographs of prisoners shall be taken in the courthouse or jail.

A Post-Gazette photographer, James Klingensmith instructed to make himself as conspicuous as possible, took his camera from a shopping bag in a corridor in full view of the sheriff and his deputies. The officers converged on him and ordered him not to use the camera.

Meanwhile, Don Bindyke, another Post-Gazette photographer, and Bob Purdy, a free lancer working for the Tribune, took their shots with concealed miniature cameras.

Howell Has Handcuff Trouble; Loses 40th Bid For Freedom

William E. Howell, ex-Nebraska Penitentiary inmate, Tuesday lost his 40th bid in Federal District Court for freedom.

Judge John W. Delehant dissolved an issued writ of habeas corpus in finding on the evidence presented in hearing that Howell was lawfully in the custody of U. S. Marshal William Raab.

The hearing was delayed some 20 minutes when a key jammed in the lock of one bracelet as Howell's handcuffs were being unlocked before he entered court.

Sawed Off

A technician at the Lincoln Police station tried to extract the key, but later sawed off the offending 'bracelet.'

In his petition and testimony before Judge Delehant, Howell contended he was unlawfully seized by the marshal on Dec. 21 when released from the state prison. He alleged he was not informed of any proceedings against him and denied existence of any.

Reviewing court records in the government's case, Judge Delehant noted that Howell was indicted, tried and convicted in a U.S. District Court for Kansas for violation of the Dyer Act (transporting a stolen vehicle) and sentenced in February, 1948, to four years imprisonment consecutive to his current state sentence.

Lawful Process Existed

The court further found that lawful process for his custody, transportation, and confinement in the Federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., existed.

Howell also contended that while he was an inmate of the Nebraska prison he was taken to Kansas where he was tried on the federal indictment, alleging such process did not extend from one federal court district to another.

Judge Delehant noted that Howell was surrendered by Nebraska prison authorities to the Kansas court temporarily for trial.

Nothing In Evidence

Judge Delehant said there was nothing in the evidence that this was an unlawful process or incident as alleged by Howell.

But even if it were, the court continued, the long line of case authority is that even though there may be wrongdoing in the bringing of a person into court for trial, if the trial is lawfully had, this does not afterwards destroy the validity of the trial or judgment.

Howell, who has been in federal custody at the Lincoln city jail since Dec. 21, will be taken to the Leavenworth Federal prison immediately, Marshall Raab said after the hearing.

Howell, who brought a total of 68 actions in various courts during his imprisonment in the Nebraska Penitentiary on a 10-year term for jail escape in Thayer Court, will probably resume his self-styled legal work there.

4 Bodies Found In Submerged Car

BECKLEY, W. Va. —A car containing the frozen bodies of four persons was pulled from the lake of a recreational park near here.

Sheriff John C. Ward identified the driver of the car as James Lenford Cox, 33, of Beckley. The passengers were listed as John Grover Ward, 29, Donald Nichols, and Violet Shaffer, all of towns in Raleigh County.

Coroner B. B. Richmond Jr., said there was no evidence of foul play and attributed the deaths to drowning.

Three youngsters hunting in the area noticed a rectangular patch of open water in the 10-foot-deep lake, otherwise frozen over with ice.

They notified authorities, who had the car pulled from the lake with a tow truck.

Raymond Krupicka Rites Postponed

Funeral services for Raymond A. Krupicka, 27, of Lincoln, who was killed in a car accident near Socorro, N. M., Saturday, have been held up indefinitely because of Mrs. Krupicka's condition in the Albuquerque hospital. Mrs. Krupicka, 25, was injured in the same accident.

The funeral was previously arranged for Wednesday at Farmer Funeral Home in Exeter.

Warrant For Bank Robbery Names Man

OMAHA (INS)—A federal warrant has been issued in Omaha for the arrest of Floyd De Frates, about 25, in connection with the $1,537 robbery of the First National Bank of Fremont, Neb.

W. H. Williams, agent in charge of the Omaha FBI office, said the warrant was issued by U.S. Commissioner M. O. Cunningham following an investigation by the Dodge County seriff's office, the Fremont police department and the FBI.

Williams said De Frates is believed to be a resident of California and was in the Fremont area about one week before the bank robbery.

De Frates reportedly was born in Fremont, according to Williams.

The FBI officer said the investigation of De Frates was begun as the result of a tip received by Dodge County Sheriff Pelham McGee. Williams did not reveal the source or the nature of the tip.

The bank was robbed during the noon hour by a lone bandit who approached the cage of Teller Max Paulson and shoved a black lunch bucket through the window along with a note instructing the teller to put all the cash in the drawer into the lunch bucket.

Joe Plans Last Public Hearings; Plans Changed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) changed his mind Tuesday and decided to hold one last set of hearings Monday in his Senate Investigation subcommittee's search for Communists in defense plants.

Last Sunday he said he planned no more public hearings of the subcommittee under his chairmanship. Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) is scheduled to become the new chairman when the Democrats organize the Senate next month.

Tuesday, without giving any names, McCarthy said he has ordered 16 witnesses subpoenaed for public testimony Monday morning, afternoon and evening. He said some of the 16 will identify others among whom, he said, "some will take the Fifth Amendment" and refuse to answer questions about alleged Red connections.

McCarthy said the witnesses will be asked about "Communist penetrations in General Electric plants in New England, Westinghouse Electric in Pittsburgh and Allis-Chalmers in Boston."

He said there was a possibility, too, that he may call for questioning "two alleged Communists in the Army."

Girl Scout Handbook Revised For Clarity And For U.N. Critic

'Tea-China' Now Reads 'Tea-India'

NEW YORK (AP)—The Girl Scout Handbook now lists "tea-India," instead of "tea-China."

Girl Scout headquarters disclosed the change was made because the United States does not do business with Red China, and consequently tea now comes from India.

The change was about one of 40 made in the handbook to clarify portions which "have been quoted out of context and given interpretations we did not intend," scout headquarters said.

"We consider them superficial, because they do not make any changes in our program policies or beliefs."

The Providence Journal-Bulletin said earlier that many changes in the new Girl Scout Handbook resulted from criticisms by Robert Le Fevre, a former Florida telecaster. Le Fevre is a critic of the United Nations and "internationalism."

Eyes Opened

A spokesman for the Girl Scouts said about half the changes resulted from Le Fevre's criticism, adding: He "opened our eyes that we were lending ourselves to misinterpretation." The other changes, the spokesman said, were suggested by scout workers in the field.

The changes were made in the fifth printing of the 10th edition of the handbook, a publication of 500 pages. The spokesman said changes are made whenever it is necessary to keep the book up to date.

References to the United Nations remain in the handbook, the spokesman said. Many of the scout proficiency badges require a study of the U. N., the spokesman asserted, and the scouts still have an international program.

A reference comparing part of the Declaration of Human Rights with the Declaration of Independence was taken out because it had become political, the spokesman said.

'My World'

"One world" was changed to "my world," to bring the name of the badge in conformity with other citizenship badges in the community life field, such as "my troop," "my community," "my government," and "my country."

Actually, the spokesman stated, there are no changes in the program.

As a result of suggestions from scout field workers, references to the League of Women Voters were changed in three or four places to read "some nonpartisan organization interested in voter education."

This was done because in some communities there is no League of Women Voters, and workers felt other groups were slighted.

Legion Criticism

The change was made to cover the DAR, American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliaries, affiliates of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and other such groups.

Heintze Refuses Withdrawal Of Gas Tax Distribution Suit

State Treasurer Frank Heintze has informed the Lancaster County Board that he is unable, upon advice of his attorneys, to compromise with Lancaster County in the withdrawal of their respective suits.

Earlier, Lancaster County's gas tax suit had been directed withdrawn provided Heintze would withdraw his action against Nebraska's 93 counties.

Such compromise with governmental subdivision would "avail nothing," Heintze said in a letter, "because any taxpayer may bring an independent action such as was brought by Norman Langstrom for Douglas County."

"I have instructed my attorneys not to delay trial of this (Heintze) case and they advise that they are ready to try the case at any time answers are filed by the counties."

Heintze has deposited with the Lancaster District Court $2,895,973.98 as gas tax funds collected but undistributed pending a court determination of the lawful and proper distribution formula.

Heintze said he has been advised by attorneys that these questions must be decided by the court:

1. The validity of Sec. 66-422—which sets out the gas tax distribution formula.
2. Which census should be followed, the 1940 or 1950? Some counties are now claiming the 1940 census.
3. If the 1950 census is followed, what date did it become available and effective?
4. Shall Huskerville and Boys Town be counted as farm or non-farm population?
5. What types shall be included in the total motor vehicle registration for 1949 through 1953?
6. How are motor vehicle registrations determined for the last fiscal year when facts are not available for a period of two or three months after the beginning of each year?

Heintze said these questions are now in dispute as the result of actions commenced by Lancaster County and Langstrom, who was joined by Douglas County.

The only comment made by a Lancaster County Board member was that of Chairman Russell Brehm, who said:

"Well, it looks like we're back in court."

Texas Woman To Share In Payment For Red Attack

LONDON (AP) — A Texas woman who lost her husband and two sons when a British airliner was shot down by Communist Chinese fighters is to share in a $1,027,600 compensation check Red China has turned over to Britain.

The British Foreign Office said the check arrived after long negotiations following the attack on the Cathay Pacific airliner near Hainan Island July 26. Ten occupants of the plane died, including Leonard Parrish, Iowa Park, Tex., and his sons, Philip, 2, and Larry, 4. Mrs. Parrish suffered a broken collar bone.

The Foreign Office said the amounts to be received by the individual claimants will not be disclosed.

Britain's demand for compensation included Mrs. Parrish's claim, which Peiping had rejected earlier when it was presented independently.

Vote Contest Depositions Are Received

Sealed depositions for consideration by the Legislature were received in the secretary of state's office Tuesday. They are to be used in the contest in which Sen. C. C. Lillibridge, Crete, challenged the nine vote majority shown for Mervin Bedford, Geneva, in the official canvass for the seat in the 23rd unicameral district.

Ballots and poll books will be retained by the county clerks of Saline and Fillmore counties unless called for by the Legislature.

Bedford by his attorney Thomas Keenan charges that he did not receive timely notice of the contest and that Lillibridge has failed to set out any specific instances of irregularities in the election.

He also ponts out that the names of legislative candidates appeared on a separate ballot in Saline County rather than on the "official ballot" and that for that reason all votes in Saline County should be rejected. John Mekota, attorney for Lillibridge originally called attention to this condition.

A special committee of the Legislature will be named by Lt. Gov. Charles Warner to consider the protest.

Girl Scout Handbook Revised For Clarity And For U.N. Critic

'Tea-China' Now Reads 'Tea-India'

NEW YORK (AP)—The Girl Scout Handbook now lists "tea-India," instead of "tea-China."

Girl Scout headquarters disclosed the change was made because the United States does not do business with Red China, and consequently tea now comes from India.

The change was about one of 40 made in the handbook to clarify portions which "have been quoted out of context and given interpretations we did not intend," scout headquarters said.

"We consider them superficial, because they do not make any changes in our program policies or beliefs."

The Providence Journal-Bulletin said earlier that many changes in the new Girl Scout Handbook resulted from criticisms by Robert Le Fevre, a former Florida telecaster. Le Fevre is a critic of the United Nations and "internationalism."

Eyes Opened

A spokesman for the Girl Scouts said about half the changes resulted from Le Fevre's criticism, adding: He "opened our eyes that we were lending ourselves to misinterpretation." The other changes, the spokesman said, were suggested by scout workers in the field.

The changes were made in the fifth printing of the 10th edition of the handbook, a publication of 500 pages. The spokesman said changes are made whenever it is necessary to keep the book up to date.

References to the United Nations remain in the handbook, the spokesman said. Many of the scout proficiency badges require a study of the U. N., the spokesman asserted, and the scouts still have an international program.

A reference comparing part of the Declaration of Human Rights with the Declaration of Independence was taken out because it had become political, the spokesman said.

'My World'

"One world" was changed to "my world," to bring the name of the badge in conformity with other citizenship badges in the community life field, such as "my troop," "my community," "my government," and "my country."

Actually, the spokesman stated, there are no changes in the program.

As a result of suggestions from scout field workers, references to the League of Women Voters were changed in three or four places to read "some nonpartisan organization interested in voter education."

This was done because in some communities there is no League of Women Voters, and workers felt other groups were slighted.

Legion Criticism

The change was made to cover the DAR, American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliaries, affiliates of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and other such groups.

Le Fevre was formerly news director of WFTL-TV in Fort Lauderdale. He is now executive director of the United States Day Committee, Inc. This organization, founded a year ago, proclaimed last Oct. 23 as United States Day.

United Nations Day was observed generally last Oct. 24.

The handbook was criticized last August by the Illinois American Legion, which adopted a resolution saying "un-American influences" existed in it.

Definition Of Authority

Apparently Governor-elect Victor Anderson figured it out that the Nebraska Advisory Highway Commission basically is the Legislature's baby.

At least the incoming governor indicated that he would be guided largely by an expression from the Nebraska Unicameral in defining the powers of the highway advisory group established by legislative action two years ago. The governor-elect was not ducking an issue which has arisen because the advisory highway board decided to give its attention to a stormy controversy involving relocation of a northeast Nebraska highway. Actually the advisory commission was the Legislature's idea—an idea long maturing — which has found expression in a number of sessions—and yet never became a reality until two years ago.

On the subject of locating or relocating highways, naturally nothing can come out of divided authority. There has to be a final answer to where a road shall be built, and until the advisory commission took a hand in it, final authority rested with the state engineer.

It can be said that in setting up the board, it was difficult if not impossible for the Legislature to define the powers of an agency which it had created. Now that the question has arisen, however, it is imperative such steps be taken. These next few years are most important in Nebraska's highway progress. We have lagged at times because of limited funds, because of an understandable determination to remain on a pay-as-you-go basis, and because of the long-standing tradition for prudent action in this state. But in these immediate years ahead, more money will be available and Nebraska will find it possible to build more miles of new road as well as replace stretches of old highway which have outlived their usefulness.

The governor-elect was on sound ground in expressing a hope that among the first matters it tackles, the Legislature define the scope of responsibility occupied by the Advisory Highway Commission.

A Break For Uncle Sam

The magazine, "U.S. News and World Report," in a copyrighted article late last week said offshore oil land development of the shallow Continental Shelf extending into the Gulf of Mexico promises to be a huge bonanza for the Federal Treasury, a much smaller one for two of the three states which battled for the fabled riches of Tidelands oil.

If confirmed by subsequent developments, there is good news.

Contrary to expectations when the Tidelands controversy was at its peak in Washington, the magazine said that the federal government stands to reap a profit six times as great as the gulf coast states. "It now appears as though the Federal Treasury will wind up at least $6 billion richer because of Tidelands development," the article said. "The states of Louisiana and Texas will be lucky if they get (a total of) $1 billion.' The reason given: With improved methods of deep-water drilling, oil companies are finding the gulf lands reserved to the federal government more attractive than the offshore lands now under the ownership of the states."

After the Eisenhower administration came into office, the law passed by Congress upon recommendation of the President sought to resolve the ownership controversy by giving the states title to submerged land off their shores within their historical boundaries. In the case of Texas and portions of Florida, that was regarded generally as three leagues, or 10.35 miles. For Louisiana and other states, it was three miles.

It will be difficult for a new Congress, though a bloc of Democratic southern votes might be rallied to extend the limits of state ownership, to retrace its steps and again seek to give a handful of states added riches in the form of oil royalties. Even in California, where the Continental Shelf breaks off abruptly, it is not all smooth sailing. There a single community, long Beach, has staked its claim to the oil riches offshore, now placed at between $80 and $120 millions in accumulated royalties, under legislation adopted by a California legislature in 1911, long in advance of California's richest oil strikes. At that time (1911), California's concern was simply harbor development. The legislation gave Long Beach title to harbor rights. It now may develop that Long Beach gets the bulk of the Tidelands royalties while Californians in other areas gaze hungrily.

The least to be said is that a lot of well-laid plans seem to have gone astray. Uncle Sam should not be mad because they did.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

In clearing his desk preparatory to re-entering the legal practice in Lincoln, Gov. Bob Crosby, it seems to us, rang a bell by paying a moving tribute to a state which he has served as governor. . . . "It would take a considerable inducement to persuade me to leave Nebraska," he said. . . . "This is my native state, and I like it."

Distant Green Pastures

What more is there to say. . . . The governor was referring to reports in the news columns that he was in line for a number of attractive offers to continue in public life by accepting a federal appointment. . . . He could have had a most attractive job—exciting in the sense that public service always is exciting, carrying with it a good salary, and what could be more important in some eyes, a stepping-stone in the political career of a young man. . . . But the governor said "no" . . . "I doubt if I'm cut out to fill a niche in a federal department . . . I like being my own boss." . . . In reaching that decision, the governor cleared a hurdle which we doubt receives much attention in thousands of cases where the opportunity to embark upon a political career in the federal service offers itself. . . . Of course there must be thousands of men and women who find real happiness in entering the federal srevice. . . Their willingness and their happiness in so doing contribute a great deal to good government. . . . But Gov. Crosby could not have paid a more eloquent tribute to Nebraska, nor voiced a deeper affection for his home land and its people than in choosing the words he did in announcing his plans, come the day he returns to civilian life. . . . In a way, those words explain America. . . . Nearly every square mile of a big country —so varied in resources, in physical appearance, in climate, and in many other particulars—has the intense, passionate devotion of those who call it "home."

★

A growing Washington—now with its suburban areas a city of more than a million people—is a very beautiful spot. . . . We have lavished untold millions upon architecturally beautiful buildings to make it so. . . , Each decade has seemed to add to its appeal. . . . There on the shining waters of the Potomac is the symbol of the strength and glory of a free nation—in one respect the most remarkable experiment, if a mature people can be called an "experiment," that civilization has known. . . . It is not merely the material things of life that add to the impressiveness of Washington. . . . The individual who lives there or who visits there does not need to possess any great imagination if, when he closes his eyes, there unfolds before them the good, sweet story of everlasting dreams.

Those Scurrying Crowds

That is one part of it, and a very appealing one. . . . And because Washington is so beautiful, hundreds of thousands of men and women eager to serve their government think of it not only in terms of affection but also beckoning opportunity. . . . There is another phase of it. . . . One need only to stand at a street corner near the acres and acres of great sprawling buildings which house the far-flung activities of federal agencies when the 5 o'clock hour arrives, to gaze upon the long lines of federal workers homeward bound. . . . Not all of the staffs of these agencies join that mad rush by any means. . . . Many remain at their desks until the gathering shades of evening are replaced by darkness. . . . There they work long hours. . . . It is inevitable, however, in the working of the federal machines that the individual is lost. . . . There is a foundation for Gov. Crosby's astute observation that he likes to be his own boss.

★

Undoubtedly there are times in summer's punishing heat or winter's chilling cold when Nebraskans may feel they are called upon to accept a lot of the unpleasantness other regions escape. . . . But here is variety in the change of the seasons, and here are the broad horizons which seem so unlimited. . . . Complicated as life has become in modern times, here is the last stronghold of relative simplicity in everyday habits and deeply rooted American virtues.

Manpower Shortage

The National Manpower Council has sounded a warning to the nation, telling it to take cognizance of a mounting shortage of trained scientific manpower.

In a recent report it had this to say:

"One of the country's foremost physicists a key figure in the development of the atomic bomb, once remarked that World War II had critically affected physical research in this country—it had almost ruined it. He explained that the atomic bomb was primarily a technological problem; the pure research had been completed before the bomb began. Because the country's top research brains had been diverted to solving what were in essence mechanical problems, the atomic bomb had actually slowed research in physics and not, as the public thought, accelerated it."

The problem of diverted talent in physics illustrates many of the manpower problems in this country. We know more about our future supply of uranium than we do about our future supply of physicists. It has taken us a long time to realize that despite all of the material shortages we face, our most critical resources will always be manpower.

Now $4,200 Maximum

Along with New Year's resolutions that won't last will come one this January 1 that will.

That is the date when social security is scheduled to apply its new provisions. They will mostly be noted for raising the tax from $3,600 a year maximum earnings to $4,200.

There will be no change for those earning $3,600 or less per year, but for those earning more than that the levies will move up with them until the $4,200 mark is reached. Those earning that much or more will cost the employer up to $1 a year more while the earner, himself, will experience parallel increases.

But it won't be all out the window. Benefits will be higher for those earning the higher pay.

It will be a happy New Year for dependents of heads of families who died after 1939 and Sept. 1, 1950 and who had been in the social security program at least a year and a half. After January 1 they will be considered to have been fully insured.

Rumor Wilson Will Leave Defense Post

WASHINGTON — It won't be announced for some time and may even be denied, but the resignation of Charles E. Wilson as secretary of defense is already at the White House and his successor has been picked.

The successor is quiet, headline-shunning Robert Anderson, the deputy secretary of defense.

No announcement will be made, however, until Wilson has a chance to appear before Congress and do battle for the new economized Defense Department budget. This is going to be a tough fight, and the secretary of defense has specified that he wants to lead it himself.

Wilson's political career, never a happy one, got off to a bad start when he told the Senate Armed Services Committee that "what's good for General Motors is good for the United States." It reached a crescendo of public protest when he made his ill-timed dog remark in Detroit last fall. That remark was credited by many with causing the defeat of Republican Sen. Homer Ferguson of Michigan.

Wilson was also responsible for the policy of concentrating defense production with a few big companies, a policy in which he, as a General Motors production wizard, thoroughly believed, but which led to more contracts for GM, and eventually to the policy's reversal.

TEXAS RANCHER

Bob Anderson, who will become the new secretary of defense, is a lifelong Texas Democrat, who bolted the party to work for Eisenhower in 1952. Manager of the second biggest ranch in the United States, the Waggoner estate at Vernon, Texas, with an acreage of 500,000 in Texas and 300,000 in New Mexico, Anderson got to know Eisenhower through oil-tycoon Seth Richardson.

The appointment of a relatively unknown cattle rancher as secretary of the Navy was considered a tribute to Eisenhower's friendship for Texans and the tremendous amount of Texas money poured into his campaign.

Immediately after taking over the Navy, however, Anderson showed that he intended to run it. Unlike so many civilian secretaries, he did not allow the admirals to run him. He gave them a pointed rebuff when he promoted Capt. George Hyman Rickover, the atomic specialist, to be an admiral after the admirals had twice turned him down. And he also reprimanded a group of top officers for a strip-tease party at Key West, Fla., after a junior officer had been made the scapegoat.

When Roger Kyes, another General Motors man, got tired of Washington and resigned as deputy secretary of defense, Anderson was transferred from the Navy Department to take his place.

As secretary of defense, Anderson will not be in the headlines but he will run the Pentagon.

SMEAR BOOMERANGED

No man was more unfairly pilloried during the recent congressional election than Sen. Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming. But the other day in Miami he sat down to dinner with the man who helped pillory him.

O'Mahoney, who had served in the Senate for 18 years and who is a devout Catholic, was pictured as a "foreign agent" and as soft toward Communism largely because as a lawyer he had defended Prof. Owen Lattimore of Johns Hopkins when indicted for perjury. O'Mahoney was elected anyway.

Stopping at the Saxony hotel in Miami Beach during the Christmas holidays, Sen. O'Mahoney bumped into Sen. Everett Dirksen, Republican of Illinois, who had gone into Wyoming to speak against him. In the Christmas spirit, the two senators and their wives sat down to dinner.

"Joe," said Dirksen, "what I said about you would have been a lot worse had I followed the speeches handed me by the Republican National Committee. I censored them considerably."

O'Mahoney gave Dirksen a gentle sermon on the smear tactics used by the Republicans. He did not, however, tell Dirksen about some of the letters he wrote to supporters after the campaign.

To one such friend, David Scoll, the New York attorney, O'Mahoney wrote: "The charges made against me by my opponents boomeranged to such an extent that I was not able to use the money you so kindly sent me. I am therefore returning your check for $100."

MARQUIS CHILDS

Bonnet Worked For U.S.-French Accord

WASHINGTON — While France has been going through another of the political crises that have repeatedly shaken the Western alliance in recent years, Washington has been paying tribute in a series of farewell parties to the retiring French ambassador, Henri Bonnet. Both at private and public functions praise has been lavished on the ambassador and his wife for their efforts during 10 years in this capital to further Franco-American understanding and good will.

It will occur to many to wonder why, if Mr. Bonnet has worked so hard to promote understanding between the two countries, there should be these recurring strains that test relations to the breaking point. But there are limits on what an ambassador can do, and they are clearly shown in this instance.

He cannot, for example, make the policy of his country. He can only explain and clarify it. If the policy seems to threaten disaster or something close to it, then he can let his own government know just what the repercussions will be.

Above all, an ambassador can represent what is best in his ideals, its aspirations. This is what Ambassador Bonnet has done in his years in Washington and he has been ably seconded by Madame Bonnet. In fact, some criticism has been directed at Bonnet because in his zeal he may have given too hopeful a picture of France and the French. But he can scarcely be blamed for working to make the best possible case for his own land.

In the decade the Bonnets have been in Washington, the French have gone through one upheaval after another and the ambassador has explained to a succession of secretaries of state just what these crises have meant in relation to the deeper currents of French hopes and fears. Immediately after the war General Charles De Gaulle, with his almost-mystic conviction of France's destiny, went to Moscow and formed a close allegiance with the Soviet Union.

He also took the Communists into his government in that period in the wake of the wartime alliance when collaboration and co-existence seemed assured. A little later came the wave of Communist-directed strikes and mass demonstrations that threatened the entire French economy. France appeared to be defenseless before the menace of Communism both at home and abroad.

But the Marshall Plan was projected and the Communists were expelled from the government. Massive American aid began to reinvigorate French industry. There was renewed hope and the lines of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization were laid for an effective defense of Western Europe with American support.

There remained, however, a hard core of Communist support and a basic disaffection with high prices that made Communist votes. In the French assembly today the 95 votes of the Communist bloc—second largest in the chamber—constitute a Trojan horse with the reins held in Moscow. This has been the major obstacle over which one premier after another has fallen in the effort to get a majority vote for German rearmament.

It was France that first put forward the plan of European unity embodied in the European Defense Community treaty. When that treaty was threatened with rejection in the crisis in the assembly last August, Ambassador Bonnet was called to the state department and told how serious would be the consequences of a vote of disapproval. The then under secretary of state, Walter Bedell Smith, went so far as to say that he wondered if even Bonnet, himself, despite his years in Washington, realized what the American reaction would mean for France.

As a consequence, the ambassador wrote a strong dispatch to the government of Premier Pierre Mendes-France expressing his own deep concern over the possibility that the Assembly might not ratify the EDC treaty. This frank dispatch is said to have caused no little annoyance in Paris among those around the premier who were trying to steer a course that would avoid an open commitment to EDC and thereby enable Mendes-France to stay in power.

To readers of the social columns the Bonnets' 10 years in Washington would seem to have been one long party, with a procession of French visitors, military heroes, premiers, dress designers, presidents and ordinary citizens on one mission or another. When it goes on night after night, however, it becomes merely part of the job and an arduous and taxing part of it. The Bonnets have been going on a clockwork schedule of farewell parties and this is to be repeated in New York before they sail on Jan. 5 to retirement in Paris.

Bonnet will be succeeded by a career diplomat, Couve De Murville, who will come to Washington in mid-January. It will not be easy for him to follow a man who has won such a wide popular following and who has come to stand as a symbol of his country.

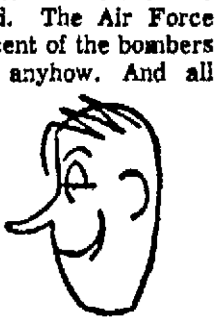
STAN DELAPLANE'S

POSTCARD

If the world is coming to an end, it is OK with me. I have seen the mushroom cloud. The Air Force tells me 30 per cent of the bombers will get through anyhow. And all the scientific blokes say there is no place to hide. So why worry?



Still I am in no hurry, you understand. And when that Michigan State doctor got the word about the world's end, I gave it some serious thought.

I am happy to report that D-Day has passed. And I am still here. But it was a near miss at that.

☆ ☆ ☆

Last week the state of Nevada shook like a dog coming out of water. Mountains went up and valleys went down. A lot of hot water came out of the ground.

The town of Eureka in Northern California, did a bump and grind. Showered bricks all over the place.

This is much too close. I do not see why the doc should zero in on me. I have spoken well of the medical profession and never, never said a word against flying saucers. Matter of fact, I have said some good words about flying saucers.

For quite a spell I was in touch with some people down in the Mojave desert. They were on a direct pipe to flying saucers. I gave it serious attention and good news space. If any flying saucer man comes to my house, I can show him the clips.

I will give him a cup of coffee and pat him on his little pointy head.

It pays to be friendly. At least until we see what he has got in his foxy pocket.

☆ ☆ ☆

I am not saying that the flying saucer people are responsible for these earthquakes. And I am not saying they are not. I am not saying anything until we get the facts, ma'am.

I simply say that we should start thinking about getting along with flying saucer people. In case they should drop in. To this end, I have prepared a social questionnaire.

You are reading the Sunday papers when there is a knock on the door. At the door is a little green man in a space suit with an antenna growing out of the top of his head.

"Is this Earth?" he says.

"Come in, come in," you say. "As to whether this is Earth, I will have to look in the yellow section of the telephone book. Been traveling long?"

"About a thousand light years," he says. "I've got something to deliver."

"Well, if it is a bill," you say, "you might just as well come back Tuesday. To tell you the truth, we Earthlings are mighty poor. Christmas has just passed and we have unpaid markers with all the better stores.

"Money is tight. And if I told you what my banker gets for the plaster on this house, you wouldn't believe me."

"That's funny," says the Space man. "We were informed that there were rich diggings on this planet. All of which could be shaken out of the local yokels. And speaking of shakes, possibly you felt the small sample."

"I did, indeed," you say. "And I regret that it was not harder. For the sooner you shake it down, the sooner I can put the nudge on the insurance company and get a little walk around money."

"According to our records," says the saucer gentleman, "somebody has got cash. Ever hear of a fellow named Midas?"

"Must have been back in the Coolidge administration," you say. "You ought to keep your figures up to date."

☆ ☆ ☆

I think this sort of line would discourage most space squatters.

You take the Air Force. Every time flying saucers come up, either the Air Force says there aren't any, or if there are they will shoot them down.

My idea is you talk them down. Poor mouth them. Tell them about singing commercials. Ask them if they want to take over the budget deficit.

Most of the problem with flying saucers is they have been sending us messages what they want. Let us send them some messages. Tell them what they will get when they get here. You have to use your head on these things. Your little pointed head with the antenna on top.

Skating Rink

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: There are rumors afloat that the ice-skating rink in the proposed new auditorium is being sabotaged for the benefit of the Ak-Sar-Ben Coliseum Corp.

Mayor Jeary has repeatedly stated that a skating rink is of no importance and that we need just a small rink for the children. We all know that is poor business and bad sense of reasoning. We need adult patronage so it will be possible for children to be admitted at a small fee they can afford. Some of these children will grow up and, who knows, some will become skating stars.

It was estimated that there were over 2,000 Lincolnites in an evening performance at the Omaha Ak-Sar-Ben ice show held just recently. I had a talk with one of our city councilmen in regard to building a larger rink and he told me the people were satisfied with the small rink. He also told me that I am the only one who is complaining. Which is not true. There are many others. I do not want to be egotistical but I am one of the few people of Lincoln who has had experience with artificial ice rinks.

Twice the auditorium has been used as a political football by former City Hall incumbents to further their political ambitions. Now, according to rumors, someone wants to make money at the expense of the people of Lincoln.

Resolutions

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: These are my resolutions for the New Year:

Be cheerful. If you can't be an optimist, at least smile.

Be courageous. Look 'em in the eye and don't slow up when you hit the line.

Be hopeful. No leader is so inspiring as expectation.

Be helpful. Remember there are others and do what you can to aid them.

Be decent. Search your own soul and live up to the light it gives you.

Be kind. Think how you might be hurt and don't make others suffer.

Be lawful. Help to protect your neighbors against yourself.

Be temperate. Eat, drink, talk, play and profit in moderation.

Be prompt. Timeliness and accuracy are the essence of every achievement.

Be truthful. Don't rush to the telephone if that truth would injure others.

Be faithful. Accept your obligations willingly and discharge them sincerely.

Be industrious. Expend your energies where they will do the most good.

Be open-handed. Squeeze your money and choke your soul.

Be happy. If you follow all these others, you just can't escape happiness.

Let's go for 1955!

Four Seeds

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It seems at this season of the year much emphasis is placed on the birth of a Child who lived to be a man yet never died. To the average individual, such a record seems almost a myth, yet this same Jesus of Bethlehem was no different from mortal man physically and mentally other than that He was divine. Tied to an earthly and ailing body, we think we are tired and ill, but it is only our bodies. We are never tired, never ill, and above all, never old.

The Christ promised to meet the thief in Paradise, which proves a man is the same after his death as he was the day before, having the same desires and thoughts; the loss of his physical body alone prevents their gratification. Paradise is the soul's new home where during its sojourn, earthly cravings die down and eventually the soul becomes free.

Man's prisons are all self-made and there is no prison like the dark cell of a selfish heart. No man is there ever so degraded and abandoned who has not at one time loved something other than himself, though it may have been only a dog. Man alone sows the seeds that grow up to flower in the future life and they must be sown now.

Christ did not ask his hearers if they had regularly attended church, or if they followed certain doctrines. He asked them rather if they had fed the hungry, visited the sick, sinful and the poor. He said, "As ye did it unto the least of these my brethren, ye did it unto me." There are four important seeds to be sown here if we desire them to flower in heaven—love of friends, love of God, love of humanity, and love of truth and beauty. By one or all of these gateways, every mortal soul may enter therein. This is the true gospel of the only Man who came back from the tomb as convincing proof that there is no such thing as death, and that even a penitent thief may find a new life in Paradise.

Community Toy Shop

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star. We appreciate the publicity given us by The Lincoln Star for the 1954 Christmas Toy Shop. Many individuals and organizations by their contributions to "Operation Santa Claus" and gifts to social agencies made individual gifts possible. On behalf of 996 boys and girls who received the gifts, we say thank you.

Family Service Association coordinated the Community Toy Shop project. Its success was also due to the hours of effort by many other organizations. The Community Toy Shop fulfilled a need in the city of Lincoln. It brought happiness to 996 of our community's children.

Definition Of Authority

Apparently Governor-elect Victor Anderson figured it out that the Nebraska Advisory Highway Commission basically is the Legislature's baby.

At least the incoming governor indicated that he would be guided largely by an expression from the Nebraska Unicameral in defining the powers of the highway advisory group established by legislative action two years ago. The governor-elect was not ducking an issue which has arisen because the advisory highway board decided to give its attention to a stormy controversy involving relocation of a northeast Nebraska highway. Actually the advisory commission was the Legislature's idea—an idea long maturing — which has found expression in a number of sessions—and yet never became a reality until two years ago.

On the subject of locating or relocating highways, naturally nothing can come out of divided authority. There has to be a final answer to where a road shall be built, and until the advisory commission took a hand in it, final authority rested with the state engineer.

It can be said that in setting up the board, it was difficult if not impossible for the Legislature to define the powers of an agency which it had created. Now that the question has arisen, however, it is imperative such steps be taken. These next few years are most important in Nebraska's highway progress. We have lagged at times because of limited funds, because of an understandable determination to remain on a pay-as-you-go basis, and because of the long-standing tradition for prudent action in this state. But in these immediate years ahead, more money will be available and Nebraska will find it possible to build more miles of new road as well as replace stretches of old highway which have outlived their usefulness.

The governor-elect was on sound ground in expressing a hope that among the first matters it tackles, the Legislature define the scope of responsibility occupied by the Advisory Highway Commission.

A Break For Uncle Sam

The magazine, "U.S. News and World Report," in a copyrighted article late last week said offshore oil land development of the shallow Continental Shelf extending into the Gulf of Mexico promises to be a huge bonanza for the Federal Treasury, a much smaller one for two of the three states which battled for the fabled riches of Tidelands oil.

If confirmed by subsequent developments, there is good news.

Contrary to expectations when the Tidelands controversy was at its peak in Washington, the magazine said that the federal government stands to reap a profit six times as great as the gulf coast states. "It now appears as though the Federal Treasury will wind up at least $6 billion richer because of Tidelands development," the article said. "The states of Louisiana and Texas will be lucky if they get (a total of) $1 billion." The reason given: With improved methods of deep-water drilling, oil companies are finding the gulf lands reserved to the federal government more attractive than the offshore lands now under the ownership of the states."

After the Eisenhower administration came into office, the law passed by Congress upon recommendation of the President sought to resolve the ownership controversy by giving the states title to submerged land off their shores within their historical boundaries. In the case of Texas and portions of Florida, that was regarded generally as three leagues, or 10.35 miles. For Louisiana and other states, it was three miles.

It will be difficult for a new Congress, though a bloc of Democratic southern votes might be rallied to extend the limits of state ownership, to retrace its steps and again seek to give a handful of states added riches in the form of oil royalties. Even in California, where the Continental Shelf breaks off abruptly, it is not all smooth sailing. There a single community, long Beach, has staked its claim to the oil riches offshore, now placed at between $80 and $120 millions in accumulated royalties, under legislation adopted by a California legislature in 1911, long in advance of California's richest oil strikes. At that time (1911), California's concern was simply harbor development. The legislation gave Long Beach title to harbor rights. It now may develop that Long Beach gets the bulk of the Tidelands royalties while Californians in other areas gaze hungrily.

The least to be said is that a lot of well-laid plans seem to have gone astray. Uncle Sam should not be mad because they did.

By J. E. LAWRENCE

In clearing his desk preparatory to re-entering the legal practice in Lincoln, Gov. Bob Crosby, it seems to us, rang a bell by paying a moving tribute to a state which he has served as governor. . . . "It would take a considerable inducement to persuade me to leave Nebraska," he said. . . . "This is my native state, and I like it."

★

Distant Green Pastures

What more is there to say. . . . The governor was referring to reports in the news columns that he was in line for a number of attractive offers to continue in public life by accepting a federal appointment. . . . He could have had a most attractive job—exciting in the sense that public service always is exciting, carrying with it a good salary, and what could be more important in some eyes, a stepping-stone in the political career of a young man. . . . But the governor said "no" . . . "I doubt if I'm cut out to fill a niche in a federal department . . . I like being my own boss." . . . In reaching that decision, the governor cleared a hurdle which we doubt receives much attention in thousands of cases where the opportunity to embark upon a political career in the federal service offers itself. . . . Of course there must be thousands of men and women who find real happiness in entering the federal srevice. . . Their willingness and their happiness in so doing contribute a great deal to good government. . . . But Gov. Crosby could not have paid a more eloquent tribute to Nebraska, nor voiced a deeper affection for his home land and its people than in choosing the words he did in announcing his plans, come the day he returns to civilian life. . . . In a way, those words explain America. . . . Nearly every square mile of a big country —so varied in resources, in physical appearance, in climate, and in many other particulars—has the intense, passionate devotion of those who call it "home."

★

A growing Washington—now with its suburban areas a city of more than a million people—is a very beautiful spot. . . . We have lavished untold millions upon architecturally beautiful buildings to make it so. . . . Each decade has seemed to add to its appeal. . . . There on the shining waters of the Potomac is the symbol of the strength and glory of a free nation—in one respect the most remarkable experiment, if a mature people can be called an "experiment," that civilization has known. . . . It is not merely the material things of life that add to the impressiveness of Washington. . . . The individual who lives there or who visits there does not need to possess any great imagination if, when he closes his eyes, there unfolds before them the good, sweet story of everlasting dreams.

Those Scurrying Crowds

That is one part of it, and a very appealing one. . . . And because Washington is so beautiful, hundreds of thousands of men and women eager to serve their government think of it not only in terms of affection but also beckoning opportunity. . . . There is another phase of it. . . . One need only to stand at a street corner near the acres and acres of great sprawling buildings which house the far-flung activities of federal agencies when the 5 o'clock hour arrives, to gaze upon the long lines of federal workers homeward bound. . . . Not all of the staffs of these agencies join that mad rush by any means. . . . Many remain at their desks until the gathering shades of evening are replaced by darkness. . . . There they work long hours. . . . It is inevitable, however, in the working of the federal machines that the individual is lost. . . . There is a foundation for Gov. Crosby's astute observation that he likes to be his own boss.

★

Undoubtedly there are times in summer's punishing heat or winter's chilling cold when Nebraskans may feel they are called upon to accept a lot of the unpleasantness other regions escape. . . . But here is variety in the change of the seasons, and here are the broad horizons which seem so unlimited. . . . Complicated as life has become in modern times, here is the last stronghold of relative simplicity in everyday habits and deeply rooted American virtues.

Manpower Shortage

The National Manpower Council has sounded a warning to the nation, telling it to take cognizance of a mounting shortage of trained scientific manpower.

In a recent report it had this to say:

"One of the country's foremost physicists a key figure in the development of the atomic bomb, once remarked that World War II had critically affected physical research in this country—it had almost ruined it. He explained that the atomic bomb was primarily a technological problem; the pure research had been completed before the bomb began. Because the country's top research brains had been diverted to solving what were in essence mechanical problems, the atomic bomb had actually slowed research in physics and not, as the public thought, accelerated it."

The problem of diverted talent in physics illustrates many of the manpower problems in this country. We know more about our future supply of uranium than we do about our future supply of physicists. It has taken us a long time to realize that despite all of the material shortages we face, our most critical resources will always be manpower.

Now $4,200 Maximum

Along with New Year's resolutions that won't last will come one this January 1 that will.

That is the date when social security is scheduled to apply its new provisions. They will mostly be noted for raising the tax from $3,600 a year maximum earnings to $4,200.

There will be no change for those earning $3,600 or less per year, but for those earning more than that the levies will move up with them until the $4,200 mark is reached. Those earning that much or more will cost the employer up to $1 a year more while the earner, himself, will experience parallel increases.

But it won't be all out the window. Benefits will be higher for those earning the higher pay.

It will be a happy New Year for dependents of heads of families who died after 1939 and Sept. 1, 1950 and who had been in the social security program at least a year and a half. After January 1 they will be considered to have been fully insured.

SMEAR BOOMERANGED

No man was more unfairly pilloried during the recent congressional election than Sen. Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming. But the other day in Miami he sat down to dinner with the man who helped pillory him.

O'Mahoney, who had served in the Senate for 18 years and who is a devout Catholic, was pictured as a "foreign agent" and as soft toward Communism largely because as a lawyer he had defended Prof. Owen Lattimore of Johns Hopkins when indicted for perjury. O'Mahoney was elected anyway.

Stopping at the Saxony hotel in Miami Beach during the Christmas holidays, Sen. O'Mahoney bumped into Sen. Everett Dirksen, Republican of Illinois, who had gone into Wyoming to speak against him. In the Christmas spirit, the two senators and their wives sat down to dinner.

"Joe," said Dirksen, "what I said about you would have been a lot worse had I followed the speeches handed me by the Republican National Committee. I censored them considerably."

O'Mahoney gave Dirksen a gentle sermon on the smear tactics used by the Republicans. He did not, however, tell Dirksen about some of the letters he wrote to supporters after the campaign.

To one such friend, David Scoll, the New York attorney, O'Mahoney wrote: "The charges made against me by my opponents boomeranged to such an extent that I was not able to use the money you so kindly sent me. I am therefore returning your check for $100."

MARQUIS CHILDS

Bonnet Worked For U.S.-French Accord

WASHINGTON — While France has been going through another of the political crises that have repeatedly shaken the Western alliance in recent years, Washington has been paying tribute in a series of farewell parties to the retiring French ambassador, Henri Bonnet. Both at private and public functions praise has been lavished on the ambassador and his wife for their efforts during 10 years in this capital to further Franco-American understanding and good will.

It will occur to many to wonder why, if Mr. Bonnet has worked so hard to promote understanding between the two countries, there should be these recurring strains that test relations to the breaking point. But there are limits on what an ambassador can do, and they are clearly shown in this instance.

He cannot, for example, make the policy of his country. He can only explain and clarify it. If the policy seems to threaten disaster or something close to it, then he can let his own government know just what the repercussions will be.

Above all, an ambassador can represent what is best in his ideals, its aspirations. This is what Ambassador Bonnet has done in his years in Washington and he has been ably seconded by Madame Bonnet. In fact, some criticism has been directed at Bonnet because in his zeal he may have given too hopeful a picture of France and the French. But he can scarcely be blamed for working to make the best possible case for his own land.

In the decade the Bonnets have been in Washington, the French have gone through one upheaval after another and the ambassador has explained to a succession of secretaries of state just what these crises have meant in relation to the deeper currents of French hopes and fears. Immediately after the war General Charles De Gaulle, with his almost-mystic conviction of France's destiny, went to Moscow and formed a close allegiance with the Soviet Union.

He also took the Communists into his government in that period in the wake of the wartime alliance when collaboration and coexistence seemed assured. A little later came the wave of Communist-directed strikes and mass demonstrations that threatened the entire French economy. France appeared to be defenseless before the menace of Communism both at home and abroad.

But the Marshall Plan was projected and the Communists were expelled from the government. Massive American aid began to reinvigorate French industry. There was renewed hope and the lines of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization were laid for an effective defense of Western Europe with American support.

There remained, however, a hard core of Communist support and a basic disaffection with high prices that made Communist votes. In the French assembly today the 95 votes of the Communist bloc—second largest in the chamber—constitute a Trojan horse with the reins held in Moscow. This has been the major obstacle over which one premier after another has fallen in the effort to get a majority vote for German rearmament.

It was France that first put forward the plan of European unity embodied in the European Defense Community treaty. When that treaty was threatened with rejection in the crisis in the assembly last August, Ambassador Bonnet was called to the state department and told how serious would be the consequences of a vote of disapproval. The then under secretary of state, Walter Bedell Smith, went so far as to say that he wondered if even Bonnet, himself, despite his years in Washington, realized what the American reaction would mean for France.

As a consequence, the ambassador wrote a strong dispatch to the government of Premier Pierre Mendes-France expressing his own deep concern over the possibility that the Assembly might not ratify the EDC treaty. This frank dispatch is said to have caused no little annoyance in Paris among those around the premier who were trying to steer a course that would avoid an open commitment to EDC and thereby enable Mendes-France to stay in power.

To readers of the social columns the Bonnets' 10 years in Washington would seem to have been one long party, with a procession of French visitors, military heroes, premiers, dress designers, presidents and ordinary citizens on one mission or another. When it goes on night after night, however, it becomes merely part of the job and an arduous and taxing part of it. The Bonnets have been going on a clockwork schedule of farewell parties and this is to be repeated in New York before they sail on Jan. 5 to retirement in Paris.

Bonnet will be succeeded by a career diplomat, Couve De Murville, who will come to Washington in mid-January. It will not be easy for him to follow a man who has won such a wide popular following and who has come to stand as a symbol of his country.

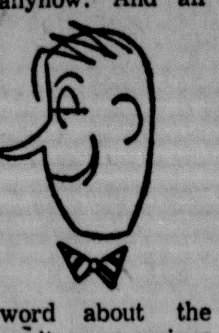
STAN DELAPLANE'S

POSTCARD

If the world is coming to an end, it is OK with me. I have seen the mushroom cloud. The Air Force tells me 30 per cent of the bombers will get through anyhow. And all the scientific blokes say there is no place to hide. So why worry?



Still I am in no hurry, you understand. And when that Michigan State doctor got the word about the world's end, I gave it some serious thought.

I am happy to report that D-Day has passed. And I am still here. But it was a near miss at that.

☆ ☆ ☆

Last week the state of Nevada shook like a dog coming out of water. Mountains went up and valleys went down. A lot of hot water came out of the ground.

The town of Eureka in Northern California, did a bump and grind. Showered bricks all over the place.

This is much too close. I do not see why the doc should zero in on me. I have spoken well of the medical profession and never, never said a word against flying saucers. Matter of fact, I have said some good words about flying saucers.

For quite a spell I was in touch with some people down in the Mojave desert. They were on a direct pipe to flying saucers. I gave it serious attention and good news space. If any flying saucer man comes to my house, I can show him the clips.

I will give him a cup of coffee and pat him on his little pointy head.

It pays to be friendly. At least until we see what he has got in his foxy pocket.

☆ ☆ ☆

I am not saying that the flying saucer people are responsible for these earthquakes. And I am not saying they are not. I am not saying anything until we get the facts, ma'am.

I simply say that we should start thinking about getting along with flying saucer people. In case they should drop in. To this end, I have prepared a social questionnaire.

You are reading the Sunday papers when there is a knock on the door. At the door is a little green man in a space suit with an antenna growing out of the top of his head.

"Is this Earth?" he says.

"Come in, come in," you say. "As to whether this is Earth, I will have to look in the yellow section of the telephone book. Been traveling long?"

"About a thousand light years," he says. "I've got something to deliver."

"Well, if it is a bill," you say, "you might just as well come back Tuesday. To tell you the truth, we Earthlings are mighty poor. Christmas has just passed and we have unpaid markers with all the better stores.

"Money is tight. And if I told you what my banker gets for the plaster on this house, you wouldn't believe me."

"That's funny," says the Space man. "We were informed that there were rich diggings on this planet. All of which could be shaken out of the local yokels. And speaking of shakes, possibly you felt the small sample."

"I did, indeed," you say. "And I regret that it was not harder. For the sooner you shake it down, the sooner I can put the nudge on the insurance company and get a little walk around money."

"According to our records," says the saucer gentleman, "somebody has got cash. Ever hear of a fellow named Midas?"

"Must have been back in the Coolidge administration," you say. "You ought to keep your figures up to date."

☆ ☆ ☆

I think this sort of line would discourage most space squatters.

You take the Air Force. Every time flying saucers come up, either the Air Force says there aren't any, or if there are they will shoot them down.

My idea is you talk them down. Poor mouth them. Tell them about singing commercials. Ask them if they want to take over the budget deficit.

Most of the problem with flying saucers is they have been sending us messages what they want. Let us send them some messages. Tell them what they will get when they get here. You have to use your head on these things. Your little pointed head with the antenna on top.

Skating Rink

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: There are rumors afloat that the ice-skating rink in the proposed new auditorium is being sabotaged for the benefit of the Ak-Sar-Ben Coliseum Corp.

Mayor Jeary has repeatedly stated that a skating rink is of no importance and that we need just a small rink for the children. We all know that is poor business and bad sense of reasoning. We need adult patronage so it will be possible for children to be admitted at a small fee they can afford. Some of these children will grow up and, who knows, some will become skating stars.

It was estimated that there were over 2,000 Lincolnites in an evening performance at the Omaha Ak-Sar-Ben ice show held just recently. I had a talk with one of our city councilmen in regard to building a larger rink and he told me the people were satisfied with the small rink. He also told me that I am the only one who is complaining. Which is not true. There are many others. I do not want to be egotistical but I am one of the few people of Lincoln who has had experience with artificial ice rinks.

Twice the auditorium has been used as a political football by former City Hall incumbents to further their political ambitions. Now, according to rumors, someone wants to make money at the expense of the people of Lincoln.

Resolutions

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: These are my resolutions for the New Year:

Be cheerful. If you can't be an optimist, at least smile.

Be courageous. Look 'em in the eye and don't slow up when you hit the line.

Be hopeful. No leader is so inspiring as expectation.

Be helpful. Remember there are others and do what you can to aid them.

Be decent. Search your own soul and live up to the light it gives you.

Be kind. Think how you might be hurt and don't make others suffer.

Be lawful. Help to protect your neighbors against yourself.

Be temperate. Eat, drink, talk, play and profit in moderation.

Be prompt. Timeliness and accuracy are the essence of every achievement.

Be truthful. Don't rush to the telephone if that truth would injure others.

Be faithful. Accept your obligations willingly and discharge them sincerely.

Be industrious. Expend your energies where they will do the most good.

Be open-handed. Squeeze your money and choke your soul.

Be happy. If you follow all these others, you just can't escape happiness.

Let's go for 1955!

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It seems at this season of the year much emphasis is placed on the birth of a Child who lived to be a man yet never died. To the average individual, such a record seems almost a myth, yet this same Jesus of Bethlehem was no different from mortal man physically and mentally other than that He was divine. Tied to an earthly and ailing body, we think we are tired and ill, but it is only our bodies. We are never tired, never ill, and above all, never old.

The Christ promised to meet the thief in Paradise, which proves a man is the same after his death as he was the day before, having the same desires and thoughts; the loss of his physical body alone prevents their gratification. Paradise is the soul's new home where during its sojourn, earthly cravings die down and eventually the soul becomes free.

Man's prisons are all self-made and there is no prison like the dark cell of a selfish heart. No man is there ever so degraded and abandoned who has not at one time loved something other than himself, though it may have been only a dog. Man alone sows the seeds that grow up to flower in the future life and they must be sown now.

Christ did not ask his hearers if they had regularly attended church, or if they followed certain doctrines. He asked them rather if they had fed the hungry, visited the sick, sinful and the poor. He said, "As ye did it unto the least of these my brethren, ye did it unto me." There are four important seeds to be sown here if we desire them to flower in heaven—love of friends, love of God, love of humanity, and love of truth and beauty. By one or all of these gateways, every mortal soul may enter therein. This is the true gospel of the only Man who came back from the tomb as convincing proof that there is no such thing as death, and that even a penitent thief may find a new life in Paradise.

Community Toy Shop

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: We appreciate the publicity given us by The Lincoln Star for the 1954 Christmas Toy Shop. Many individuals and organizations by their contributions to "Operation Santa Claus" and gifts to social agencies made individual gifts possible. On behalf of 996 boys and girls who received the gifts, we say thank you.

Family Service Association coordinated the Community Toy Shop project. Its success was also due to the hours of effort by many other organizations. The Community Toy Shop fulfilled a need in the city of Lincoln. It brought happiness to 996 of our community's children.

State Rests Case Against Thompson

OMAHA (AP)— A preliminary hearing for Kent Thompson, Valley, Neb., charged with motor vehicle homicide, Tuesday was continued to Jan. 10 after the state rested its case.

County Judge Robert R. Troyer granted the continuance to give attorneys time to prepare briefs on legal questions. Bryce Crawford Jr., defense attorney, questioned the sufficiency of the evidence.

Thompson was the driver of a car that was in collision with another driven by John Weed, Council Bluffs, on West Dodge Street Dec. 2. Weed was killed.

A vehicle homicide charge was filed by the county attorney after a coroner's jury found Thompson guilty of reckless driving.

Evidence presented by the state Tuesday was much the same as that produced at the inquest.

Nebraska Safety Patrolman Frank Campbell testified that on the basis of debris on the highway the Thompson car was in the wrong lane at the time of the collision.

A new witness was Edwin F. Chaney of Omaha, a truck driver who said he saw the accident. He said the truck was going "around 50" near the accident scene. The speed limit is 45.

New Oil Field Is Discovered In Cheyenne

POTTER, Neb. (AP)—Discovery of oil in commercial quantities was reported by Ryan, Davis & Cimarron Western Oil Co. 14 miles northeast of here in Cheyenne County, Neb.

The wildcat discovery is the No. 1 Graham.

Jack Davis of New York said the well had 13½ feet of permeable sand in the second bench of the "J" zone. A two-hour test of the interval from 5,215-28 feet, shut in 20 minutes, had gas to the surface in 20 minutes, and recovered 1,700 feet of oil, 260 feet of oil-cut mud and 60 feet of muddy, fresh water, Davis said.

Shut-in pressure was 1,135 pounds. Final flow pressure was 600 pounds.

Apparently opening up a new field in the county, they estimated it may run 500 barrels a day.

The Empire Drilling Co., reported finding oil saturated sand in tests on its Snyder No. 2 in Banner County.

Skelly Oil recovered 2,430 feet of oil with 960 feet of water on test of "D" sand at No. 1 Phillips in Kimball County. The tool was open an hour in the interval 5,989-94 feet. The well is slightly more than three miles east of the Long field, where production is found in both "D" and "J" sands.

MIRACLES STILL POSSIBLE

By SALLY ADAMS
Star Staff Writer

FREMONT, Neb. —Miracles not possible?

Persons who doubt they are may well change their minds after meeting Les Jensen of Fremont.

For 40 years, Les led an active normal life.

Then a rare malady struck suddenly leaving him totally blind and almost entirely paralyzed.

Yet a little more than three years later, Les is able to care for himself and even supplement the family income.

Les says that after spending seven months in the hospital he could do nothing but lie in bed all day, getting up to listen to records for about an hour.

He now has recovered almost all feeling in the upper half of his body, is able to skillfully maneuver his way about the house in a wheel chair and even lift himself in and out of bed by using an overhead bar.

Les is now becoming an expert at making rubber doormats. He has been working on the project for a little more than a year.

"I'm getting better all the time," he says. "It certainly has been a time filler. It gives me something to do."

Representatives from the State Services for the Blind helped him to design a worktable and special equipment for assembling the wire and rubber doormats. After the original plans were made, Les redesigned the worktable into a more compact unit. Local firms made all the equipment for him.

"It took a lot of figuring on everybody's part so that everything would come out even," he says. Now I can complete eight mats a day if everything goes according to Hoyle."

Les orders the rubber links and wire from the state office. He then sends the complete product back for sale and distribution.

Proud of Work

The cheerful, mat-maker would hate to be sentimental about his project, but he still has the first mat he made lying in front of the fireplace.

Les fills his "spare" time with other activities. He is learning to type so that he can carry on his own correspondence. In addition, he is now starting to learn Braille.

"Somehow it defeats me," he says, "but I'll whip it."

His proudest possession is a brand new, three-speed phonograph. It was a birthday present from his wife, Marie, whome he married following his release from the hospital.

He spends much of his time listening to "talking books," which include everything from the Bible to humorous novels.

"To me," he says, "it is just like sitting listening to a very good reader."

Missing Something

Les confides that persons who can see are really missing something by not having access to "talking books."

In spite of his seemingly miraculous recovery, Les is a humble man.

"I still have a long way to go," he says, "but with the help of God and my wonderful friends I have made progress and I have faith I will make more."

Mrs. Derry Rites To Be Thursday

TV Antenna Life Saver

NEWMAN GROVE, Neb. (AP)— When flames engulfed their farm home 9½ miles west of here early Tuesday, members of the Albert Leach family found themselves trapped on the second floor.

Mr. and Mrs. Leach and their two teen-age children escaped by sliding down a television antenna mast, Robert Larson of the Newman Grove fire department said.

The house and all its contents were destroyed leaving the family with only their night clothes in the frigid winter weather.

Peterson Says:

Evacuation Only Chance For Survival

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Federal Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson says that target cities in any hydrogen-age war have no other choice than to plan evacuation.

"The only sure way to survive," he told the National Academy of Economics and Political Science Monday night, "is not to be there when the bomb goes off.

The academy, meeting here in conjunction with the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science, was told that despite the technological advances in air defense, no aircraft detection system is fool-proof.

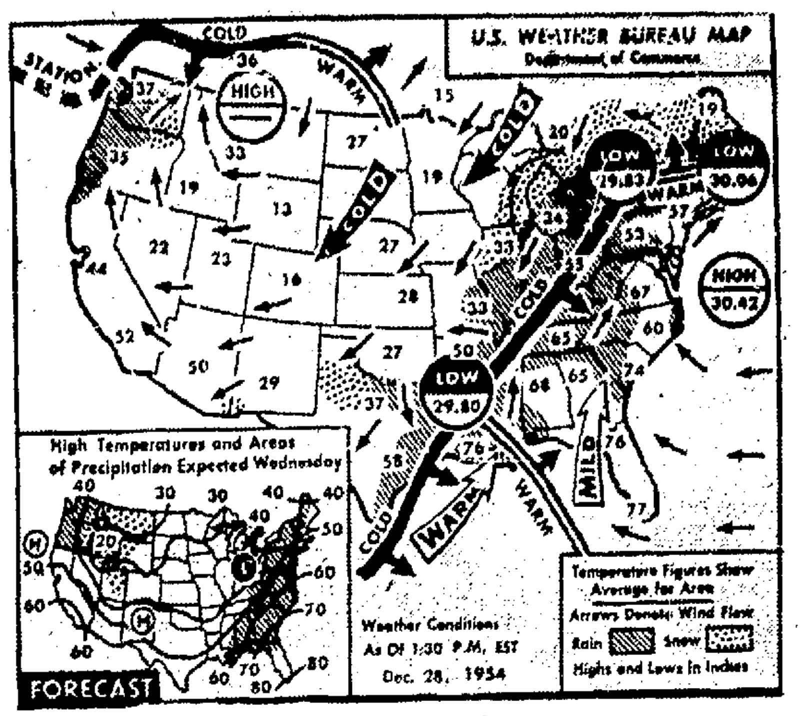
"Some planes—perhaps many—will get through," Peterson said.

"But any evacuation is better than no evacuation. Target cities have no other choice than to plan it."

Peterson pointed out that recent drills in Milwaukee, Denver and other cities have shown it is possible to evacuate 80 per cent of large metropolitan areas in three to seven hours. Advance notice of any enemy attack could possibly be given within that period by early warning systems, he said.

Volzkes Injured

GRESHAM, Neb.—Mr. and Mrs. Martin Volzke of Gresham are improving at the York General Hospital after being seriously injured in a three-car collision one and a half miles east of Bradshaw.



Warmer Trend For Plains States

Precipitation will occur Wednesday in the eastern third of the country and in the northwest. A mixture of rain and snow will fall from northern Maine to Ohio while rain is due from southern New York State southward to northern Florida and westward to the central Gulf states and the Tennessee valley. A few snow flurries are expected in the northern Rockies and in the upper Great Lakes. Showers will continue in coastal areas of the northwest. It will be colder in the Ohio valley southward to the central Gulf states and in parts of the middle Atlantic states. A warmer trend is expected in the Plains states. (AP Wirephoto Map.)

Volunteer Fireman Battles Blazes 46 Years; Retires

Lincoln Star Special

DAVID CITY, Neb.—The second oldest volunteer fireman in David City, in years of service, has decided it's time to retire and hang up the firefighting togs.

He is Roy Welte, who has spent 46 years battling blazes here. The only firemen with longer service is his brother, Ted, who joined the department a year earlier.

Roy's retirement was approved at the recent meeting of the David City Volunteer Fire Dept. and he has gone on inactive status.

The combined years of service for the two brothers totals 93 years.

Roy Welte traces his firefighting activities back to the days of man-drawn hose carts and hook and ladder trucks. In those days, he recalls, fighting a fire was a matter of pushing and pulling the equipment to the scene and then hoping the standpipe would furnish pressure to put water on the blaze.

He also recalls the efforts of the firemen to secure a pumper truck in David City.

The city council was not sold on the merits of such equipment. The members felt the standpipe water pressure was sufficient to snuff out any fire. This idea was refuted and the pumper purchased after the Imperial Mill fire during which a water main was broken when the city pumps tried to keep up the pressure.

Welte has served as secretary of the Fire Department for more than 2? years.

In addition, he is currently a member of the city council and chairman of the board of trustees of St. Luke's Methodist Church. He is employed as a custodian at David City High School.

CHARLES O. McCOURTNEY

SYRACUSE—Funeral services were held at Table Rock for Charles Oliver McCourtney, 85, of Table Rock. A house mover and general contractor, he had lived in Table Rock 52 years. He was a member of the Methodist Church and Odd Fellows Lodge. Surviving are his wife, Lula; seven daughters and three sons.

He now has recovered almost all feeling in the upper half of his body, is able to skillfully maneuver his way about the house in a wheel chair and even lift himself in and out of bed by using an overhead bar.

Les is now becoming an expert at making rubber doormats. He has been working on the project for a little more than a year.

"I'm getting better all the time," he says. "It certainly has been a time filler. It gives me something to do."

Representatives from the State Services for the Blind helped him to design a worktable and special equipment for assembling the wire and rubber doormats. After the original plans were made, Les redesigned the worktable into a more compact unit. Local firms made all the equipment for him.

"It took a lot of figuring on everybody's part so that everything would come out even," he says. Now I can complete eight mats a day if everything goes according to Hoyle."

Les orders the rubber links and wire from the state office. He then sends the complete product back for sale and distribution.

Proud of Work

The cheerful, mat-maker would hate to be sentimental about his project, but he still has the first mat he made lying in front of the fireplace.

Les fills his "spare" time with other activities. He is learning to type so that he can carry on his own correspondence. In addition, he is now starting to learn Braille.

"Somehow it defeats me," he says, "but I'll whip it."

His proudest possession is a brand new, three-speed phonograph. It was a birthday present from his wife, Marie, whome he married following his release from the hospital.

He spends much of his time listening to "talking books," which include everything from the Bible to humorous novels.

"To me," he says, "it is just like sitting listening to a very good reader."

Missing Something

Les confides that persons who can see are really missing something by not having access to "talking books."

In spite of his seemingly miraculous recovery, Les is a humble man.

"I still have a long way to go," he says, "but with the help of God and my wonderful friends I have made progress and I have faith I will make more."

Mrs. Derry Rites To Be Thursday

Lincoln Star Special

BLAIR, Neb. — Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth Dixon Perry, 95, former Nebraska resident, will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Bendorf Funeral Home in Blair.

Mrs. Derry, a native of Washington County, had lived in Blair and in Lincoln before moving to Nicoma, Okla. She died in Nicoma Monday.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. C. L. Williams of Nicoma and Mrs. Cleo Conley of Bell, Calif.; a sister, Mrs. Esther Overmeyer of Boise, Idaho; 13 grandchildren, 23 great grandchildren, and two great great grandchildren.

Fairbury Man Dies Of Bullet Wound

FAIRBURY, Neb. (AP) — Marvin Stewart, 50, died late Tuesday of a bullet wound in the head.

Sheriff Deyo Hughes said Stewart was found wounded earlier in the day by his wife at the Stewart farm home five miles north of here. A rifle was beside the body.

TV Antenna Life Saver

NEWMAN GROVE, Neb. (AP)— When flames engulfed their farm home 9½ miles west of here early Tuesday, members of the Albert Leach family found themselves trapped on the second floor.

Mr. and Mrs. Leach and their two teen-age children escaped by sliding down a television antenna mast, Robert Larson of the Newman Grove fire department said.

The house and all its contents were destroyed leaving the family with only their night clothes in the frigid winter weather.

Peterson Says:

Evacuation Only Chance For Survival

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Federal Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson says that target cities in any hydrogen-age war have no other choice than to plan evacuation.

"The only sure way to survive," he told the National Academy of Economics and Political Science Monday night, "is not to be there when the bomb goes off.

The academy, meeting here in conjunction with the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science, was told that despite the technological advances in air defense, no aircraft detection system is fool-proof.

"Some planes—perhaps many—will get through," Peterson said.

"But any evacuation is better than no evacuation. Target cities have no other choice than to plan it."

Peterson pointed out that recent drills in Milwaukee, Denver and other cities have shown it is possible to evacuate 80 per cent of large metropolitan areas in three to seven hours. Advance notice of any enemy attack could possibly be given within that period by early warning systems, he said.

Volzkes Injured

Warmer Trend For Plains States

Precipitation will occur Wednesday in the eastern third of the country and in the northwest. A mixture of rain and snow will fall from northern Maine to Ohio while rain is due from southern New York State southward to northern Florida and westward to the central Gulf states and the Tennessee valley. A few snow flurries are expected in the northern Rockies and in the upper Great Lakes. Showers will continue in coastal areas of the northwest. It will be colder in the Ohio valley southward to the central Gulf states and in parts of the middle Atlantic states. A warmer trend is expected in the Plains states. (AP Wirephoto Map.)

Volunteer Fireman Battles Blazes 46 Years; Retires

Lincoln Star Special

DAVID CITY, Neb.—The second oldest volunteer fireman in David City, in years of service, has decided it's time to retire and hang up the firefighting togs.

He is Roy Welte, who has spent 46 years battling blazes here. The only firemen with longer service is his brother, Ted, who joined the department a year earlier.

Roy's retirement was approved at the recent meeting of the David City Volunteer Fire Dept. and he has gone on inactive status.

The combined years of service for the two brothers totals 93 years.

Roy Welte traces his firefighting activities back to the days of mandrawn hose carts and hook and ladder trucks. In those days, he recalls, fighting a fire was a matter of pushing and pulling the equipment to the scene and then hoping the standpipe would furnish pressure to put water on the blaze.

He also recalls the efforts of the firemen to secure a pumper truck in David City.

The city council was not sold on the merits of such equipment. The members felt the standpipe water pressure was sufficient to snuff out any fire. This idea was refuted and the pumper purchased after the Imperial Mill fire during which a water main was broken when the city pumps tried to keep up the pressure.

Welte has served as secretary of the Fire Department for more than 25 years.

In addition, he is currently a member of the city council and chairman of the board of trustees of St. Luke's Methodist Church. He is employed as a custodian at David City High School.

CHARLES O. McCOURTNEY

SYRACUSE—Funeral services were held at Table Rock for Charles Oliver McCourtney, 85, of Table Rock. A house mover and general contractor, he had lived in Table Rock 52 years. He was a member of the Methodist Church and Odd Fellows Lodge. Surviving are his wife, Lula; seven daughters and three sons.

Definition Of Authority

Apparently Governor-elect Victor Anderson figured it out that the Nebraska Advisory Highway Commission basically is the Legislature's baby.

At least the incoming governor indicated that he would be guided largely by an expression from the Nebraska Unicameral in defining the powers of the highway advisory group established by legislative action two years ago. The governor-elect was not ducking an issue which has arisen because the advisory highway board decided to give its attention to a stormy controversy involving relocation of a northeast Nebraska highway. Actually the advisory commission was the Legislature's idea—an idea long maturing — which has found expression in a number of sessions—and yet never became a reality until two years ago.

On the subject of locating or relocating highways, naturally nothing can come out of divided authority. There has to be a final answer to where a road shall be built, and until the advisory commission took a hand in it, final authority rested with the state engineer.

It can be said that in setting up the board, it was difficult if not impossible for the Legislature to define the powers of an agency which it had created. Now that the question has arisen, however, it is imperative such steps be taken. These next few years are most important in Nebraska's highway progress. We have lagged at times because of limited funds, because of an understandable determination to remain on a pay-as-you-go basis, and because of the long-standing tradition for prudent action in this state. But in these immediate years ahead, more money will be available and Nebraska will find it possible to build more miles of new road as well as replace stretches of old highway which have outlived their usefulness.

The governor-elect was on sound ground in expressing a hope that among the first matters it tackles, the Legislature define the scope of responsibility occupied by the Advisory Highway Commission.

A Break For Uncle Sam

The magazine, "U.S. News and World Report," in a copyrighted article late last week said offshore oil land development of the shallow Continental Shelf extending into the Gulf of Mexico promises to be a huge bonanza for the Federal Treasury, a much smaller one for two of the three states which battled for the fabled riches of Tidelands oil.

If confirmed by subsequent developments, there is good news.

Contrary to expectations when the Tidelands controversy was at its peak in Washington, the magazine said that the federal government stands to reap a profit six times as great as the gulf coast states. "It now appears as though the Federal Treasury will wind up at least $6 billion richer because of Tidelands development," the article said. "The states of Louisiana and Texas will be lucky if they get (a total of) $1 billion.' The reason given: With improved methods of deep-water drilling, oil companies are finding the gulf lands reserved to the federal government more attractive than the offshore lands now under the ownership of the states."

After the Eisenhower administration came into office, the law passed by Congress upon recommendation of the President sought to resolve the ownership controversy by giving the states title to submerged land off their shores within their historical boundaries. In the case of Texas and portions of Florida, that was regarded generally as three leagues, or 10.35 miles. For Louisiana and other states, it was three miles.

It will be difficult for a new Congress, though a bloc of Democratic southern votes might be rallied to extend the limits of state ownership, to retrace its steps and again seek to give a handful of states added riches in the form of oil royalties. Even in California, where the Continental Shelf breaks off abruptly, it is not all smooth sailing. There a single community, long Beach, has staked its claim to the oil riches offshore, now placed at between $80 and $120 millions in accumulated royalties, under legislation adopted by a California legislature in 1911, long in advance of California's richest oil strikes. At that time (1911), California's concern was simply harbor development. The legislation gave Long Beach title to harbor rights. It now may develop that Long Beach gets the bulk of the Tidelands royalties while Californians in other areas gaze hungrily.

The least to be said is that a lot of well-laid plans seem to have gone astray. Uncle Sam should not be mad because they did.

By J. E. LAWRENCE

In clearing his desk preparatory to re-entering the legal practice in Lincoln, Gov. Bob Crosby, it seems to us, rang a bell by paying a moving tribute to a state which he has served as governor. . . . "It would take a considerable inducement to persuade me to leave Nebraska," he said. . . . "This is my native state, and I like it."

★

What more is there to say. . . . The governor was referring to reports in the news columns that he was in line for a number of attractive offers to continue in public life by accepting a federal appointment. . . . He could have had a most attractive job—exciting in the sense that public service always is exciting, carrying with it a good salary, and what could be more important in some eyes, a stepping-stone in the political career of a young man. . . . But the governor said "no" . . . "I doubt if I'm cut out to fill a niche in a federal department . . . I like being my own boss." . . . In reaching that decision, the governor cleared a hurdle which we doubt receives much attention in thousands of cases where the opportunity to embark upon a political career in the federal service offers itself. . . . Of course there must be thousands of men and women who find real happiness in entering the federal srevice. . . Their willingness and their happiness in so doing contribute a great deal to good government. . . . But Gov. Crosby could not have paid a more eloquent tribute to Nebraska, nor voiced a deeper affection for his home land and its people than in choosing the words he did in announcing his plans, come the day he returns to civilian life. . . . In a way, those words explain America. . . . Nearly every square mile of a big country —so varied in resources, in physical appearance, in climate, and in many other particulars—has the intense, passionate devotion of those who call it "home."

★

A growing Washington—now with its suburban areas a city of more than a million people—is a very beautiful spot. . . . We have lavished untold millions upon architecturally beautiful buildings to make it so. . . . Each decade has seemed to add to its appeal. . . . There on the shining waters of the Potomac is the symbol of the strength and glory of a free nation—in one respect the most remarkable experiment, if a mature people can be called an "experiment," that civilization has known. . . . It is not merely the material things of life that add to the impressiveness of Washington. . . . The individual who lives there or who visits there does not need to possess any great imagination if, when he closes his eyes, there unfolds before them the good, sweet story of everlasting dreams.

★

That is one part of it, and a very appealing one. . . . And because Washington is so beautiful, hundreds of thousands of men and women eager to serve their government think of it not only in terms of affection but also beckoning opportunity. . . . There is another phase of it. . . . One need only to stand at a street corner near the acres and acres of great sprawling buildings which house the far-flung activities of federal agencies when the 5 o'clock hour arrives, to gaze upon the long lines of federal workers homeward bound. . . . Not all of the staffs of these agencies join that mad rush by any means. . . . Many remain at their desks until the gathering shades of evening are replaced by darkness. . . . There they work long hours. . . . It is inevitable, however, in the working of the federal machines that the individual is lost. . . . There is a foundation for Gov. Crosby's astute observation that he likes to be his own boss.

Undoubtedly there are times in summer's punishing heat or winter's chilling cold when Nebraskans may feel they are called upon to accept a lot of the unpleasantness other regions escape. . . . But here is variety in the change of the seasons, and here are the broad horizons which seem so unlimited. . . . Complicated as life has become in modern times, here is the last stronghold of relative simplicity in everyday habits and deeply rooted American virtues.

Manpower Shortage

The National Manpower Council has sounded a warning to the nation, telling it to take cognizance of a mounting shortage of trained scientific manpower.

In a recent report it had this to say:

"One of the country's foremost physicists a key figure in the development of the atomic bomb, once remarked that World War II had critically affected physical research in this country—it had almost ruined it. He explained that the atomic bomb was primarily a technological problem; the pure research had been completed before the bomb began. Because the country's top research brains had been diverted to solving what were in essence mechanical problems, the atomic bomb had actually slowed research in physics and not, as the public thought, accelerated it."

The problem of diverted talent in physics illustrates many of the manpower problems in this country. We know more about our future supply of uranium than we do about our future supply of physicists. It has taken us a long time to realize that despite all of the material shortages we face, our most critical resources will always be manpower.

Now $4,200 Maximum

Along with New Year's resolutions that won't last will come one this January 1 that will.

That is the date when social security is scheduled to apply its new provisions. They will mostly be noted for raising the tax from $3,600 a year maximum earnings to $4,200.

There will be no change for those earning $3,600 or less per year, but for those earning more than that the levies will move up with them until the $4,200 mark is reached. Those earning that much or more will cost the employer up to $1 a year more while the earner, himself, will experience parallel increases.

But it won't be all out the window. Benefits will be higher for those earning the higher pay.

It will be a happy New Year for dependents of heads of families who died after 1939 and Sept. 1, 1950 and who had been in the social security program at least a year and a half. After January 1 they will be considered to have been fully insured.

Rumor Wilson Will Leave Defense Post

WASHINGTON — It won't be announced for some time and may even be denied, but the resignation of Charles E. Wilson as secretary of defense is already at the White House and his successor has been picked.

The successor is quiet, headline-shunning Robert Anderson, the deputy secretary of defense.

No announcement will be made, however, until Wilson has a chance to appear before Congress and do battle for the new economized Defense Department budget. This is going to be a tough fight, and the secretary of defense has specified that he wants to lead it himself.

Wilson's political career, never a happy one, got off to a bad start when he told the Senate Armed Services Committee that "what's good for General Motors is good for the United States." It reached a crescendo of public protest when he made his ill-timed dog remark in Detroit last fall. That remark was credited by many with causing the defeat of Republican Sen. Homer Ferguson of Michigan.

Wilson was also responsible for the policy of concentrating defense production with a few big companies, a policy in which he, as a General Motors production wizard, thoroughly believed, but which led to more contracts for GM, and eventually to the policy's reversal.

TEXAS RANCHER

Bob Anderson, who will become the new secretary of defense, is a lifelong Texas Democrat, who bolted the party to work for Eisenhower in 1952. Manager of the second biggest ranch in the United States, the Waggoner estate at Vernon, Texas, with an acreage of 500,000 in Texas and 300,000 in New Mexico, Anderson got to know Eisenhower through oil-tycoon Seth Richardson.

The appointment of a relatively unknown cattle rancher as secretary of the Navy was considered a tribute to Eisenhower's friendship for Texans and the tremendous amount of Texas money poured into his campaign.

Immediately after taking over the Navy, however, Anderson showed that he intended to run it. Unlike so many civilian secretaries, he did not allow the admirals to run him. He gave them a pointed rebuff when he promoted Capt. George Hyman Rickover, the atomic specialist, to be an admiral after the admirals had twice turned him down. And he also reprimanded a group of top officers for a strip-tease party at Key West, Fla., after a junior officer had been made the scapegoat.

When Roger Kyes, another General Motors man, got tired of Washington and resigned as deputy secretary of defense, Anderson was transferred from the Navy Department to take his place.

As secretary of defense, Anderson will not be in the headlines but he will run the Pentagon.

SMEAR BOOMERANGED

No man was more unfairly pilloried during the recent congressional election than Sen. Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming. But the other day in Miami he sat down to dinner with the man who helped pillory him.

O'Mahoney, who had served in the Senate for 18 years and who is a devout Catholic, was pictured as a "foreign agent" and as soft toward Communism largely because as a lawyer he had defended Prof. Owen Lattimore of Johns Hopkins when indicted for perjury. O'Mahoney was elected anyway.

Stopping at the Saxony hotel in Miami Beach during the Christmas holidays, Sen. O'Mahoney bumped into Sen. Everett Dirksen, Republican of Illinois, who had gone into Wyoming to speak against him. In the Christmas spirit, the two senators and their wives sat down to dinner.

"Joe," said Dirksen, "what I said about you would have been a lot worse had I followed the speeches handed me by the Republican National Committee. I censored them considerably."

O'Mahoney gave Dirksen a gentle sermon on the smear tactics used by the Republicans. He did not, however, tell Dirksen about some of the letters he wrote to supporters after the campaign.

To one such friend, David Scoll, the New York attorney, O'Mahoney wrote: "The charges made against me by my opponents boomeranged to such an extent that I was not able to use the money you so kindly sent me. I am therefore returning your check for $100."

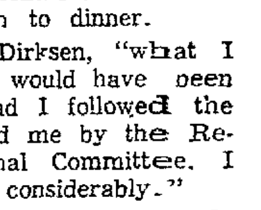
MARQUIS CHILDS

Bonnet Worked For U.S.-French Accord



WASHINGTON — While France has been going through another of the political crises that have repeatedly shaken the Western alliance in recent years, Washington has been paying tribute in a series of farewell parties to the retiring French ambassador, Henri Bonnet. Both at private and public functions praise has been lavished on the ambassador and his wife for their efforts during 10 years in this capital to further Franco-American understanding and good will.

It will occur to many to wonder why, if Mr. Bonnet has worked so hard to promote understanding between the two countries, there should be these recurring strains that test relations to the breaking point. But there are limits on what an ambassador can do, and they are clearly shown in this instance.

He cannot, for example, make the policy of his country. He can only explain and clarify it. If the policy seems to threaten disaster or something close to it, then he can let his own government know just what the repercussions will be.

Above all, an ambassador can represent what is best in his ideals, its aspirations. This is what Ambassador Bonnet has done in his years in Washington and he has been ably seconded by Madame Bonnet. In fact, some criticism has been directed at Bonnet because in his zeal he may have given too hopeful a picture of France and the French. But he can scarcely be blamed for working to make the best possible case for his own land.

In the decade the Bonnets have been in Washington, the French have gone through one upheaval after another and the ambassador has explained to a succession of secretaries of state just what these crises have meant in relation to the deeper currents of French hopes and fears. Immediately after the war General Charles De Gaulle, with his almost-mystic conviction of France's destiny, went to Moscow and formed a close allegiance with the Soviet Union.

He also took the Communists into his government in that period in the wake of the wartime alliance when collaboration and co-existence seemed assured. A little later came the wave of Communist-directed strikes and mass demonstrations that threatened the entire French economy. France appeared to be defenseless before the menace of Communism both at home and abroad.

But the Marshall Plan was projected and the Communists were expelled from the government. Massive American aid began to reinvigorate French industry. There was renewed hope and the lines of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization were laid for an effective defense of Western Europe with American support.

There remained, however, a hard core of Communist support and a basic disaffection with high prices that made Communist votes. In the French assembly today the 95 votes of the Communist bloc—second largest in the chamber—constitute a Trojan horse with the reins held in Moscow. This has been the major obstacle over which one premier after another has fallen in the effort to get a majority vote for German rearmament.

It was France that first put forward the plan of European unity embodied in the European Defense Community treaty. When that treaty was threatened with rejection in the crisis in the assembly last August, Ambassador Bonnet was called to the state department and told how serious would be the consequences of a vote of disapproval. The then under secretary of state, Walter Bedell Smith, went so far as to say that he wondered if even Bonnet, himself, despite his years in Washington, realized what the American reaction would mean for France.

As a consequence, the ambassador wrote a strong dispatch to the government of Premier Pierre Mendes-France expressing his own deep concern over the possibility that the Assembly might not ratify the EDC treaty. This frank dispatch is said to have caused no little annoyance in Paris among those around the premier who were trying to steer a course that would avoid an open commitment to EDC and thereby enable Mendes-France to stay in power.

To readers of the social columns the Bonnets' 10 years in Washington would seem to have been one long party, with a procession of French visitors, military heroes, premiers, dress designers, presidents and ordinary citizens on one mission or another. When it goes on night after night, however, it becomes merely part of the job and an arduous and taxing part of it. The Bonnets have been going on a clockwork schedule of farewell parties and this is to be repeated in New York before they sail on Jan. 5 to retirement in Paris.

Bonnet will be succeeded by a career diplomat, Couve De Murville, who will come to Washington in mid-January. It will not be easy for him to follow a man who has won such a wide popular following and who has come to stand as a symbol of his country.

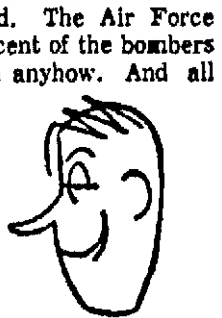
STAN DELAPLANE'S

POSTCARD



If the world is coming to an end, it is OK with me. I have seen the mushroom cloud. The Air Force tells me 30 per cent of the bombers will get through anyhow. And all the scientific blokes say there is no place to hide. So why worry?

Still I am in no hurry, you understand. And when that Michigan State doctor got the word about the world's end, I gave it some serious thought.

I am happy to report that D-Day has passed. And I am still here. But it was a near miss at that.

☆ ☆ ☆

Last week the state of Nevada shook like a dog coming out of water. Mountains went up and valleys went down. A lot of hot water came out of the ground.

The town of Eureka in Northern California, did a bump and grind. Showered bricks all over the place.

This is much too close. I do not see why the doc should zero in on me. I have spoken well of the medical profession and never, never said a word against flying saucers. Matter of fact, I have said some good words about flying saucers.

For quite a spell I was in touch with some people down in the Mojave desert. They were on a direct pipe to flying saucers. I gave it serious attention and good news space. If any flying saucer man comes to my house, I can show him the clips.

I will give him a cup of coffee and pat him on his little pointy head.

It pays to be friendly. At least until we see what he has got in his foxy pocket.

☆ ☆ ☆

I am not saying that the flying saucer people are responsible for these earthquakes. And I am not saying they are not. I am not saying anything until we get the facts, ma'am.

I simply say that we should start thinking about getting along with flying saucer people. In case they should drop in. To this end, I have prepared a social questionnaire.

You are reading the Sunday papers when there is a knock on the door. At the door is a little green man in a space suit with an antenna growing out of the top of his head.

"Is this Earth?" he says.

"Come in, come in," you say. "As to whether this is Earth, I will have to look in the yellow section of the telephone book. Been traveling long?"

"About a thousand light years," he says. "I've got something to deliver."

"Well, if it is a bill," you say, "you might just as well come back Tuesday. To tell you the truth, we Earthlings are mighty poor. Christmas has just passed and we have unpaid markers with all the better stores.

"Money is tight. And if I told you what my banker gets for the plaster on this house, you wouldn't believe me."

"That's funny," says the Space man. "We were informed that there were rich diggings on this planet. All of which could be shaken out of the local yokels. And speaking of shakes, possibly you felt the small sample."

"I did, indeed," you say. "And I regret that it was not harder. For the sooner you shake it down, the sooner I can put the nudge on the insurance company and get a little walk around money."

"According to our records," says the saucer gentleman, "somebody has got cash. Ever hear of a fellow named Midas?"

"Must have been back in the Coolidge administration," you say. "You ought to keep your figures up to date."

You take the Air Force. Every time flying saucers come up, either the Air Force says there aren't any, or if there are they will shoot them down.

My idea is you talk them down. Poor mouth them. Tell them about singing commercials. Ask them if they want to take over the budget deficit.

Most of the problem with flying saucers is they have been sending us messages what they want. Let us send them some messages. Tell them what they will get when they get here. You have to use your head on these things. Your little pointed head with the antenna on top.

Skating Rink

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: There are rumors afloat that the ice-skating rink in the proposed new auditorium is being sabotaged for the benefit of the Ak-Sar-Ben Coliseum Corp.

Mayor Jeary has repeatedly stated that a skating rink is of no importance and that we need just a small rink for the children. We all know that is poor business and bad sense of reasoning. We need adult patronage so it will be possible for children to be admitted at a small fee they can afford. Some of these children will grow up and, who knows, some will become skating stars.

It was estimated that there were over 2,000 Lincolnites in an evening performance at the Omaha Ak-Sar-Ben ice show held just recently. I had a talk with one of our city councilmen in regard to building a larger rink and he told me the people were satisfied with the small rink. He also told me that I am the only one who is complaining. Which is not true. There are many others. I do not want to be egotistical but I am one of the few people of Lincoln who has had experience with artificial ice rinks.

Twice the auditorium has been used as a political football by former City Hall incumbents to further their political ambitions. Now, according to rumors, someone wants to make money at the expense of the people of Lincoln.

Resolutions

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: These are my resolutions for the New Year:

Be cheerful. If you can't be an optimist, at least smile.

Be courageous. Look 'em in the eye and don't slow up when you hit the line.

Be hopeful. No leader is so inspiring as expectation.

Be helpful. Remember there are others and do what you can to aid them.

Be decent. Search your own soul and live up to the light it gives you.

Be kind. Think how you might be hurt and don't make others suffer.

Be lawful. Help to protect your neighbors against yourself.

Be temperate. Eat, drink, talk, play and profit in moderation.

Be prompt. Timeliness and accuracy are the essence of every achievement.

Be truthful. Don't rush to the telephone if that truth would injure others.

Be faithful. Accept your obligations willingly and discharge them sincerely.

Be industrious. Expend your energies where they will do the most good.

Be open-handed. Squeeze your money and choke your soul.

Be happy. If you follow all these others, you just can't escape happiness.

Let's go for 1955!

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It seems at this season of the year much emphasis is placed on the birth of a Child who lived to be a man yet never died. To the average individual, such a record seems almost a myth, yet this same Jesus of Bethlehem was no different from mortal man physically and mentally other than that He was divine. Tied to an earthly and ailing body, we think we are tired and ill, but it is only our bodies. We are never tired, never ill, and above all, never old.

The Christ promised to meet the thief in Paradise, which proves a man is the same after his death as he was the day before, having the same desires and thoughts; the loss of his physical body alone prevents their gratification. Paradise is the soul's new home where during its sojourn, earthly cravings die down and eventually the soul becomes free.

Man's prisons are all self-made and there is no prison like the dark cell of a selfish heart. No man is there ever so degraded and abandoned who has not at one time loved something other than himself, though it may have been only a dog. Man alone sows the seeds that grow up to flower in the future life and they must be sown now.

Christ did not ask his hearers if they had regularly attended church, or if they followed certain doctrines. He asked them rather if they had fed the hungry, visited the sick, sinful and the poor. He said, "As ye did it unto the least of these my brethren, ye did it unto me." There are four important seeds to be sown here if we desire them to flower in heaven—love of friends, love of God, love of humanity, and love of truth and beauty. By one or all of these gateways, every mortal soul may enter therein. This is the true gospel of the only Man who came back from the tomb as convincing proof that there is no such thing as death, and that even a penitent thief may find a new life in Paradise.

Community Toy Shop

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: We appreciate the publicity given us by The Lincoln Star for the 1954 Christmas Toy Shop. Many individuals and organizations by their contributions to "Operation Santa Claus" and gifts to social agencies made individual gifts possible. On behalf of 996 boys and girls who received the gifts, we say thank you.

Family Service Association coordinated the Community Toy Shop project. Its success was also due to the hours of effort by many other organizations. The Community Toy Shop fulfilled a need in the city of Lincoln. It brought happiness to 996 of our community's children.

Definition Of Authority

Apparently Governor-elect Victor Anderson figured it out that the Nebraska Advisory Highway Commission basically is the Legislature's baby.

At least the incoming governor indicated that he would be guided largely by an expression from the Nebraska Unicameral in defining the powers of the highway advisory group established by legislative action two years ago. The governor-elect was not ducking an issue which has arisen because the advisory highway board decided to give its attention to a stormy controversy involving relocation of a northeast Nebraska highway. Actually the advisory commission was the Legislature's idea—an idea long maturing — which has found expression in a number of sessions—and yet never became a reality until two years ago.

On the subject of locating or relocating highways, naturally nothing can come out of divided authority. There has to be a final answer to where a road shall be built, and until the advisory commission took a hand in it, final authority rested with the state engineer.

It can be said that in setting up the board, it was difficult if not impossible for the Legislature to define the powers of an agency which it had created. Now that the question has arisen, however, it is imperative such steps be taken. These next few years are most important in Nebraska's highway progress. We have lagged at times because of limited funds, because of an understandable determination to remain on a pay-as-you-go basis, and because of the longstanding tradition for prudent action in this state. But in these immediate years ahead, more money will be available and Nebraska will find it possible to build more miles of new road as well as replace stretches of old highway which have outlived their usefulness.

The governor-elect was on sound ground in expressing a hope that among the first matters it tackles, the Legislature define the scope of responsibility occupied by the Advisory Highway Commission.

A Break For Uncle Sam

The magazine, "U.S. News and World Report," in a copyrighted article late last week said offshore oil land development of the shallow Continental Shelf extending into the Gulf of Mexico promises to be a huge bonanza for the Federal Treasury, a much smaller one for two of the three states which battled for the fabled riches of Tidelands oil.

If confirmed by subsequent developments, there is good news.

Contrary to expectations when the Tidelands controversy was at its peak in Washington, the magazine said that the federal government stands to reap a profit six times as great as the gulf coast states. "It now appears as though the Federal Treasury will wind up at least $6 billion richer because of Tidelands development," the article said. "The states of Louisiana and Texas will be lucky if they get (a total of) $1 billion. The reason given: With improved methods of deep-water drilling, oil companies are finding the gulf lands reserved to the federal government more attractive than the offshore lands now under the ownership of the states."

After the Eisenhower administration came into office, the law passed by Congress upon recommendation of the President sought to resolve the ownership controversy by giving the states title to submerged land off their shores within their historical boundaries. In the case of Texas and portions of Florida, that was regarded generally as three leagues, or 10.35 miles. For Louisiana and other states, it was three miles.

It will be difficult for a new Congress, though a bloc of Democratic southern votes might be rallied to extend the limits of state ownership, to retrace its steps and again seek to give a handful of states added riches in the form of oil royalties. Even in California, where the Continental Shelf breaks off abruptly, it is not all smooth sailing. There a single community, long Beach, has staked its claim to the oil riches offshore, now placed at between $80 and $120 millions in accumulated royalties, under legislation adopted by a California legislature in 1911, long in advance of California's richest oil strikes. At that time (1911), California's concern was simply harbor development. The legislation gave Long Beach title to harbor rights. It now may develop that Long Beach gets the bulk of the Tidelands royalties while Californians in other areas gaze hungrily.

The least to be said is that a lot of well-laid plans seem to have gone astray. Uncle Sam should not be mad because they did.

By J. E. LAWRENCE

In clearing his desk preparatory to re-entering the legal practice in Lincoln, Gov. Bob Crosby, it seems to us, rang a bell by paying a moving tribute to a state which he has served as governor. . . . "It would take a considerable inducement to persuade me to leave Nebraska," he said. . . . "This is my native state, and I like it."

★

What more is there to say. . . . The governor was referring to reports in the news columns that he was in line for a number of attractive offers to continue in public life by accepting a federal appointment. . . . He could have had a most attractive job—exciting in the sense that public service always is exciting, carrying with it a good salary, and what could be more important in some eyes, a stepping-stone in the political career of a young man. . . . But the governor said "no" . . . "I doubt if I'm cut out to fill a niche in a federal department . . . I like being my own boss." . . . In reaching that decision, the governor cleared a hurdle which we doubt receives much attention in thousands of cases where the opportunity to embark upon a political career in the federal service offers itself. . . . Of course there must be thousands of men and women who find real happiness in entering the federal srevice. . . Their willingness and their happiness in so doing contribute a great deal to good government. . . . But Gov. Crosby could not have paid a more eloquent tribute to Nebraska, nor voiced a deeper affection for his home land and its people than in choosing the words he did in announcing his plans, come the day he returns to civilian life. . . . In a way, those words explain America. . . . Nearly every square mile of a big country —so varied in resources, in physical appearance, in climate, and in many other particulars—has the intense, passionate devotion of those who call it "home."

★

A growing Washington—now with its suburban areas a city of more than a million people—is a very beautiful spot. . . . We have lavished untold millions upon architecturally beautiful buildings to make it so. . . . Each decade has seemed to add to its appeal. . . . There on the shining waters of the Potomac is the symbol of the strength and glory of a free nation—in one respect the most remarkable experiment, if a mature people can be called an "experiment," that civilization has known. . . . It is not merely the material things of life that add to the impressiveness of Washington. . . . The individual who lives there or who visits there does not need to possess any great imagination if, when he closes his eyes, there unfolds before them the good, sweet story of everlasting dreams.

★

That is one part of it, and a very appealing one. . . . And because Washington is so beautiful, hundreds of thousands of men and women eager to serve their government think of it not only in terms of affection but also beckoning opportunity. . . . There is another phase of it. . . . One need only to stand at a street corner near the acres and acres of great sprawling buildings which house the far-flung activities of federal agencies when the 5 o'clock hour arrives, to gaze upon the long lines of federal workers homeward bound. . . . Not all of the staffs of these agencies join that mad rush by any means. . . . Many remain at their desks until the gathering shades of evening are replaced by darkness. . . . There they work long hours. . . . It is inevitable, however, in the working of the federal machines that the individual is lost. . . . There is a foundation for Gov. Crosby's astute observation that he likes to be his own boss.

Undoubtedly there are times in summer's punishing heat or winter's chilling cold when Nebraskans may feel they are called upon to accept a lot of the unpleasantness other regions escape. . . . But here is variety in the change of the seasons, and here are the broad horizons which seem so unlimited. . . . Complicated as life has become in modern times, here is the last stronghold of relative simplicity in everyday habits and deeply rooted American virtues.

Manpower Shortage

The National Manpower Council has sounded a warning to the nation, telling it to take cognizance of a mounting shortage of trained scientific manpower.

In a recent report it had this to say:

"One of the country's foremost physicists a key figure in the development of the atomic bomb, once remarked that World War II had critically affected physical research in this country—it had almost ruined it. He explained that the atomic bomb was primarily a technological problem; the pure research had been completed before the bomb began. Because the country's top research brains had been diverted to solving what were in essence mechanical problems, the atomic bomb had actually slowed research in physics and not, as the public thought, accelerated it."

The problem of diverted talent in physics illustrates many of the manpower problems in this country. We know more about our future supply of uranium than we do about our future supply of physicists. It has taken us a long time to realize that despite all of the material shortages we face, our most critical resources will always be manpower.

Now $4,200 Maximum

Along with New Year's resolutions that won't last will come one this January 1 that will.

That is the date when social security is scheduled to apply its new provisions. They will mostly be noted for raising the tax from $3,600 a year maximum earnings to $4,200.

There will be no change for those earning $3,600 or less per year, but for those earning more than that the levies will move up with them until the $4,200 mark is reached. Those earning that much or more will cost the employer up to $1 a year more while the earner, himself, will experience parallel increases.

But it won't be all out the window. Benefits will be higher for those earning the higher pay.

It will be a happy New Year for dependents of heads of families who died after 1939 and Sept. 1, 1950 and who had been in the social security program at least a year and a half. After January 1 they will be considered to have been fully insured.

Rumor Wilson Will Leave Defense Post

WASHINGTON — It won't be announced for some time and may even be denied, but the resignation of Charles E. Wilson as secretary of defense is already at the White House and his successor has been picked.

The successor is quiet, headline-shunning Robert Anderson, the deputy secretary of defense.

No announcement will be made, however, until Wilson has a chance to appear before Congress and do battle for the new economized Defense Department budget. This is going to be a tough fight, and the secretary of defense has specified that he wants to lead it himself.

Wilson's political career, never a happy one, got off to a bad start when he told the Senate Armed Services Committee that "what's good for General Motors is good for the United States." It reached a crescendo of public protest when he made his ill-timed dog remark in Detroit last fall. That remark was credited by many with causing the defeat of Republican Sen. Homer Ferguson of Michigan.

Wilson was also responsible for the policy of concentrating defense production with a few big companies, a policy in which he, as a General Motors production wizard, thoroughly believed, but which led to more contracts for GM, and eventually to the policy's reversal.

TEXAS RANCHER

Bob Anderson, who will become the new secretary of defense, is a lifelong Texas Democrat, who bolted the party to work for Eisenhower in 1952. Manager of the second biggest ranch in the United States, the Waggoner estate at Vernon, Texas, with an acreage of 500,000 in Texas and 300,000 in New Mexico, Anderson got to know Eisenhower through oil-tycoon Seth Richardson.

The appointment of a relatively unknown cattle rancher as secretary of the Navy was considered a tribute to Eisenhower's friendship for Texans and the tremendous amount of Texas money poured into his campaign.

Immediately after taking over the Navy, however, Anderson showed that he intended to run it. Unlike so many civilian secretaries, he did not allow the admirals to run him. He gave them a pointed rebuff when he promoted Capt. George Hyman Rickover, the atomic specialist, to be an adimiral after the admirals had twice turned him down. And he also reprimanded a group of top officers for a strip-tease party at Key West, Fla., after a junior officer had been made the scapegoat.

When Roger Kyes, another General Motors man, got tired of Washington and resigned as deputy secretary of defense, Anderson was transferred from the Navy Department to take his place.

As secretary of defense, Anderson will not be in the headlines but he will run the Pentagon.

SMEAR BOOMERANGED

No man was more unfairly pilloried during the recent congressional election than Sen. Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming. But the other day in Miami he sat down to dinner with the man who helped pillory him.

O'Mahoney, who had served in the Senate for 18 years and who is a devout Catholic, was pictured as a "foreign agent" and as soft toward Communism largely because as a lawyer he had defended Prof. Owen Lattimore of Johns Hopkins when indicted for perjury. O'Mahoney was elected anyway.

Stopping at the Saxony hotel in Miami Beach during the Christmas holidays, Sen. O'Mahoney bumped into Sen. Everett Dirksen, Republican of Illinois, who had gone into Wyoming to speak against him. In the Christmas spirit, the two senators and their wives sat down to dinner.

"Joe," said Dirksen, "what I said about you would have been a lot worse had I followed the speeches handed me by the Republican National Committee. I censored them considerably."

O'Mahoney gave Dirksen a gentle sermon on the smear tactics used by the Republicans. He did not, however, tell Dirksen about some of the letters he wrote to supporters after the campaign.

To one such friend, David Scoll, the New York attorney, O'Mahoney wrote: "The charges made against me by my opponents boomeranged to such an extent that I was not able to use the money you so kindly sent me. I am therefore returning your check for $100."

MARQUIS CHILDS

Bonnet Worked For U.S.-French Accord

WASHINGTON — While France has been going through another of the political crises that have repeatedly shaken the Western alliance in recent years, Washington has been paying tribute in a series of farewell parties to the retiring French ambassador, Henri Bonnet. Both at private and public functions praise has been lavished on the ambassador and his wife for their efforts during 10 years in this capital to further Franco-American understanding and good will.

It will occur to many to wonder why, if Mr. Bonnet has worked so hard to promote understanding between the two countries, there should be these recurring strains that test relations to the breaking point. But there are limits on what an ambassador can do, and they are clearly shown in this instance.

He cannot, for example, make the policy of his country. He can only explain and clarify it. If the policy seems to threaten disaster or something close to it, then he can let his own government know just what the repercussions will be.

Above all, an ambassador can represent what is best in his ideals, its aspirations. This is what Ambassador Bonnet has done in his years in Washington and he has been ably seconded by Madame Bonnet. In fact, some criticism has been directed at Bonnet because in his zeal he may have given too hopeful a picture of France and the French. But he can scarcely be blamed for working to make the best possible case for his own land.

In the decade the Bonnets have been in Washington, the French have gone through one upheaval after another and the ambassador has explained to a succession of secretaries of state just what these crises have meant in relation to the deeper currents of French hopes and fears. Immediately after the war General Charles De Gaulle, with his almost-mystic conviction of France's destiny, went to Moscow and formed a close allegiance with the Soviet Union.

He also took the Communists into his government in that period in the wake of the wartime alliance when collaboration and coexistence seemed assured. A little later came the wave of Communist-directed strikes and mass demonstrations that threatened the entire French economy. France appeared to be defenseless before the menace of Communism both at home and abroad.

But the Marshall Plan was projected and the Communists were expelled from the government. Massive American aid began to reinvigorate French industry. There was renewed hope and the lines of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization were laid for an effective defense of Western Europe with American support.

There remained, however, a hard core of Communist support and a basic disaffection with high prices that made Communist votes. In the French assembly today the 95 votes of the Communist bloc—second largest in the chamber—constitute a Trojan horse with the reins held in Moscow. This has been the major obstacle over which one premier after another has fallen in the effort to get a majority vote for German rearmament.

It was France that first put forward the plan of European unity embodied in the European Defense Community treaty. When that treaty was threatened with rejection in the crisis in the assembly last August, Ambassador Bonnet was called to the state department and told how serious would be the consequences of a vote of disapproval. The then under secretary of state, Walter Bedell Smith, went so far as to say that he wondered if even Bonnet, himself, despite his years in Washington, realized what the American reaction would mean for France.

As a consequence, the ambassador wrote a strong dispatch to the government of Premier Pierre Mendes-France expressing his own deep concern over the possibility that the Assembly might not ratify the EDC treaty. This frank dispatch is said to have caused no little annoyance in Paris among those around the premier who were trying to steer a course that would avoid an open commitment to EDC and thereby enable Mendes-France to stay in power.

To readers of the social columns the Bonnets' 10 years in Washington would seem to have been one long party, with a procession of French visitors, military heroes, premiers, dress designers, presidents and ordinary citizens on one mission or another. When it goes on night after night, however, it becomes merely part of the job and an arduous and taxing part of it. The Bonnets have been going on a clockwork schedule of farewell parties and this is to be repeated in New York before they sail on Jan. 5 to retirement in Paris.

Bonnet will be succeeded by a career diplomat, Couve De Murville, who will come to Washington in mid-January. It will not be easy for him to follow a man who has won such a wide popular following and who has come to stand as a symbol of his country.

STAN DELAPLANE'S

POSTCARD

If the world is coming to an end, it is OK with me. I have seen the mushroom cloud. The Air Force tells me 30 per cent of the bombers will get through anyhow. And all the scientific blokes say there is no place to hide. So why worry?

Still I am in no hurry, you understand. And when that Michigan State doctor got the word about the world's end, I gave it some serious thought.

I am happy to report that D-Day has passed. And I am still here. But it was a near miss at that.

☆ ☆ ☆

Last week the state of Nevada shook like a dog coming out of water. Mountains went up and valleys went down. A lot of hot water came out of the ground.

The town of Eureka in Northern California, did a bump and grind. Showered bricks all over the place.

This is much too close. I do not see why the doc should zero in on me. I have spoken well of the medical profession and never, never said a word against flying saucers. Matter of fact, I have said some good words about flying saucers.

For quite a spell I was in touch with some people down in the Mojave desert. They were on a direct pipe to flying saucers. I gave it serious attention and good news space. If any flying saucer man comes to my house, I can show him the clips.

I will give him a cup of coffee and pat him on his little pointy head.

It pays to be friendly. At least until we see what he has got in his foxy pocket.

☆ ☆ ☆

I am not saying that the flying saucer people are responsible for these earthquakes. And I am not saying they are not. I am not saying anything until we get the facts, ma'am.

I simply say that we should start thinking about getting along with flying saucer people. In case they should drop in. To this end, I have prepared a social questionnaire.

You are reading the Sunday papers when there is a knock on the door. At the door is a little green man in a space suit with an antenna growing out of the top of his head.

"Is this Earth?" he says.

"Come in, come in," you say. "As to whether this is Earth, I will have to look in the yellow section of the telephone book. Been traveling long?"

"About a thousand light years," he says. "I've got something to deliver."

"Well, if it is a bill," you say, "you might just as well come back Tuesday. To tell you the truth, we Earthlings are mighty poor. Christmas has just passed and we have unpaid markers with all the better stores.

"Money is tight. And if I told you what my banker gets for the plaster on this house, you wouldn't believe me."

"That's funny," says the Space man. "We were informed that there were rich diggings on this planet. All of which could be shaken out of the local yokels. And speaking of shakes, possibly you felt the small sample."

"I did, indeed," you say. "And I regret that it was not harder. For the sooner you shake it down, the sooner I can put the nudge on the insurance company and get a little walk around money."

"According to our records," says the saucer gentleman, "somebody has got cash. Ever hear of a fellow named Midas?"

"Must have been back in the Coolidge administration," you say. "You ought to keep your figures up to date."

☆ ☆ ☆

I think this sort of line would discourage most space squatters.

You take the Air Force. Every time flying saucers come up, either the Air Force says there aren't any, or if there are they will shoot them down.

My idea is you talk them down. Poor mouth them. Tell them about singing commercials. Ask them if they want to take over the budget deficit.

Most of the problem with flying saucers is they have been sending us messages what they want. Let us send them some messages. Tell them what they will get when they get here. You have to use your head on these things. Your little pointed head with the antenna on top.

Four Seeds

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It seems at this season of the year much emphasis is placed on the birth of a Child who lived to be a man yet never died. To the average individual, such a record seems almost a myth, yet this same Jesus of Bethlehem was no different from mortal man physically and mentally other than that He was divine. Tied to an earthly and ailing body, we think we are tired and ill, but it is only our bodies. We are never tired, never ill, and above all, never old.

The Christ promised to meet the thief in Paradise, which proves a man is the same after his death as he was the day before, having the same desires and thoughts; the loss of his physical body alone prevents their gratification. Paradise is the soul's new home where during its sojourn, earthly cravings die down and eventually the soul becomes free.

Man's prisons are all self-made and there is no prison like the dark cell of a selfish heart. No man is there ever so degraded and abandoned who has not at one time loved something other than himself, though it may have been only a dog. Man alone sows the seeds that grow up to flower in the future life and they must be sown now.

Christ did not ask his hearers if they had regularly attended church, or if they followed certain doctrines. He asked them rather if they had fed the hungry, visited the sick, sinful and the poor. He said, "As ye did it unto the least of these my brethren, ye did it unto me." There are four important seeds to be sown here if we desire them to flower in heaven—love of friends, love of God, love of humanity, and love of truth and beauty. By one or all of these gateways, every mortal soul may enter therein. This is the true gospel of the only Man who came back from the tomb as convincing proof that there is no such thing as death, and that even a penitent thief may find a new life in Paradise.

Community Toy Shop

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: We appreciate the publicity given us by The Lincoln Star for the 1954 Christmas Toy Shop. Many individuals and organizations by their contributions to "Operation Santa Claus" and gifts to social agencies made individual gifts possible. On behalf of 996 boys and girls who received the gifts, we say thank you.

Family Service Association coordinated the Community Toy Shop project. Its success was also due to the hours of effort by many other organizations. The Community Toy Shop fulfilled a need in the city of Lincoln. It brought happiness to 996 of our community's children.

State Rests Case Against Thompson

OMAHA (AP)— A preliminary hearing for Kent Thompson, Valley, Neb., charged with motor vehicle homicide, Tuesday was continued to Jan. 10 after the state rested its case.

County Judge Robert R. Troyer granted the continuance to give attorneys time to prepare briefs on legal questions. Bryce Crawford Jr., defense attorney, questioned the sufficiency of the evidence.

Thompson was the driver of a car that was in collision with another driven by John Weed, Council Bluffs, on West Dodge Street Dec. 2. Weed was killed.

A vehicle homicide charge was filed by the county attorney after a coroner's jury found Thompson guilty of reckless driving.

Evidence presented by the state Tuesday was much the same as that produced at the inquest.

Nebraska Safety Patrolman Frank Campbell testified that on the basis of debris on the highway the Thompson car was in the wrong lane at the time of the collision.

A new witness was Edwin F. Chaney of Omaha, a truck driver who said he saw the accident. He said the truck was going "around 50" near the accident scene. The speed limit is 45.

New Oil Field Is Discovered In Cheyenne

POTTER, Neb. (AP)—Discovery of oil in commercial quantities was reported by Ryan, Davis & Cimarron Western Oil Co. 14 miles northeast of here in Cheyenne County, Neb.

The wildcat discovery is the No. 1 Graham.

Jack Davis of New York said the well had 13½ feet of permeable sand in the second bench of the "J" zone. A two-hour test of the interval from 5,215-28 feet, shut in 20 minutes, had gas to the surface in 20 minutes, and recovered 1,700 feet of oil, 260 feet of oil-cut mud and 60 feet of muddy, fresh water, Davis said.

Shut-in pressure was 1,135 pounds. Final flow pressure was 600 pounds.

Apparently opening up a new field in the county, they estimated it may run 500 barrels a day.

The Empire Drilling Co., reported finding oil saturated sand in tests on its Snyder No. 2 in Banner County.

Skelly Oil recovered 2,430 feet of oil with 960 feet of water on test of "D" sand at No. 1 Phillips in Kimball County. The tool was open an hour in the interval 5,989-94 feet. The well is slightly more than three miles east of the Long field, where production is found in both "D" and "J" sands.

MIRACLES STILL POSSIBLE

By SALLY ADAMS
Star Staff Writer

FREMONT, Neb. —Miracles not possible?

Persons who doubt they are may well change their minds after meeting Les Jensen of Fremont.

For 40 years, Les led an active normal life.

Then a rare malady struck suddenly leaving him totally blind and almost entirely paralyzed.

Yet a little more than three years later, Les is able to care for himself and even supplement the family income.

Les says that after spending seven months in the hospital he could do nothing but lie in bed all day, getting up to listen to records for about an hour.

He now has recovered almost all feeling in the upper half of his body, is able to skillfully maneuver his way about the house in a wheel chair and even lift himself in and out of bed by using an overhead bar.

Les is now becoming an expert at making rubber doormats. He has been working on the project for a little more than a year.

"I'm getting better all the time," he says. "It certainly has been a time filler. It gives me something to do."

Representatives from the State Services for the Blind helped him to design a worktable and special equipment for assembling the wire and rubber doormats. After the original plans were made, Les redesigned the worktable into a more compact unit. Local firms made all the equipment for him.

"It took a lot of figuring on everybody's part so that everything would come out even," he says. Now I can complete eight mats a day if everything goes according to Hoyle."

Les orders the rubber links and wire from the state office. He then sends the complete product back for sale and distribution.

Proud of Work

The cheerful, mat-maker would hate to be sentimental about his project, but he still has the first mat he made lying in front of the fireplace.

Les fills his "spare" time with other activities. He is learning to type so that he can carry on his own correspondence. In addition, he is now starting to learn Braille.

"Somehow it defeats me," he says, "but I'll whip it."

His proudest possession is a brand new, three-speed phonograph. It was a birthday present from his wife, Marie, whome he married following his release from the hospital.

He spends much of his time listening to "talking books," which include everything from the Bible to humorous novels.

"To me," he says, "it is just like sitting listening to a very good reader."

Missing Something

Les confides that persons who can see are really missing something by not having access to "talking books."

In spite of his seemingly miraculous recovery, Les is a humble man.

"I still have a long way to go," he says, "but with the help of God and my wonderful friends I have made progress and I have faith I will make more."

TV Antenna Life Saver

NEWMAN GROVE, Neb. (AP)—When flames engulfed their farm home 9½ miles west of here early Tuesday, members of the Albert Leach family found themselves trapped on the second floor.

Mr. and Mrs. Leach and their two teen-age children escaped by sliding down a television antenna mast, Robert Larson of the Newman Grove fire department said.

The house and all its contents were destroyed leaving the family with only their night clothes in the frigid winter weather.

Peterson Says:

Evacuation Only Chance For Survival

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Federal Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson says that target cities in any hydrogen-age war have no other choice than to plan evacuation.

"The only sure way to survive," he told the National Academy of Economics and Political Science Monday night, "is not to be there when the bomb goes off.

The academy, meeting here in conjunction with the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science, was told that despite the technological advances in air defense, no aircraft detection system is fool-proof.

"Some planes—perhaps many—will get through," Peterson said.

"But any evacuation is better than no evacuation. Target cities have no other choice than to plan it."

Peterson pointed out that recent drills in Milwaukee, Denver and other cities have shown it is possible to evacuate 80 per cent of large metropolitan areas in three to seven hours. Advance notice of any enemy attack could possibly be given within that period by early warning systems, he said.

Volunteer Fireman Battles Blazes 46 Years; Retires

Lincoln Star Special

DAVID CITY, Neb.—The second oldest volunteer fireman in David City, in years of service, has decided it's time to retire and hang up the firefighting togs.

He is Roy Welte, who has spent 46 years battling blazes here. The only firemen with longer service is his brother, Ted, who joined the department a year earlier.

Roy's retirement was approved at the recent meeting of the David City Volunteer Fire Dept. and he has gone on inactive status.

The combined years of service for the two brothers totals 93 years.

Roy Welte traces his firefighting activities back to the days of man-drawn hose carts and hook and ladder trucks. In those days, he recalls, fighting a fire was a matter of pushing and pulling the equipment to the scene and then hoping the standpipe would furnish pressure to put water on the blaze.

He also recalls the efforts of the firemen to secure a pumper truck in David City.

The city council was not sold on the merits of such equipment. The members felt the standpipe water pressure was sufficient to snuff out any fire. This idea was refuted and the pumper purchased after the Imperial Mill fire during which a water main was broken when the city pumps tried to keep up the pressure.

Welte has served as secretary of the Fire Department for more than 25 years.

In addition, he is currently a member of the city council and chairman of the board of trustees of St. Luke's Methodist Church. He is employed as a custodian at David City High School.

Three Americans Reported Ticketed For Early Release By Russians

Returned POWs Say Trio Is At Discharge Point

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Three Americans previously reported held by the Russians in forced labor camps are now at a Soviet camp used as a discharge center, newly returned German prisoners of war said Tuesday.

This suggested that the three—U.S. Army soldiers William T. Marchuk of Brackenridge, Pa.; William A. Verdine of Starks, La.; and John H. Noble, formerly of Detroit, Mich.—have been ticketed for early release.

The German ex-prisoners were among 55 persons freed by the Russians on Christmas eve. Arriving in Vienna Tuesday, they told newsmen the three Americans were all in good physical condition at Camp Potma, 280 miles east of Moscow.

Listed As AWOL

U.S. Army officials listed Marchuk as absent without leave Feb. 1, 1949. Verdine received the same listing two days later. Marchuk, 38, and Verdine, 28, had been on duty in West Germany.

Noble, about 30, was caught in Germany at the outbreak of World War II. After the fighting ended, he was arrested by the Reds in Dresden with his father, Charles Noble. His father was released by the East zone People's Police July 4, 1952, after being held seven years.

An American ex-prisoner, Pvt Homer H. Cox of Oklahoma City, Okla., who was released by the Russians in December 1953, named Marchuk and Verdine as among a group of Westerners being held in Russian camps on trumped-up charges that turned them into slave laborers.

Atlantic City Bank Official Admits Embezzling $48,000

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—A 45-year-old vice president of Atlantic City's biggest bank who tried to live beyond his means has admitted embezzling $48,000, FBI agent Harvey Foster said Tuesday night.

Foster said Robert F. Johnstone, who serves as treasurer and vestryman—member of the ruling body — of All Saints' Episcopal Church, had taken the money from the Boardwalk National Bank over a period of 10 years to use "for his personal enjoyment, entertainment, and to meet social obligations."

The tall, husky bank officer blinked back tears when he was arraigned here Tuesday night before U.S. Commissioner William E Stringer. The charge made tonight covered only an alleged misappropriation of $9,600 made the day before Christmas. Asst. U.S Atty. Charles H. Nugent said further charges would be made to include the rest of the $48,000.

False Entries

Foster presented a picture of a man who first tapped an account over which he had sole control in 1944, then resorted to false entries and manipulation of accounts, and all the while got deeper into trouble

The New Jersey FBI agent said Johnstone found four years ago that his accounts were in the red by $20,000, and tried to recoup the loss by heavy bets at the nearby Atlantic City Racetrack. He usually lost.

"Johnstone attributed his downfall to an effort to live beyond his means," Foster said.

The shortage was brought to light when a customer challenged the bank statement he received and told of a number of discrepancies. A quick audit pointed the finger at Johnstone, since he had been head bookkeeper, and he signed a statement admitting the embezzlement, according to authorities.

Mission To Free 'Spies' Set Thursday

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and four aids will leave New York Thursday in a U. S. Army plane for London on the first leg of his free-the-fliers mission to Red China.

An official announcement late Tuesday said Hammarskjold hoped to see British Foreign Secretary Sir Anthony Eden in London and leave New Year's Day for New Delhi, India, and talks with Prime Minister Nehru.

The secretary-general planned to go to Canton, China, Jan 3 or 4, in an Indian government plane, fly from there to Peiping, and remain for four or five days to discuss release of the 11 U. S. fliers jailed as spies and other U.N. personnel —numbering about 2,800—who are held by Red China.

The only American in Hammarskjold's party is William Ranallo, his personal aid. Ranallo is a Pittsburgh-born U. N. guard force member who was a corporal in President Roosevelt's Army guard detail during World War II.

Contracts Signed

LONDON (AP)—Peiping radio said several contracts have been signed between Communist Chinese export corporations and a group of Dutch businessmen.

The trade agreements were reached after 18 days of discussion, the broadcast said. Most of the Dutch group left Peiping Tuesday, but several are remaining behind for further discussions

Rental Village Scrapped; Sale Homes Instead

Plans for the 320-unit, 40-acre Homebuilders Village have been abandoned and the majority of the land will be devoted to the construction of 72 sale units.

The sale units will be built by Peterson Construction Co. and Strauss Brothers. These two firms purchased all the site except the area occupied by the 13 four-unit rental dwelling already under construction.

Ralph H Gillan legal counsel for Home Builders, Inc., said the group's original plan to build 320 apartments in 80 four-plexes was abandoned when the Federal Housing Authority changed its regulations

"As a result, we were unable to obtain financing for further construction," Gillan said.

(Congress tightered the FHA rules to lower the loan facility from 80 per cent to near 60, and to require owner occupancy of one of the four units, Homebuilders officials said.)

The Homebuilders Village project has been in progress since mid-1952 and was originally planned as a $3 million endeavor to provide low-cost rental units.

School Cost Compromise Is Indicated

By ARCH DONOVAN

The governor's lay leadership committee and a committee from the Nebraska State Education Association were unable to agree on a formula for equalizing educational costs in the state at a joint meeting Tuesday.

Many different formulas were considered based on the average daily attendance but there was strong support to include need of the districts based on mill levies now being collected.

Additional information was sought by many of those attending before reaching a final decision. It appeared that the differences were being resolved and that a compromise will be reached.

A committee consisting of Lester L. Chism, Charles Marshall, R. L. Fredstrom, Dr. John Rice, Wayne; Supt. Harry A. Burke, Omaha, and Don Kline, secretary of the NSES, was named to draft a bill for submission to a later meeting of the committee and the Legislature.

The Department of Public Instruction also agreed to provide figures on how the various formulas would affect towns of various sizes and in different sections of the state for presentation at the same time the proposed new legislation is considered.

It was freely admitted at the meeting that failure of school heads to reach an agreement on equalization of the financial burden of schools is largely responsible for no action being taken by the Legislature.

Gov. Robert Crosby urged the groups to make every effort to reach an agreement. He said that in his opinion the people of the state are now so well informed on the inequalities existing that they will support legislative action.

Additional Aid Planned For Dependents

An administrative procedure plan for supplementary aid to families receiving Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) has been adopted by the Lancaster County Board.

The plan, which can be changed if its details don't prove out, is designed to avoid duplication of administrative services between the Division of Public Welfare and County Relief Department.

Under the plan the Public Welfare director is to transmit to the Relief director reports on investigation of families' circumstances.

If maximum ADC allowances do not cover these families' needs, the Relief department can then assist the family with purchase orders for additional needs.

The report will include the ADC budget, recommended amount of supplementary aid, and recommended length of time for the aid to be extended.

Both departments have the right to veto the recommendations from the other. Where cases cannot be resolved by the departments, it may be taken to the County Board.

Welfare Director William McDermet and Relief Director Phyllis Samuelson have approved the plan.

Man Gets His 'Inside' Chance

A Lincoln man, who said "I can't live on the outside" when he was placed on probation, has gotten his chance to try life on the "inside."

Gene Edward Hoyt, 24, of 825 No. 21st, has been sentenced to one to two years in the State Reformatory after pleading guilty to violation of probation.

He had been placed on two years' probation following conviction in Lancaster District Court for second offense petit larceny last May when he admitted theft of $51 worth of batteries and a previous conviction for petit larceny in August, 1952.

At that time, Hoyt had expressed a willingness to go to prison saying "I can't live on the outside."

Three Americans Reported Ticketed For Early Release By Russians

Returned POWs Say Trio Is At Discharge Point

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Three Americans previously reported held by the Russians in forced labor camps are now at a Soviet camp used as a discharge center, newly returned German prisoners of war said Tuesday.

This suggested that the three—U.S. Army soldiers William T. Marchuk of Brackenridge, Pa.; William A. Verdine of Starks, La.; and John H. Noble, formerly of Detroit, Mich.—have been ticketed for early release.

The German ex-prisoners were among 55 persons freed by the Russians on Christmas eve. Arriving in Vienna Tuesday, they told newsmen the three Americans were all in good physical condition at Camp Potma, 280 miles east of Moscow.

Listed As AWOL

U.S. Army officials listed Marchuk as absent without leave Feb. 1, 1949. Verdine received the same listing two days later. Marchuk, 38, and Verdine, 28, had been on duty in West Germany.

Noble, about 30, was caught in Germany at the outbreak of World War II. After the fighting ended, he was arrested by the Reds in Dresden with his father, Charles Noble. His father was released by the East zone People's Police July 4, 1952, after being held seven years.

An American ex-prisoner, Pvt. Homer H. Cox of Oklahoma City, Okla., who was released by the Russians in December 1953, named Marchuk and Verdine as among a group of Westerners being held in Russian camps on trumped-up charges that turned them into slave laborers.

State Crops In 1954 Exceed Expectations

Government crop observers took a backward look at 1954 Tuesday and concluded that crops in Nebraska "exceeded expectations despite much unfavorable weather."

Although corn and wheat production fell off, oats production climbed. Hay crops including alfalfa were the largest since 1915. And grain sorghums and soybeans smashed all previous production records.

All told, Nebraska crops this year were worth around 657 million dollars, or about two million over last year, according to the annual review of the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

The total income to Nebraska farmers this year has been estimated at more than a billion dollars.

Corn this year staged the kind of a comeback "that is seldom seen," the crop reporting agency noted. The crop was threatened seriously by July drought and high temperatures but after splendid August rains produced an estimated 196 million bushels.

Snow Benefits

The annual crop summary was released coincident to the regular crop report which told of some benefits to winter wheat in counties along the Nebraska-Colorado border from recent snow.

Although moisture is needed throughout the state, the report said, winter wheat with few exceptions has developed splendid root and surface growth and is "in good condition to withstand the winter if the top soil receives more moisture."

Only 19 per cent of the counties report ample moisture on the surface, however, and about 40 per cent report enough subsoil moisture.

There have been a few reports of damage to wheat on light soils from winds, and reports of a few spots where top growth has not covered the ground.

Some wheat in the central area has been damaged slightly but generally the wheat in the eastern two-thirds of the state has withstood drought so far without material damage, the report said.

Wheat Production

As for winter wheat harvested this year, the agency's annual review noted that the production of 61,200,000 bushels was about 24 million below last year's crop and about 12 million bushels below the average. Abandonment was "quite heavy" with the result acreage for harvest, 3,060,000 was the smallest in nine years.

The average winter wheat yield this year of 20 bushels was 2.5 below last year but .6 above the average.

Oats made the largest crop since 1948. Production of 69,266,000 bushels compared with 43,124,000 in 1953 and a 10 - year average of 60,837,000 bushels. The average yield of 29 bushels per acre compared with 18.5 last year and 25.6 for a 10-year average.

The barley yield of 4,500,000 bushels was nearly one million higher than last year but slightly less than half the 10 - year average.

Rye production of 1,550,000 bushels was slightly above last year but nearly half of average.

Grain Sorghum

Grain sorghum production was estimated at 13,416,000 bushels this year, about 4½ times last year's output and about six times the average.

The record soybean yield was 4,180,000 bushels, about five times the average both in total production and area harvested.

Sugar beet output of 794,000 topped both the previous year and the average of potatoes, at 4,830,000 bushels, were down in total production.

The corn yield of 196 million bushels was about 8 million bushels under last year and 34 million below the average. The area harvested was 7 million acres or 647,000 below the 10 - year average. The average yield of 28 bushels was the same as last year.

Auto Dealers Lose Fight To Change Taxation Method

Nebraska automobile dealers Tuesday lost their court fight to have cars in dealers' stocks assessed for taxes on a different basis from individually-owned and licensed vehicles.

The state supreme court ruling grew out of a suit started in Box Butte County by the Boyd Motor Co., which turned in an assessment report totaling $9,495 for 1954. When the county board of equalization raised this figure to $14,390, in line with values set by the state board of equalization, the dealer sued.

The district court ruled in favor of the dealer, so Box Butte County appealed to the supreme court.

Present Method Stands

Deputy Attorney General Clarence A. H. Meyer said that as a result of Tuesday's decision, the present method of administering the tax law as regards dealers will continue.

The current procedure was established by the 1953 legislature. Under the act, the State Board of Equalization, in the middle of one year, sets up a table of valuations for motor vehicles for the next license year beginning in January. But dealers have contended that since the tax on their stocks would not be paid until late in the second year, their stocks should be assessed on their worth as of March 10 in the year in which the taxes are paid.

Sought Lower Values

Had the dealers' view prevailed, they would have been able to take advantage of any additional drop in the value of used cars from the values established the previous summer by the state board of equalization.

But the supreme court held that cars in dealers hands should be assessed on the same basis as cars owned and licensed by individuals.

In a Keith County case, the court ordered reinstatement of a jury verdict for $1,100 in the suit of Clarence Myers against the Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District for alleged damage to 12½ acres of wheat in 1948 and subsequent years as the result of seepage water from a canal. Myers asked for a new trial on grounds the jury verdict was too low.

When the district court granted a new trial, the Platte Valley District appealed to the supreme court.

Thirteen suits brought against Lancaster County by various Lincoln auto dealers are pending in Lancaster District Court.

Attorney Guy Chambers said that he understands a motion for a rehearing in the Supreme Court will be filled. If that motion is over-ruled making the decision final, the 13 Lancaster suits will be ended, he said.

60th And Calvert Homes Leave City

Six properties near 60th and Calvert have been detached from the city of Lincoln through Lancaster District Court action.

Judge Paul W. White made the ruling in favor of plaintiffs Floyd M. and Olive T. Sherman of 6205 Calvert; Milroy A. and Veona M. Harvey of 6045 Calvert, Franklin and June E. Beeman of 600 Calvert, and Herman Block of 6240 Calvert.

The property owners, petitioning for the detachment, alleged it derived no benefit from the city and had no unity of interest with the city but that its owners were required to bear part of the financial burden of the city.

The property, they alleged, was adjacent or near the city boundary, was, purely agricultural and was vacant and unimproved except for their residences.

The city had asked the petition be dismissed in denying the owners' allegations.

State Crops In 1954 Exceed Expectations

Government crop observers took a backward look at 1954 Tuesday and concluded that crops in Nebraska "exceeded expectations despite much unfavorable weather."

Although corn and wheat production fell off, oats production climbed. Hay crops including alfalfa were the largest since 1915. And grain sorghums and soybeans smashed all previous production records.

All told, Nebraska crops this year were worth around 657 million dollars, or about two million over last year, according to the annual review of the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

The total income to Nebraska farmers this year has been estimated at more than a billion dollars.

Corn this year staged the kind of a comeback "that is seldom seen," the crop reporting agency noted. The crop was threatened seriously by July drought and high temperatures but after splendid August rains produced an estimated 196 million bushels.

Snow Benefits

The annual crop summary was released coincident to the regular crop report which told of some benefits to winter wheat in counties along the Nebraska-Colorado border from recent snow.

Although moisture is needed throughout the state, the report said, winter wheat with few exceptions has developed splendid root and surface growth and is "in good condition to withstand the winter if the top soil receives more moisture."

Only 19 per cent of the counties report ample moisture on the surface, however, and about 40 per cent report enough subsoil moisture.

There have been a few reports of damage to wheat on light soils from winds, and reports of a few spots where top growth has not covered the ground.

Some wheat in the central area has been damaged slightly but generally the wheat in the eastern two-thirds of the state has withstood drought so far without material damage, the report said.

Wheat Production

As for winter wheat harvested this year, the agency's annual review noted that the production of 61,200,000 bushels was about 24 million below last year's crop and about 12 million bushels below the average. Abandonment was "quite heavy" with the result acreage for harvest, 3,060,000 was the smallest in nine years.

The average winter wheat yield this year of 20 bushels was 2.5 below last year but .6 above the average.

Oats made the largest crop since 1948. Production of 69,266,000 bushels compared with 43,124,000 in 1953 and a 10 - year average of 60,837,000 bushels. The average yield of 29 bushels per acre compared with 18.5 last year and 25.6 for a 10-year average.

The barley yield of 4,500,000 bushels was nearly one million higher than last year but slightly less than half the 10 - year average.

Rye production of 1,550,000 bushels was slightly above last year but nearly half of average.

Grain Sorghum

Grain sorghum production was estimated at 13,416,000 bushels this year, about 4½ times last year's output and about six times the average.

The record soybean yield was 4,180,000 bushels, about five times the average both in total production and area harvested.

Sugar beet output of 794,000 topped both the previous year and the average of potatoes, at 4,830,000 bushels, were down in total production.

The corn yield of 196 million bushels was about 8 million bushels under last year and 34 million below the average. The area harvested was 7 million acres or 647,000 below the 10 - year average. The average yield of 28 bushels was the same as last year.

Auto Dealers Lose Fight To Change Taxation Method

Nebraska automobile dealers Tuesday lost their court fight to have cars in dealers' stocks assessed for taxes on a different basis from individually-owned and licensed vehicles.

The state supreme court ruling grew out of a suit started in Box Butte County by the Boyd Motor Co., which turned in an assessment report totaling $9,495 for 1954. When the county board of equalization raised this figure to $14,390, in line with values set by the state board of equalization, the dealer sued.

The district court ruled in favor of the dealer, so Box Butte County appealed to the supreme court.

Present Method Stands

Deputy Attorney General Clarence A. H. Meyer said that as a result of Tuesday's decision, the present method of administering the tax law as regards dealers will continue.

The current procedure was established by the 1953 legislature.

EVERYTHING THAT'S NEWS

THIS is a morning of courtesies —for guests, for brides and brides-elect and for various members of the away-at-school set who are home for the holidays. There also is more news of Christmas visitors — and there is news of travelers — In fact, there is news of just about everything — including another holiday Ball which was on the Tuesday evening calendar—

* * *

THE Holiday Ball we have in mind is traditional at Northeast High School, and its hostesses this year were Miss Kay Turner, Miss Betty Ogburn, Miss Barbara Thrapp, Miss Karen Petersen, Miss Genia Hartmann, Miss Barbara Jorgensen, Miss Mary Larson, Miss Sandra Whalen, Miss Marilyn Vogel, Miss Marily Miller, Miss Angie Holbert, Miss Margaret Marshall, Miss Pat Everitt, and Miss Sharon Lewis.

* * *

TOOK a look at the week's calendar this morning and found that on Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. J. Knox Jones entertained at a family supper at their home in courtesy to Miss Carolyn Burt and her fiance, Eugene Krieger, whose marrieage will be solemnized on Thursday evening at Westminster Presbyterian Church.

And on Tuesday Miss Burt again was an honoree when Mrs. C. B. Felger and her daughter, Miss Jane Felger, were luncheon hostesses at Hotel Cornhusker. The soon-to-be bride was presented with a hostess gift.

* * *

FOLLOWING the wedding rehearsal this evening, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Tanner and Mrs. A. A. Tanner will honor their niece and granddaughter, Miss Burt—and her fiance when they are host and hostesses at a buffet supper at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Tanner. The guest list will include the members of the bridal party and the families.

* * *

SPEAKING of brides-elect and their courtesies — Hear that the list of prenuptial parties for Miss Bobbie Russell, who is to marry Lt. Richard Spangler on Feb. 12, is getting longer by the moment.

On Saturday, Jan. 8, for instance, Miss Russell will be the incentive for a luncheon at the University Club when Miss Sally Jo Speicher, Miss Susie Opitz and Miss Ann Kokjer are hostesses. Following the luncheon the bride-to-be will be presented with a kitchen shower.

* * *

AND on Sunday, Jan. 9, Mrs. O. M. Anderson and her daughter, Miss Agnes Anderson, will pay prenuptial courtesy to Miss Russell when they are hostesses at a brunch and linen shower at their home.

* * *

THE bride we mentioned away back in the beginning is Mrs. Owen Beach — the former Mary Belle Baldwin — who, with Lt. Beach is spending a few days in Lincoln between honeymoon trip and Lt. Beach's assignment in Enid, Okla.

On Thursday Mrs. Beach is to be an honoree when Mrs. Joseph Gordon (Barbara Hof) and Miss Nancy Hemphill are hostesses at a brunch and miscellaneous shower at the home of Mr. Gordon. Twelve guests have been invited for the party.

* * *

HAVE numerous travelers in our little red book this morning—Just learned, for instance, that Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Perry are spending two weeks in Texas and Mexico. After a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Mulliner in Harlingten, Tex., Mr. and Mrs. Perry will go on to Mexico for a tour of the interesting spots.

* * *

THERE are big plans for the traditional Christmas Ball to be held Thursday evening at the Lincoln Country Club—The hostesses and their escorts will dine at the LCC preceding the ball, as well a number of other young set groups—

Heard, for example, that Jim Walker is to be a dinner host at the club on Thursday evening, and that his guest list would include his sister's house guest, Miss Betty Waite of Salt Lake City; Miss Ann Truman, Miss Virginia Waddell of Beatrice; Bob Johnson and Lyall Luff.

* * *

AND another of the pre-ball parties is the informal affair for 25 couples for which Miss Renee Polsky will be hostess at her home.

* * *

AND someone told us that Edward Finigan and William Finigan left on Monday for Miami, Fla., where they will be among the spectators at the Orange Bowl game.

* * *

JUST heard that Mr. and Mrs. Harold Salisbury and their two daughters, Karen and Susan, are back home again after a Christmas week-end spent in Sidney, where they were the guests of Mrs. Salisbury's brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Max Cory.

* * *

GUESTS seem to be particularly popular this week judging from the number of courtesies that have been planned—

Heard that Miss Jeon Sturdevant of New York City, who is in town for the holidays, the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Sturdevant, was the guest of honor on Monday when Mrs. Edward Schwartzkopf was a luncheon hostess at her home—The party was more or less of a holiday get-together for Miss Sturdevant and Alpha Chi Omega sisters.

Miss Sturdevant is chief dietitian at the Franklin D. Roosevelt V. A. Hospital in Mt. Rose, N. Y.

* * *

SOMEONE told us that Miss Lucette Makepeace will be a Luncheon hostess at the University Club today when she entertains in courtesy to Miss Nancy Aitken, who is home from Wellesley for the holidays—and Miss Mary Lou Calhoun who is spending her holiday recess from Stanford University, Palo Alto, Calif., in Lincoln.

* * *

ON Friday, Miss Aitken and Miss Calhoun will share honors at a luncheon for which Miss Daisy DuTeau will be hostess when she entertains at the University Club.

* * *

BUT back to the guest list — and Lt. and Mrs. James Hoover who arrived from Houston, Tex., in time for Christmas, and who are spending the holiday season with Lt. Hoover's parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Hoover, and Mrs. Hoover's mother Mrs. Marion Dobbins Wright. Incidentally — Lt. and Mrs. Hoover and Lt. and Mrs. Thomas Larson (Jane Bergquist) reside in the same apartment house in Houston.

Double Ring Ceremony

MR. AND MRS. VERNON D. GRIESS

The marriage of Miss Lucille Annell Edstrom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Edstrom of Ceresco, and Vernon D. Griess, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar J. Griess of Lushton, was solemnized on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 19, at Grace Lutheran Church in Swedeburg. Lighted white candles and frosted greens formed the background for the double ring service, which was read by the Rev. Phil R. Ekbaid.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of traditional white satin. Designed with long, fitted sleeves, the molded bodice was accented by an off-shoulder yoke of nylon net, dotted with seed pearls, and beneath the snug, Elizabethan waist, the skirt flared into fullness and ended in a train. A pearl tiara held her veil of illusion, and she carried an arrangement of white carnations and red roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Charlene Fisher of Sutton, and the bridesmaids, Miss Joyce Swanson of Wahoo, and Miss Eunice Moseman, Oakland, wore alike frocks in the wild rose shade fashioned with snug bodices of velvet and full, net-over-taffeta skirts. Headbands of net and taffeta completed their ensembles, and they carried muffs of white satin trimmed with net and sprigs of holly. Miss Norene Edstrom, niece of the bride, was the flower girl and lighting the candles were Miss Genevieve Griess of Lushton, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Rogene Swanson, Wahoo. Jimmy Edstrom, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer.

Serving as best man was Maurice Salmen of Lushton, and the ushers were Roger Griess, Lushton and Ewald [illegible] of Sutton.

Following the ceremony, a reception for 175 was held in the parlors of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Griess will make their home on a farm near Grafton. A former student at Luther College, Wahoo, the bride has been employed at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture in Lincoln. Mr. Griess is a veteran of two years' service with the armed forces including overseas duty in Germany.

Farewell Courtesy

In farewell courtesy to Mr. and Mrs. W. F. West, who left Monday for a three months stay in San Gabriel, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. H. E. West were a dinner host and hostess on Sunday when they entertained members of the family at their home. The after dinner hours were spent informally.

Guests From Boulder

Spending the holiday season in Lincoln are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Munger and their young son, Michael, who are the house guests of Mr. Munger's parents, Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Munger.

The guest threesome arrived in time for the Christmas weekend, and plan to remain in Lincoln until the Wednesday after New Year's when they will return to their home in Boulder.

Holiday Visitors

It well could be that Lt. and Mrs. John D. Brady were expecting a "white Christmas" when they arrived from Mississippi, but to their great disappointment temperatures weren't too much different in Nebraska than they were in the deep south.

However, we also suspect that now that winter has arrived, Lt. and Mrs. Brady aren't too reluctant to return to Greenville, Miss., where the officer is stationed—and they plan to take off on Thursday.

We Hear That

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Booth and their children, Dennis and Dawn, of Hastings arrived in Lincoln last week to spend the Christmas week end as the guests of Mr. Booth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Booth. Mr. Booth returned home on Sunday, but Mrs. Booth and the children will remain for a longer visit.

★

Holiday guests in Lincoln are Mr. and Mrs. Philip C. Oxley of Casper, Wyo., who are visiting Mr. Oxley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Oxley. Also visiting at the Oxley home is Miss Joan Swanson of Detroit, Mich., who arrived by plane in time to spend Christmas with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Oxley. The guests will return to their homes at the end of the week.

The Brides' Book Says:

In pre-nuptial courtetsy to their son, Jerry Hamilton Custer, and his fiancee, Miss Patricia Ann McKay, whose marriage will be solemnized at 7:30 o'clock, Friday evening, Dec. 31, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Custer will entertain informally at their home on Thursday evening. The guests, including only the members of the families and bridal party, will go to the Custer home following the wedding rehearsal to be held at South minster Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Miss Mary Ann Spadt, a January bride-elect, this morning is announcing the members of the bridal party for her marriage to Walter L. Messick which will take place on Saturday, Jan. 1.

As her matron of honor, Miss Spadt has chosen Mrs. Jack Krause, and her bridesmaids will be Miss Shirley Gwinn and Mrs. Edward Maupins, sister of Mr. Messick. Lighting the candles for the ceremony, which will be solemnized at 3 o'clock at the First German Congregational Church, will be Miss Pat Curry and Miss Donna Curry of Alliance, and the flower girls will be Miss Vickie Lynn Hall and Miss Linda Jean Greenfield, all cousins of the bride-to-be.

Bud Racicky of Beaver Crossing will serve Mr. Messick as best man, and the ushers will be Larry Spadt, brother of the bride-elect, and George Arms. John Bruce Blume Jr., of Alliance will be ringbearer.

Honoring Miss Spadt last Monday evening, Mrs. Emma Lessenhop entertained a small group of guests at her home. Following dinner, the evening hours were spent informally and a one-gift shower was presented to the honoree.

As her maid of honor and only attendant Miss Mary Ann Passafiume has chosen Miss Rosalie DeVere. Serving as best man for the marriage of Miss Passafium and Donald James Christie, which will take place at 10 o'clock, Thursday morning, Dec. 30, at Sacred Heart Church, will be Donald Passafiume, brother of the bride-elect.

Miss Laura Mae Buck, who will become the bride of Ross W. Lane Jr., on Saturday, Jan. 8, will be honored next Tuesday evening when Mrs. Phillip Brusnahan and Mrs. Paul Dunlap will be co-hostesses at the home of Mrs. Dunlap. A personal shower will be presented to the bride-elect.

Included among recent courtesies for Miss Buck was the kitchen shower last Wednesday evening for which the bride-elect's sister, Mrs. John J. Young, was hostess at her home to 22 guests. Earlier this month, Mrs. Joe Beck and Mrs. Alvin Rockwell entertained at the home of Mrs. Beck in Nebraska City for the bride-to-be. A miscellaneous shower was presented to the honoree and the guest list of 30 included members of the bridal party.

As her matron of honor, Miss Buck has chosen her sister, Mrs. Young, and her maid of honor will be Mr. Lane's sister, Miss Marilyn Lane. Bridesmaids will be Miss Sheila Steinauer and Miss Verna Lou Waline, and Miss Buck's niece, Miss Jeanne Young, and Miss Terry Lynn Rockwell of Omaha, will be the flower girls.

Lawrence Buck, brother of the bride-to-be, will serve as best man for the 10 o'clock morning ceremony, which will be solemnized at Sacred Heart Church, and the ushers will include Donald Buck, also a brother of the bride-elect, Bill Boyles, Bill Glantz and Dick Bartels. Steve Reighard and Joey Young, nephew of Miss Buck, will be ringbearers.

Miss Darlene Jensen, whose marriage to Airman 3/c William E. Graham will take place on Sunday, Jan. 2, has chosen her sister, Mrs. Leonard Aherns, as her matron of honor. Miss LeAnn Walentine will be the bridesmaid and ringbearer will be Miss Lynn Jensen, also a sister of the bride-elect. Lighting the candles for the service, which will take place at St. Paul's Trinity Lutheran Church in Malcolm will be Miss Jean Shuttlesworth of York and Miss Joan Brauer of Malcolm.

Serving as best man will be Leonard Aherns, and the ushers will be Don Zielinski and John Stevens.

Entertains Family Group

The guest of her parents during the holiday season is Miss Patricia Ann Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Patterson, who is a student at Lindenwood College, St. Charles, Mo.

Completing the family group at the Patterson home for Christmas were their son, Ervin Kingsley Patterson, Mrs. Patterson, and their children, Allen and Yvonne, of Kansas City, Mo., and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Dale Saxton (Janice Patterson) and children, Anita Jan and Gregory Guy, of St. Joseph, Mo.

Also the houseguests of the Pattersons were Mr. Patterson's brother, Ralph Patterson and Mrs. Patterson of St. Joseph, Mo., and his sister, Mrs. Earl Nelch and Mr. Nelch of Maitland, Mo.

MRS. WILLIAM FRANKLIN GINN

Sarah Fulton Is Bride

With tall fir trees screening the paneled walls and the choir loft, the chancel of Westminster Presbyterian church was appointed with pyramids of poinsettias and frosted greens, and three large white candles of graduated height arranged against a white satin reredos, for the wedding of Miss Sarah Corliss Fulton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Fulton, and William Franklin Ginn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray F. Ginn of Omaha, which took place Tuesday evening, Dec. 28. Completing the decor were groupings of cathedral candles accented with frosted greenery. Cathedral candles, caught with white satin bows and ornamented with white chyrsanthemums framed in magnolia leaves, marked the processional aisle.

The Rev. Rex Knowles solemnized the 8 o'clock service, and the wedding music was played by Miss Josephine Waddell, organist.

The alike frocks of the attendants, including the matron of honor, Mrs. Thomas S. Bowman of Denver, Colo.; and the bridesmaids, Mrs. Donald Hall of Kansas City; Miss Edwina Johnson, also of Kansas City; Mrs. Donald Lentz of Beatrice, and Mrs. William Cartmell, were fashioned of Christmas red chiffon. The minutely tucked bodices were designed with shoulder fichus and narrowed to slender waists above the wide, waltz-length skirts. They carried modern star-shaped bouquets formed of feathered white chrysanthemums in petal design against a background of magnolia leaves. Miss Sara Patricia Frantz and Gene Frantz of Evanston, Ill., niece and nephew of the bride, lighted the candles, and another niece, Patricia Yetter, frocked in white lace and net, was the flower girl.

Seating the guests were Frederick M. Bekins, Richard A. Benson, John J. Hanighen, III, Robert D. Marcotte, Richard J. McFayden and Wilbur M. Mead, all of Omaha.

A satin gown in the redingote mode was chosen by the bride for her wedding. The long-sleeved bodice was molded smoothly into deep points at the waist and was styled with a stand-up collar of satin minutely tucked at the shoulders and patterned with an applique of jeweled lace. A voluminous satin redingote which extended into a long cathedral train, flared open at the front to reveal the skirt of Florentine lace over satin. The pearl-embroidered hat, which held to the head her triple-tiered veil, was designed of Brussels lace which had been used on the wedding gown of the bride's grandmother. She carried a star-shaped bouquet of white Amazon lilies and magnolia leaves.

Following the reception at the Lincoln Country Club, Mr. Ginn and his bride left for a honeymoon trip to Florida and Nassau. For traveling Mrs. Ginn wore a tweed suit in the copper tone, with matching tweed hat and brown accessories.

Mrs. Ginn is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and of Mortar Board, honor society for senior women. She also is a member of the Lincoln Junior League. Mr. Ginn attended Harvard University and received his B.A. degree at Northwestern University, Chicago. He also is a graduate of the University of Nebraska College of Law and is a member of Phi Kappa Sigma and Delta Theta Phi fraternities.

EVERYTHING THAT'S NEWS

THIS is a morning of courtesies—for guests, for brides and brides-elect and for various members of the away-at-school set who are home for the holidays. There also is more news of Christmas visitors — and there is news of travelers — In fact, there is news of just about everything — including another holiday Ball which was on the Tuesday evening calendar—

* * *

THE Holiday Ball we have in mind is traditional at Northeast High School, and its hostesses this year were Miss Kay Turner, Miss Betty Ogburn, Miss Barbara Thrapp, Miss Karen Petersen, Miss Genia Hartmann, Miss Barbara Jorgensen, Miss Mary Larson, Miss Sandra Whalen, Miss Marilyn Vogel, Miss Marily Miller, Miss Angie Holbert, Miss Margaret Marshall, Miss Pat Everitt, and Miss Sharon Lewis.

* * *

TOOK a look at the week's calendar this morning and found that on Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. J. Knox Jones entertained at a family supper at their home in courtesy to Miss Carolyn Burt and her fiance, Eugene Krieger, whose marrieage will be solemnized on Thursday evening at Westminster Presbyterian Church.

And on Tuesday Miss Burt again was an honoree when Mrs. C. B. Felger and her daughter, Miss Jane Felger, were luncheon hostesses at Hotel Cornhusker. The soon-to-be bride was presented with a hostess gift.

* * *

FOLLOWING the wedding hehearsal this evening, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Tanner and Mrs. A. A. Tanner will honor their niece and granddaughter, Miss Burt—and her fiance when they are host and hostesses at a buffet supper at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Tanner. The guest list will include the members of the bridal party and the families.

* * *

SPEAKING of brides-elect and their courtesies — Hear that the list of prenuptial parties for Miss Bobbie Russell, who is to marry Lt. Richard Spangler on Feb. 12, is getting longer by the moment.

On Saturday, Jan. 8, for instance, Miss Russell will be the incentive for a luncheon at the University Club when Miss Sally Jo Speicher, Miss Susie Opitz and Miss Ann Kokjer are hostesses. Following the luncheon the bride-to-be will be presented with a kitchen shower.

* * *

AND on Sunday, Jan. 9, Mrs. O. M. Anderson and her daughter, Miss Agnes Anderson, will pay prenuptial courtesy to Miss Russell when they are hostesses at a brunch and linen shower at their home.

* * *

THE bride we mentioned away back in the beginning is Mrs. Owen Beach — the former Mary Belle Baldwin — who, with Lt. Beach is spending a few days in Lincoln between honeymoon trip and Lt. Beach's assignment in Enid, Okla.

On Thursday Mrs. Beach is to be an honoree when Mrs. Joseph Gordon (Barbara Hof) and Miss Nancy Hemphill are hostesses at a brunch and miscellaneous shower at the home of Mr. Gordon. Twelve guests have been invited for the party.

* * *

HAVE numerous travelers in our little red book this morning—Just learned, for instance, that Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Perry are spending two weeks in Texas and Mexico. After a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Mulliner in Harlingten, Tex., Mr. and Mrs. Perry will go on to Mexico for a tour of the interesting spots.

* * *

THERE are big plans for the traditional Christmas Ball to be held Thursday evening at the Lincoln Country Club—The hostesses and their escorts will dine at the LCC preceding the ball, as well a number of other young set groups—

Heard, for example, that Jim Walker is to be a dinner host at the club on Thursday evening, and that his guest list would include his sister's house guest, Miss Betty Waite of Salt Lake City; Miss Ann Truman, Miss Virginia Waddell of Beatrice; Bob Johnson and Lyall Luff.

* * *

AND another of the pre-ball parties is the informal affair for 25 couples for which Miss Renee Polsky will be hostess at her home.

* * *

AND someone told us that Edward Finigan and William Finigan left on Monday for Miami, Fla., where they will be among the spectators at the Orange Bowl game.

* * *

JUST heard that Mr. and Mrs. Harold Salisbury and their two daughters, Karen and Susan, are back home again after a Christmas week-end spent in Sidney, where they were the guests of Mrs. Salisbury's brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Max Cory.

* * *

GUESTS seem to be particularly popular this week judging from the number of courtesies that have been planned—

Heard that Miss Jeon Sturdevant of New York City, who is in town for the holidays, the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Sturdevant, was the guest of honor on Monday when Mrs. Edward Schwartzkopf was a luncheon hostess at her home—The party was more or less of a holiday get-together for Miss Sturdevant and Alpha Chi Omega sisters.

Miss Sturdevant is chief dietitian at the Franklin D. Roosevelt V. A. Hospital in Mt. Rose, N. Y.

* * *

SOMEONE told us that Miss Lucette Makepeace will be a Luncheon hostess at the University Club today when she entertains in courtesy to Miss Nancy Aitken, who is home from Wellesley for the holidays—and Miss Mary Lou Calhoun who is spending her holiday recess from Stanford University, Palo Alto, Calif., in Lincoln.

* * *

ON Friday, Miss Aitken and Miss Calhoun will share honors at a luncheon for which Miss Daisy DuTeau will be hostess when she entertains at the University Club.

* * *

BUT back to the guest list — and Lt. and Mrs. James Hoover who arrived from Houston, Tex., in time for Christmas, and who are spending the holiday season with Lt. Hoover's parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Hoover, and Mrs. Hoover's mother Mrs. Marion Dobbins Wright. Incidentally — Lt. and Mrs. Hoover and Lt. and Mrs. Thomas Larson (Jane Bergquist) reside in the same apartment house in Houston.

Holiday Visitors

It well could be that Lt. and Mrs. John D. Brady were expecting a "white Christmas" when they arrived from Mississippi, but to their great disappointment temperatures weren't too much different in Nebraska than they were in the deep south.

However, we also suspect that now that winter has arrived, Lt. and Mrs. Brady aren't too reluctant to return to Greenville, Miss., where the officer is stationed—and they plan to take off on Thursday.

Guests From Boulder

Spending the holiday season in Lincoln are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Munger and their young son, Michael, who are the house guests of Mr. Munger's parents, Dr. and Mrs. A. D. Munger.

The guest threesome arrived in time for the Christmas week-end, and plan to remain in Lincoln until the Wednesday after New Year's when they will return to their home in Boulder.

Double Ring Ceremony

MR. AND MRS. VERNON D. GRIESS

The marriage of Miss Lucille Annell Edstrom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Edstrom of Ceresco, and Vernon D. Griess, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar J. Griess of Lushton, was solemnized on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 19, at Grace Lutheran Church in Swedeburg. Lighted white candles and frosted greens formed the background for the double ring service, which was read by the Rev. Phil R. Ekbald.

Jimmy Edstrom, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer.

Serving as best man was Maurice Salmen of Lushton, and the ushers were Roger Griess, Lushton and Ewald Ochsner of Sutton.

Following the ceremony, a reception for 175 was held in the parlors of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Griess will make their home on a farm near Grafton. A former student at Luther College, Wahoo, the bride has been employed at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture in Lincoln. Mr. Griess is a veteran of two years' service with the armed forces including overseas duty in Germany.

Farewell Courtesy

In farewell courtesy to Mr. and Mrs. W. F. West, who left Monday for a three months stay in San Gabriel, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. H. E. West were a dinner host and hostess on Sunday when they entertained members of the family at their home. The after dinner hours were spent informally.

The Brides' Book Says:

In pre-nuptial courtetsy to their son, Jerry Hamilton Custer, and his fiancee, Miss Patricia Ann McKay, whose marriage will be solemnized at 7:30 o'clock, Friday evening, Dec. 31, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Custer will entertain informally at their home on Thursday evening. The guests, including only the members of the families and bridal party, will go to the Custer home following the wedding rehearsal to be held at South minster Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Miss Mary Ann Spadt, a January bride-elect, this morning is announcing the members of the bridal party for her marriage to Walter L. Messick which will take place on Saturday, Jan. 1.

As her matron of honor, Miss Spadt has chosen Mrs. Jack Krause, and her bridesmaids will be Miss Shirley Gwinn and Mrs. Edward Maupins, sister of Mr. Messick. Lighting the candles for the ceremony, which will be solemnized at 3 o'clock at the First German Congregational Church, will be Miss Pat Curry and Miss Donna Curry of Alliance, and the flower girls will be Miss Vickie Lynn Hall and Miss Linda Jean Greenfield, all cousins of the bride-to-be.

Bud Racicky of Beaver Crossing will serve Mr. Messick as best man, and the ushers will be Larry Spadt, brother of the bride-elect, and George Arms. John Bruce Blume Jr., of Alliance will be ringbearer.

Honoring Miss Spadt last Monday evening, Mrs. Emma Lessenhop entertained a small group of guests at her home. Following dinner, the evening hours were spent informally and a one-gift shower was presented to the honoree.

As her maid of honor and only attendant Miss Mary Ann Passafiume has chosen Miss Rosalie DeVere. Serving as best man for the marriage of Miss Passafium and Donald James Christie, which will take place at 10 o'clock, Thursday morning, Dec. 30, at Sacred Heart Church, will be Donald Passafiume, brother of the bride-elect.

Miss Laura Mae Buck, who will become the bride of Ross W. Lane Jr., on Saturday, Jan. 8, will be honored next Tuesday evening when Mrs. Phillip Brusnahan and Mrs. Paul Dunlap will be co-hostesses at the home of Mrs. Dunlap. A personal shower will be presented to the bride-elect.

Included among recent courtesies for Miss Buck was the kitchen shower last Wednesday evening for which the bride-elect's sister, Mrs. John J. Young, was hostess at her home to 22 guests. Earlier this month, Mrs. Joe Beck and Mrs. Alvin Rockwell entertained at the home of Mrs. Beck in Nebraska City for the bride-to-be. A miscellaneous shower was presented to the honoree and the guest list of 30 included members of the bridal party.

As her matron of honor, Miss Buck has chosen her sister, Mrs. Young, and her maid of honor will be Mr. Lane's sister, Miss Marilyn Lane. Bridesmaids will be Miss Sheila Steinauer and Miss Verna Lou Waline, and Miss Buck's niece, Miss Jeanne Young, and Miss Terry Lynn Rockwell of Omaha, will be the flower girls.

Lawrence Buck, brother of the bride-to-be, will serve as best man for the 10 o'clock morning ceremony, which will be solemnized at Sacred Heart Church, and the ushers will include Donald Buck, also a brother of the bride-elect, Bill Boyles, Bill Glantz and Dick Bartels. Steve Reighard and Joey Young, nephew of Miss Buck, will be ringbearers.

Miss Darlene Jensen, whose marriage to Airman 3/c William E. Graham will take place on Sunday, Jan. 2, has chosen her sister, Mrs. Leonard Aherns, as her matron of honor. Miss LeAnn Walentine will be the bridesmaid and ringbearer will be Miss Lynn Jensen, also a sister of the bride-elect. Lighting the candles for the service, which will take place at St. Paul's Trinity Lutheran Church in Malcolm will be Miss Jean Shuttlesworth of York and Miss Joan Brauer of Malcolm.

Serving as best man will be Leonard Aherns, and the ushers will be Don Zielinski and John Stevens.

Entertains Family Group

The guest of her parents during the holiday season is Miss Patricia Ann Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Patterson, who is a student at Lindenwood College, St. Charles, Mo.

Completing the family group at the Patterson home for Christmas were their son, Ervin Kingsley Patterson, Mrs. Patterson, and their children, Allen and Yvonne, of Kansas City, Mo., and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Dale Saxton (Janice Patterson) and children, Anita Jan and Gregory Guy, of St. Joseph, Mo.

Also the houseguests of the Pattersons were Mr. Patterson's brother, Ralph Patterson and Mrs. Patterson of St. Joseph, Mo., and his sister, Mrs. Earl Nelch and Mr. Nelch of Maitland, Mo.

MRS. WILLIAM FRANKLIN GINN

Sarah Fulton Is Bride

With tall fir trees screening the paneled walls and the choir loft, the chancel of Westminster Presbyterian church was appointed with pyramids of poinsettias and frosted greens, and three large white candles of graduated height arranged against a white satin reredos, for the wedding of Miss Sarah Corliss Fulton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Fulton, and William Franklin Ginn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray F. Ginn of Omaha, which took place Tuesday evening, Dec. 28. Completing the decor were groupings of cathedral candles accented with frosted greenery. Cathedral candles, caught with white satin bows and ornamented with white chyrsanthemums framed in magnolia leaves, marked the processional aisle.

The Rev. Rex Knowles solemnized the 8 o'clock service, and the wedding music was played by Miss Josephine Waddell, organist.

The alike frocks of the attendants, including the matron of honor, Mrs. Thomas S. Bowman of Denver, Colo.; and the bridesmaids, Mrs. Donald Hall of Kansas City; Miss Edwina Johnson, also of Kansas City; Mrs. Donald Lentz of Beatrice, and Mrs. William Cartmell, were fashioned of Christmas red chiffon. The minutely tucked bodices were designed with shoulder fichus and narrowed to slender waists above the wide, waltz-length skirts. They carried modern star-shaped bouquets formed of feathered white chrysanthemums in petal design against a background of magnolia leaves. Miss Sara Patricia Frantz and Gene Frantz of Evanston, Ill., niece and nephew of the bride, lighted the candles, and another niece, Patricia Yetter, frocked in white lace and net, was the flower girl.

Seating the guests were Frederick M. Bekins, Richard A. Benson, John J. Hanighen, III, Robert D. Marcotte, Richard J. McFayden and Wilbur M. Mead, all of Omaha.

A satin gown in the redingote mode was chosen by the bride for her wedding. The long-sleeved bodice was molded smoothly into deep points at the waist and was styled with a stand-up collar of satin minutely tucked at the shoulders and patterned with an applique of jeweled lace. A voluminous satin redingote which extended into a long cathedral train, flared open at the front to reveal the skirt of Florentine lace over satin. The pearl-embroidered hat, which held to the head her triple-tiered veil, was designed of Brussels lace which had been used on the wedding gown of the bride's grandmother. She carried a star-shaped bouquet of white Amazon lilies and magnolia leaves.

Following the reception at the Lincoln Country Club, Mr. Ginn and his bride left for a honeymoon trip to Florida and Nassau. For traveling Mrs. Ginn wore a tweed suit in the copper tone, with matching tweed hat and brown accessories.

Mrs. Ginn is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and of Mortar Board, honor society for senior women. She also is a member of the Lincoln Junior League. Mr. Ginn attended Harvard University and received his B.A. degree at Northwestern University, Chicago. He also is a graduate of the University of Nebraska College of Law and is a member of Phi Kappa Sigma and Delta Theta Phi fraternities.

Church Weddings For Late December Brides

MRS. ROBERT DALE MELLINGER

MISS ALICE ANNE WOLFE

MRS. RICHARD F. KNUTH

MURPHY-MELLINGER

Miss Shirley Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Murphy, became the bride of Robert Dale Mellinger, son of Mrs. Regina Mellinger, at an early evening ceremony which took place Tuesday, Dec. 28. Lighted white candles and tall arrangements of white gladioli and chrysanthemums appointed the chancel of Christ Methodist Church for the service, which was read by the Rev. Lloyd Watt.

As the candles were lighted by Miss Myrla Peterson of Silver Creek and Miss Linda Mellinger, sister of the bridegroom, Helmut Sienknecht sang "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer." He was accompanied by Mrs. Lloyd Watt, organist, who also played the wedding music.

Mrs. Richard Shoemaker, the matron of honor, appeared in a coral-toned frock of lace and net over taffeta. An abbreviated jacket of lace covered the strapless bodice, and the tulle skirt was shirred into fullness. She carried a bouquet of blue-tinted carnations. Wearing identical ensembles in the blue-mist shade and carrying coral-toned carnations were the bridesmaids, Miss Phyliss Imlay and Miss Delores Theis, and the bridesmatrons, Mrs. Walter Wesierski of Elizabethtown, Ky., and Mrs. Ronald Cotton.

The bride's gown of white Chantilly-type lace and tulle was designed in the colonial mode. A mandarin collar traced with sequins accented the long-sleeved bodice of lace, and the fully-gathered skirt of tulle extended into a train. Her illusion veil was held by a tiara of lace dotted with sequins, and she carried a white Bible ornamented with a single white orchid.

Serving as best man was Ronald Mellinger, and the ushers were Walter Wesierski of Elizabethtown, Ky., Stan Ebner, Mack Hunt and Robert Admire.

A reception for 200 guests was held in the church parlors.

Mr. and Mrs. Mellinger will reside in Lincoln where the bridegroom is attending the University of Nebraska.

WOLFE-MALONE

MISS ALICE ANNE WOLFE who will become the bride of Robert Dalton Malone on Wednesday morning at Blessed Sacrament Church.

Crimson poinsettias will appoint the altar of Blessed Sacrament Church Wednesday morning, Dec. 29, for the marriage of Miss Alice Anne Wolfe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Wolfe of Denver, formerly of Lincoln, and Robert Dalton Malone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Malone, which will be solemnized at 10 o'clock by the Rev. A. J. Kraemer.

Miss Mary Louise McManus, organist, will play the wedding music and also will accompany Miss Stephanie Sander, the vocal soloist, preceding the service.

As her sister's maid of honor, Miss Marita Wolfe of Denver, and the bridesmaids, Miss Mildred Ecker and Miss Mary Ellen Foster, will wear alike frocks of mint green taffeta fashioned with cap-sleeved basques and full, ankle-length skirts snugly sashed with velvet. Their caps are of matching velvet and they will carry green velvet muffs ornamented with nosegays of crimson roses.

Richard Rice will serve Mr. Malone as best man, and seating the guests will be Edward Foster of Grand Island, cousin of the bridegroom, and Henry Luers Jr.

Miss Wolfe has chosen for her wedding a gown of white tulle over crisp taffeta. The small, pointed collar is caught at the throatline by a tiny bow of tulle, and the tucked bodice is completed by brief, puffed sleeves edged with a frill of the tulle. Beneath the fitted midriff, the skirt of unpressed pleats flares into fullness and ends in a train. Her veil of illusion will be held by a cap of tulle traced with pearls and iridescent paillettes, and she will carry a white prayer book marked with a single white orchid and showered with satin ribbons knotted with red rosebuds.

Following the reception held in the parish hall, the couple will leave for El Paso, Tex., where Mr. Malone is stationed with the Army at Fort Bliss. A former student at Creighton University, Omaha, and the University of Nebraska, Mr. Malone is a member of Newman Club.

IMIG-KNUTH

At a candlelight service solemnized Tuesday evening, Dec. 28, Miss Nancy Imig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Imig of Seward, became the bride of Richard F. Knuth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Knuth of Utica. Christmas greens and poinsettias appointed the chancel of the Evangelical and Reformed Church at Goehner for the ceremony, which was read by the Rev. Louis Marx of Talmage, uncle of the bride, assisted by the Rev. A. L. Brueggemann.

Miss Janet Imig of Seward was her sister's maid of honor and wore a ballerina-length frock of holly green crystallette. A sunburst of tiny pleats accented the cap-sleeved bodice, and the skirt was shirred into fullness. She carried a muff of green crystallette clustered with scarlet poinsettia blossoms. Costumed identically were Mrs. Richard Hoover of Lincoln, the matron of honor, and Miss Betty Westerhoff of Seward, bridesmaid.

Donald Knuth of Utica served his brother as best man, and the ushers were Roger Imig, Seward, and Richard Hoover, Lincoln.

The bride appeared in a gown of ivory silk tulle over peau de soie. Floral appliques of lace touched with rhinestones bordered the low, rounded neckline of the basque, and the brief sleeves were completed by long mitts of tulle. The applique motif was repeated on the draped peplum of tulle, edged by a pleated flounce, which emphasized the width of the tulle skirt, and her veil of French illusion was held by a pillbox of satin and lace dotted with pearls. She carried a white Bible marked with a white orchid.

New Year's resolution that pays off in thrills...

"I'm going to drive that 1955 BUICK!"

WE'VE seen some high peaks of interest in our new cars over the years—but never anything like this.

Since the day we unveiled these glamorous new Buicks, people have been coming in—not only to see and study and sit in these great cars—but, very definitely, to drive them.

They want, it seems, a firsthand taste of the thrills that Buick engineers have conjured up for this new year.

And who can blame them?

For the word's around that Buick has what no other car in the world has—a new kind of performance from a new kind of transmission.

It's called Variable Pitch Dynaflow Drive.* It uses the principle of the modern airplane's variable pitch propeller. And it does in oil what that aeronautical marvel does in air.

At one pitch of the blades inside the Dynaflow unit, you get more fuel efficiency in normal cruising and driving—which means better gas mileage, pure and simple.

But push the gas pedal beyond the full throttle position and you switch the pitch. Instantly, you get electrifying response—a sudden safety-surge of accelerating power to get you quickly out of a tight spot—and with the absolute smoothness that is constant in Dynaflow Drive.

Maybe you, too, have made a mental resolution to drive a '55 Buick — but why wait?

We're ready, willing and eager to let you try one—feel the spectacular new power that gives life to this bounteous beauty—and see for yourself that here is a performance thrill too exciting to miss. Drop in on us this week, won't you?

*Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

John Wable Sentenced To Die For Slaying Of Truck Driver

...Insisted 'Parks' Was Killer

JOHN WABLE

Westmoreland County Judge Edward G. Bauer pronounced sentence. Wable's attorneys have 45 days in which to appeal the sentence and conviction.

A jury found the 25-year-old Ohiopyle, Pa., man guilty of first degree murder last March in the pistol slaying of Harry F. Pitts, 39, Bowling Green, Va. Pitts' body was found in his parked truck July 28, 1953.

Wable also is charged with killing Lester B. Woodward, 39, of Duncannon, Pa., and wounding John K. Sheppard, 34, West Alexander, Pa., as they slept in their parked trucks on or near the turnpike.

Legal Fight Lost

Date for carrying out the sentence will be fixed by the governor but not until all legal action has been disposed of. Atty. A. C. Scales, chief counsel for Wable, said he will appeal to the State Supreme Court.

Only last week Scales lost a legal fight for a new trial. He claimed the court erred in permitting evidence from the other shootings to be introduced. The appeal caused the long delay in sentencing Wable.

Scales said he would base his appeal to the Supreme Court on the same grounds.

Before Judge Bauer pronounced sentence, Wable walked to the center of the courtroom and in a clear voice said:

"I am not guilty of the crime with which I have been charged. I have been unjustly convicted."

No Test

Wable, a former industrial plant worker, said he had asked Dist. Atty. L. Alexander Sculco for a lie detector test but never got one. He added:

"Mr. Sculco asked me if I would take a lie detector test . . . and I told him I would, and he said he would see I got it. And they would not give it to me."

Wable, throughout the trial, insisted he knew about the killings but said a man named Jim Parks fired the shots. State police testified they checked the story and came to the conclusion Jim Parks did not exist.

Ex-Lincoln Man, Ralph Schuff, Dies

Funeral services for Ralph Schuff, 65, of LaGrange, Ill., a former Lincoln resident, were held at Burlington, Ia. Mr. Schuff died at Chicago.

He was a general storekeeper of the Burlington Railroad in LaGrange. Mr. Schuff was employed by the Burlington while in Lincoln and Denver.

Mr. and Mrs. Schuff were active at First Plymouth Congregational Church in Lincoln. He was a veteran of World War I and a member of the Masonic Lodge.

He is survived by his wife, Hildegard.

Yates Named To City-County Group

Burnham Yates, president of the First National Bank, has been named as a member of the City-County Building Committee.

Yates

The appointment was made by the Lancaster County Board to fill a membership vacancy following the death of Dr. John P. Senning, who had served as committee chairman since 1948.

C. C. Kimball, a committee member, has succeeded Senning to the chairmanship.

The committee is expected to report to the City Council and County Board by Feb. 1 as to the need of a joint building, and if recommended, how it should be financed.

Weather Ahead

Extended forecast for Nebraska:

Temperatures during the next five days through Sunday will average from near normal in the north to slightly below in the southern portion of the state, with warmer Wednesday, turning colder Thursday, and warmer again Sunday. Normal highs range from 30 in the northeast to the upper 30s in the northwest, and normal lows from 10 above in the northeast to 15 in the southeast. Precipitation is expected to average about .25 of an inch, occurring as snow about Thursday.

MILL VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — A left-handed teapot was made for a customer by two ceramists. They merely placed the handle at a right angle opposite the teapot's spout.

Dr. Pound Is President Of National Unit

NEW YORK—Dr. Louise Pound, 82, professor emeritus at the University of Nebraska, has been selected as the Modern Language Association's first woman president.

Dr. Pound

The Associated Press reported that she was named at a meeting here held in conjunction with National Council of Teachers of English.

A member of numerous education and literary organizations. Dr. Pound has been prominent as an educator, sportswoman and author. She was head of the University English department for many years.

Speaking to the group during their meeting here, Dr. David D. Henry, executive vice-chancellor of New York University, predicted that educational television will reach an audience of 40 million before the end of the new year.

He listed Lincoln, Neb., as one of the areas in which educational TV is expanding. The University of Nebraska's educational TV program was inaugurated Nov. 1.

State To Boost Permit Fees For Highway Moving

Permits for moving vehicles over state highways that are in violation of laws on weight and size will be increased to $5 in new regulations adopted by the Department of Roads and Irrigation, John McMeekin, maintenance engineer announced Tuesday.

Hearing on the proposed changes was held Oct. 20.

It was explained that the increased charge is necessitated by the vast amount of clerical and administrative work involved in issuing the permits.

2 U.S. Fliers Killed

LINZ, Australia (INS)—U.S. Air Force Capt. John J. Hayes of Detroit was killed near Linz Tuesday when his small training plane crashed into a tree and caught fire. Another unidentified airman riding with him also was killed.

Hayes was popular in the Linz region for various rescue operations and mercy missions.

Nebraska 1954 Polio Count Rises To 713

Nebraska's 1954 polio toll rose to 713 as compared with 229 at this time a year ago with reports of two cases in Valley County and one in Holt County last week, the State Health Department announced Tuesday.

Business Too Good

GAITHERSBURG, Md. (INS)—Business got so heavy for a Maryland state police radar team in Gaithersburg that the officers had to discontinue their operation.

A check set up to nab traffic violators netted 72 motorists in a three-hour period, with 26 being arrested and 46 receiving warnings.

The resultant traffic jam on the highway leading to nearby Washington was so bad that the five-man police team finally gave up. Police estimated 15 officers would have been needed for the task.

Free Plugs

HAW RIVER, N.C. (AP)—Tobacco-chewing Kerr Scott, dairy farmer and former governor elected U.S. Senator, figures that during his primary and general election campaigns he gave away 3,700 plugs of tobacco to prospective supporters.

Quarterly Audit Fee Asked By City

The City Council has asked for a quotation from Raymond H. Walker, certified public accountant, on the fee for a quarterly audit of the Water and Light Department.

The Council met informally with Walker to go over details of the annual audit just submitted for the fiscal year ended Aug. 31, 1954. In that audit, Walker had recommended the quarterly audit practice, stating that it would make the job much simpler and less costly.

The Council failed to approve Walker's recommendation that certain Department trucks be covered by fire insurance. Some city vehicles are covered by fire insurance but only because they are stored together at night under one roof.

NO HINT FIELDS WILL RETURN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department reported Tuesday it has no official word from Communist Hungary that Noel and Herta Field intend to remain in Hungary rather than return to the United States.

"All we know is what we hear on the radio and read in the Hungarian newspapers," Press Officer Henry Suydam told a news conference.

The official Hungarian News Agency reported in Budapest Friday that Field and his wife asked for and been granted in Hungary.

There was no disposition here question the accuracy of the port. While the State Depa has had no official word, all able evidence indicates the F do intend to stay in Hungary.

Hungary announced Nov. 16 had freed the Fields from where they had been held on charges since 1945. Field is a mer State Department official.

John Wable Sentenced To Die For Slaying Of Truck Driver

JOHN WABLE

GREENSBURG, Pa. (AP)—John Wesley Wable, pleading that a lie detector test would save him, was sentenced Tuesday to die in the electric chair for the Pennsylvania Turnpike slaying of a sleeping truck driver.

Westmoreland County Judge Edward G. Bauer pronounced sentence. Wable's attorneys have 45 days in which to appeal the sentence and conviction.

A jury found the 25-year-old Ohiopyle, Pa., man guilty of first degree murder last March in the pistol slaying of Harry F. Pitts, 39, Bowling Green, Va. Pitts' body was found in his parked truck July 28, 1953.

Wable also is charged with killing Lester B. Woodward, 39, of Duncannon, Pa., and wounding John K. Sheppard, 34, West Alexander, Pa., as they slept in their parked trucks on or near the turnpike.

Legal Fight Lost

Date for carrying out the sentence will be fixed by the governor but not until all legal action has been disposed of. Atty. A. C. Scales, chief counsel for Wable, said he will appeal to the State Supreme Court.

Only last week Scales lost a legal fight for a new trial. He claimed the court erred in permitting evidence from the other shootings to be introduced. The appeal caused the long delay in sentencing Wable.

Scales said he would base his appeal to the Supreme Court on the same grounds.

Before Judge Bauer pronounced sentence, Wable walked to the center of the courtroom and in a clear voice said:

"I am not guilty of the crime with which I have been charged. I have been unjustly convicted."

No Test

Wable, a former industrial plant worker, said he had asked Dist. Atty. L. Alexander Sculco for a lie detector test but never got one. He added:

"Mr. Sculco asked me if I would take a lie detector test . . . and I told him I would, and he said he would see I got it. And they would not give it to me."

Wable, throughout the trial, insisted he knew about the killings but said a man named Jim Parks fired the shots. State police testified they checked the story and came to the conclusion Jim Parks did not exist.

Ex-Lincoln Man, Ralph Schuff, Dies

Funeral services for Ralph Schuff, 65, of LaGrange, Ill., a former Lincoln resident, were held at Burlington, Ia. Mr. Schuff died at Chicago.

He was a general storekeeper of the Burlington Railroad in LaGrange. Mr. Schuff was employed by the Burlington while in Lincoln and Denver.

Mr. and Mrs. Schuff were active at First Plymouth Congregational Church in Lincoln. He was a veteran of World War I and a member of the Masonic Lodge.

He is survived by his wife, Hildegard.

Yates Named To City-County Group

Burnham Yates, president of the First National Bank, has been named as a member of the City-County Building Committee.

Yates

The appointment was made by the Lancaster County Board to fill a membership vacancy following the death of Dr. John P. Senning, who had served as committee chairman since 1948.

C. C. Kimball, a committee member, has succeeded Senning to the chairmanship.

The committee is expected to report to the City Council and County Board by Feb. 1 as to the need of a joint building, and if recommended, how it should be financed.

Weather Ahead

Extended forecast for Nebraska:

Temperatures during the next five days through Sunday will average from near normal in the north to slightly below in the southern portion of the state, with warmer Wednesday, turning colder Thursday, and warmer again Sunday. Normal highs range from 30 in the northeast to the upper 30s in the northwest, and normal lows from 10 above in the northeast to 15 in the southeast. Precipitation is expected to average about .25 of an inch, occurring as snow about Thursday.

MILL VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — A left-handed teapot was made for a customer by two ceramists. They merely placed the handle at a right angle opposite the teapot's spout.

Dr. Pound Is President Of National Unit

NEW YORK—Dr. Louise Pound, 82, professor emeritus at the University of Nebraska, has been selected as the Modern Language Association's first woman president.

Dr. Pound

The Associated Press reported that she was named at a meeting here held in conjunction with National Council of Teachers of English.

A member of numerous education and literary organizations. Dr. Pound has been prominent as an educator, sportswoman and author. She was head of the University English department for many years.

Speaking to the group during their meeting here, Dr. David D. Henry, executive vice-chancellor of New York University, predicted that educational television will reach an audience of 40 million before the end of the new year.

He listed Lincoln, Neb., as one of the areas in which educational TV is expanding. The University of Nebraska's educational TV program was inaugurated Nov. 1.

State To Boost Permit Fees For Highway Moving

Permits for moving vehicles over state highways that are in violation of laws on weight and size will be increased to $5 in new regulations adopted by the Department of Roads and Irrigation, John McMeekin, maintenance engineer announced Tuesday.

Hearing on the proposed changes was held Oct. 20.

It was explained that the increased charge is necessitated by the vast amount of clerical and administrative work involved in issuing the permits.

2 U.S. Fliers Killed

LINZ, Australia (INS)—U.S. Air Force Capt. John J. Hayes of Detroit was killed near Linz Tuesday when his small training plane crashed into a tree and caught fire. Another unidentified airman riding with him also was killed.

Hayes was popular in the Linz region for various rescue operations and mercy missions.

Nebraska 1954 Polio Count Rises To 713

Nebraska's 1954 polio toll rose to 713 as compared with 229 at this time a year ago with reports of two cases in Valley County and one in Holt County last week, the State Health Department announced Tuesday.

Business Too Good

GAITHERSBURG, Md. (INS)—Business got so heavy for a Maryland state police radar team in Gaithersburg that the officers had to discontinue their operation.

A check set up to nab traffic violators netted 72 motorists in a three-hour period, with 26 being arrested and 46 receiving warnings.

The resultant traffic jam on the highway leading to nearby Washington was so bad that the five-man police team finally gave up. Police estimated 15 officers would have been needed for the task.

Free Plugs

HAW RIVER, N.C. (AP)—Tobacco-chewing Kerr Scott, dairy farmer and former governor elected U.S. Senator, figures that during his primary and general election campaigns he gave away 3,700 plugs of tobacco to prospective supporters.

Quarterly Audit Fee Asked By City

The City Council has asked for a quotation from Raymond H. Walker, certified public accountant, on the fee for a quarterly audit of the Water and Light Department.

The Council met informally with Walker to go over details of the annual audit just submitted for the fiscal year ended Aug. 31, 1954. In that audit, Walker had recommended the quarterly audit practice, stating that it would make the job much simpler and less costly.

The Council failed to approve Walker's recommendation that certain Department trucks be covered by fire insurance. Some city vehicles are covered by fire insurance but only because they are stored together at night under one roof.

NO HINT FIELDS WILL RETURN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department reported Tuesday it has no official word from Communist Hungary that Noel and Herta Field intend to remain in Hungary rather than return to the United States.

"All we know is what we hear on the radio and read in the Hungarian newspapers," Press Officer Henry Suydam told a news conference.

The official Hungarian News Agency reported in Budapest Friday that Field and his wife had asked for and been granted asylum in Hungary.

There was no disposition here to question the accuracy of the report. While the State Department has had no official word, all available evidence indicates the Fields do intend to stay in Hungary.

Hungary announced Nov. 16 it had freed the Fields from prison where they had been held on spy charges since 1945. Field is a former State Department official.

Huskers Look Better In Last Scrimmage

Kansas State, Cyclones Move Up In Big 7 Meet

Kansas Ousted In Startling Upset; Huskers Tangle With Colorado Today

By SKIPPER PATRICK

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Kansas State's Wildcats rolled to an easy 88-75 victory over the guest California Bears to advance to the semi-finals of the Big Seven Conference's basketball tournament Tuesday night.

In Tuesday night's first game, played before a full house of 10,500 Iowa State upset defending tourney champion Kansas 82-81 for their first victory over the Jayhawks since 1949.

In the semifinals tonight Missouri and Oklahoma play at 8 o'clock (CST) and Iowa State meets Kansas State at 9:30. There will be afternoon consolation bracket games between Colorado and Nebraska and Kansas and California

California, which came to the tournament with a 7-1 record, appeared to be on its way midway of the first half and had a 29-24 lead before Kansas State's six foot 11 inch Jerry Jung came in to hit four successive field goals for the Wildcats.

Kansas State edged into a 45-41 halftime lead then rolled to a 17-point advantage midway of the last half and coasted in. Bob McKeen, California's 220-pound center, led the scoring with 32 points. Ten of the 11 K-State players scored with guard Kent Poore hitting 17.

Kansas State had a fine 40.9 shooting percentage, 27 of 66. California hit 25 of 71 for 35.2.

Chuck Duncan, 6 foot 5 senior center hit for 34 points, 24 of them in the first half as Iowa State handed Kansas, a 10-point favorite, its first loss in five games this season.

Duncan's total was a new school record for an Iowa State player.

Down 7 points, 43-50, at the half, Iowa State went ahead on Duncan's whirl shot, 76-75 with four and a half minutes to go. Duncan hit another one to make it 78-75 and the Cyclones were ahead to stay as they effectively used a freeze.

Sophomore Forward Gene Ellston scored 18 points for Kansas' best individual effort. Guard Dallas Dobbs, only holdover starter from Kansas' tournament winner and Big Seven Conference co-champion last season, helped keep the Jayhawks in the game with 16 points

Navy Displays Wares, Ole Miss Stock Rises

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Southern football experts got another look at the Navy footballers Tuesday and immediately the odds favoring the Midshipmen in the Sugar Bowl game Saturday with Mississippi took a tumble.

The sailors, who defeated 7 rivals while losing to 2 during the season, had been 3 point favorites because of their speed until the Navy workouts here. Now they are no better than 1 point with every indication the odds may change further.

"They are not near as fast as we thought," said sideliners as Navy went through a mild scrimmage at the Tulane University practice field.

Rebels Miss Pass Practice

Meanwhile, Mississippi for a second straight day was denied the heavy drill Coach Johnny Vaught deemed necessary because of rain at Biloxi, Miss., 90 miles up the coast.

The rains may force Vaught to change his planned strategy for the game.

"We have relied all year on our throwing to break a game open," he said, "but nothing needs rehearsals like long pass plays. Again we are being denied good practice because of rain."

Another thing that may have influenced Vaught is the condition of Bob Adams, co-regular with George Harris of the left end position. Adams, a defensive star, suffered a knee injury in the game against Houston in mid-November and still hasn't recovered completely.

"Strong defensive end play is vital against Navy's style of attack." said Vaught.

Eddie Erdelatz, Navy coach, opened his workout by saying his players "hadn't come this distance to lose."

"Our players will be up for the game Saturday. It will take an all-out effort to win from Mississippi," he added.

Told that Mississippi would outweigh Navy, Erdelatz quickly answered that "we have been outweighed in every game this season. But my mother told me that the small potatoes always are the hardest to peel."

Wayne, Midland Beaten In Iowa

Lincoln Star Special

LEMARS, Ia.—Buena Vista college exploded in the last seven minutes to overcome a 10-point Wayne lead and defeat the Nebraskans 59-50 in the opening round of the Westmar College Invitational Basketball Tournament here Tuesday night.

Westmar blasted Midland College 100-88 to reach the finals tonight against Buena Vista.

Julian Erickson, a 6-2 forward, hit five field goals in the last period to lead the surge which brought victory to Buena Vista. He scored 19 points while Jim Whitney hit 16 for Wayne. The halftime score was 29-25 in favor of Wayne.

Ron Donahue and Larry Fuerst scored 18 points each for the Midland Warriors but 6-7 Rex Browning wrecked the Nebraska College Conference team with a 36-point night. The host team was ahead at the half 49-44.

Plainsmen Cop Opener

HURON, S D — Nebraska Wesleyan dominated the boards Tuesday night and defeated Huron College 87-74 in the first round of the Huron Invitational Basketball Tournament.

St. Thomas College of Minneapolis, Minn. beat Cornell, Ia 76-64 and will meet Wesleyan tonight at 9 30 in the finals.

Mel Sheary led Wesleyan with 27 points, most of them coming on drive-ins

Jerry Kroeger got 17 and Jack Wood 14 for the Plainsmen who hit 44 per cent of their shots from the field.

Wesleyan led most of the way and controlled the backboards well.

Arnelle Sets Motor City Point Record

DETROIT (AP)—A searing second-half surge led by forward Guy Sparrow erased a 10-point deficit and carried the University of Detroit to an 82-57 victory over Wayne (Mich.) Tuesday night for the championship in the annual Motor City Basketball Classic before a crowd of 6,373.

Penn State, sparked by Jesse Arnelle's 34-point show, trounced Toledo, 71-53 in the consolation game.

Sparrow, who was unable to walk at the age of 10 because of paralysis, banged in 31 points, 20 of them in the second half. His shotmaking enabled Detroit to overcome a 40-30 halftime deficit and win going away.

In a breathtaking 2-minute stretch, Detroit rolled up 12 consecutive points while holding Wayne scoreless to take a 48-44 lead. It was the Titans' ninth victory against only one loss.

An effortless shotmaker, Arnelle dropped in eight field goals—mostly hook shots from the circle—and converted 18 of 24 free throw attempts.

The single-game scoring record for the tournament had been 31 points, set by Walter Poll of Detroit in 1952.

Arnelle also scored 26 points Monday night against Wayne.

After nine deadlocks in the first half, Penn State pulled away midway in the second half to record its sixth victory against two losses.

The loss was Toledo's seventh against a single victory.

MIAMI—Stanley Woodward, writing in the Miami Daily News, penned a few words shortly before the arrival of the Nebraska football team here and the only visible result is that they made the Huskers just a little more mad.

Scribes in most areas have done nothing but insult the Nebraska squad and the boys seem to be getting in the mood for taking their veangence out on Duke. At least that's the hope of Bill Glassford and the rest of the non-playing members of the Nebraska party.

Woodward's comment came in the article objecting to the NCAA's investigation of Oklahoma.

His Husker string was: "The only factor which justifies the Orange Bowl's current contract, matching teams of the Big Seven and the Atlantic Coast Conferences, is the assurance that it will get Oklahoma, perennial champions of the Big Seven, at least every other year."

Talk around the Flamingo Hotel—Husker headquarters—is that Nebraska is ready to post a second justification for the current Big Seven-ACC pact.

Incidentally, wouldn't it be nice if the Huskers could manage to beat Oklahoma next fall and the Sooners would have to come to Miami as a "second place team?"

Speaking of Oklahoma, Kurt Burris, the Sooners' All-American center, was quartered at the Flamingo during the first two days of Nebraska's stay.

Burris, resting up after the North-South game on Christmas night, revealed that his loyalty was with the Big Seven Representatives and expressed the opinion that Nebraska is in a good position to spring a not-too-surprising upset.

The Oklahoma "brute" played on the winning South side in the North-South contest and his coach, Jim Tatum of Maryland, also staying at the Flamingo, had some words of encouragement for Glassford Sunday night.

Husker headquarters are located on Biscayne Bay—the Miami Beach side—and the setting is beautiful. Luxurious yachts are anchored a few steps from the hotel patio. A swimming pool is only a short distance away and an 18-hole putting green graces the "back yard."

At night the huge palm trees that highlight the landscape are illuminated by colored lights, lending a deluxe tropical atmosphere.

Although the wives of six players are with their husbands here, they are actually "widows."

Since the boys practice most of the day and attend Duke movies and skull sessions at night, the gals are pretty much on their own.

They're banded together and have formed a "Widows Club" but they haven't announced any officers yet. Offhand we'd say that Nebraska's womanhood—as represented so ably by these fine young wives—needs to take no back seat to the renowned Florida beauties. We've got the South whipped in this department.

Duke Still Sluggish; NU Players Get Acclimated

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

MIAMI, Fla.—Things were picking up in the Nebraska football camp at Flamingo Park Tuesday as the Huskers continued preparations for the Orange Bowl battle with Duke.

The tempo speeded up physically and spirit was back in the groove after Monday's sluggishness.

"We looked a lot better today," Coach Bill Glassford smiled after two sessions in the hot Florida sun. "The boys have more fire and are starting to get in shape."

Members of the squad were in better spirits Tuesday, too.

Most of the players said they were feeling better and the heat wasn't bothering them as much as it was the first day.

The morning practice was devoted to defensive drills and a long session of pass defense, while the afternoon workout wound up the scrimmage for the game.

Rough Work Over

After lunch and a rest period, the Cornhuskers worked on their offense — running and passing—and punt returns. Glassford then issued orders for about 15 minutes of rough-house — the orders were followed to the letter — and as a reward, the coach announced, "that's all the scrimmage we're going to do. Now we'll just polish"

Glasssford still is not sure of his starting backfield, except for two positions — Dan Brown at quarterback and Bob Smith at fullback.

Possibilities

If Korinek doesn't start, he may run at left half on the No. 2 squad and team with Rex Fischer at right, Don Erway at quarter and John Edwards at fullback.

"It all depends on how the boys look in pass defense drills in the next couple of days," Glassford said Tuesday.

Ron Clark ran well in the morning session, but was forced to sit out the afternoon drill when his ankle began to swell again.

After the practice, Glassford said, "I'm afraid Ron won't be able to help us much. It looks like he is very doubtful."

Trainer Paul Schneider, therapist George Sullivan and Dr. Paul Goetowski are working feverishly on Clark, but it seems that time is against them.

Win Friends, Influence People

Everyone else is in good shape and the Huskers appear to be gaining many friends because of the showing of several boys and because of their size which is greater than Duke's.

Coach Bill Murray of Duke complained Tuesday that his players were sluggish — "tired, beat and slow." He ordered no scrimmage, however, and made the prediction that "We'll be in good shape and good spirits by game time."

Duke quarterback Jerry Barker attracted the most attention Tuesday. Not fast and not a great passer, Barger is a daring team leader and was the key to Duke's success in winning the Atlantic Coach Conference championship.

Silent Coach

Bob Pascal, bulky but swift left halfback who led the team in scoring with 54 points, was another standout in practice.

There were no Duke casualties. Fullback Worth Lutz received a hard kick on the leg but examination disclosed the injury was more painful than serious.

Murray wasn't saying anything during practice. The Duke coach had lost his voice because of a severe case of laryngitis and ran the day's two drills by making motions to the players and assistant coaches.

During the morning workout, quarterbacks Jerry Barger and sonny Jurgens were hitting their targets consistently with short passes. The Blue Devils returned in the afternoon for a 90-minute drill on punting and punt protection.

Rock 'Em, Sock 'Em

The major problem facing the Blue Devils, according to Murray, was the outbreak of blisters. "We brought the wrong type of equipment here for this warm weather." he scribbled. "We brought all wool socks which proved harmful to the players' feet. However, Coach Andy Gustafson (of the University of Miami) loaned us cotton socks Tuesday morning. I hope we didn't get them too late."

1954 'Boom' Year For Prep Athletics

CHICAGO (AP)—Prep sports had a boom year in 1954, the National Federation of State High School Athletic Assns. reported Tuesday in a year-end survey.

The survey showed that approximately 10,200 teams participated in 11-man, 6-man or 8-man football, involving 650,000 players. Upwards of 75,000 games were played.

In basketball, more than 98 per cent of all high schools fielded a team and at least one million games were played.

Lincoln Midgets Trim Philadelphia, 26-0

Lincoln Star Special

LAKELAND, Fla —Lincoln breezed past Philadelphia, 26-0, in the first round of the Santa Claus Bowl midget football festival here Tuesday night but faces a tougher opponent in the finals tonight—Houston.

Houston beat Atlanta in the first game The score was 0-0 but Houston won on a first-down basis with an 8-4 edge.

Donnie McWilliams, who turned in one of the best performances ever seen in the bowl, and Glen Heckman sparked Lincoln to its easy win over Philadelphia. The two backfield stars of the Lincoln Jaycee League ran behind a sharp-blocking line and built a 20-0 halftime lead.

The second team played the second half for Lincoln as head Coach Chuck Worrall cleared the bench.

Mac Rolls For Two

McWilliams, speedy halfback on Worrall's Downtown team, uncorked two scoring runs of 25 and 28 yards in the first quarter to start Lincoln rolling. He also added the first extra point on a plunge

Sub quarterback Dick McCoy tallied for Lincoln in the second period. He ran 53 yards on a keeper. McWilliams plunged for the extra point

In the third period Steve North went over the right side on a dive buck for 15 yards to score untouched.

Heckman's ball-handling dazzled the losers and added to the effectiveness of the Lincoln runner's. Lincoln piled up 267 yards rushing and resorted to a pass only once, failing on that attempt.

Defense Sharp

Philadelphia completed one pass in five attempts for a loss of two yards

Lincoln's defense was outstanding and well-balanced, with halfback LeRoy Bentz drawing praise.

Two Lincoln guards were praised by game officials as "the finest midget football guards they had ever seen."

Guard Lige Powell drew the comment for his offensive play, and guard Lon Dubois was cited for his work on defense.

Meets Houston

Lincoln will play Houston at 8 05 p.m. CST The game will be broadcast by Mutual

Houston, called by Worrall "one of the smoothest midget teams I've seen," just missed scoring against Atlanta.

Ninety-two pound Bobby Baker of Houston ran 54 yards to the one-yard line as the first half ended. He also prevented an Atlanta touchdown by catching John Critchfield, who was in the clear on a 47-yard pass play in the fourth quarter

Hastings Wins Grand Island Trophy; Chadron Rips Doane

Lincoln Star Special

GRAND ISLAND—Hastings kept its record in the Grand Island Invitational basketball tournament clean here Tuesday night by winning the championship game, 82-54, from Kearney.

Chadron beat Doane, 82-62, in the consolation game.

Hastings accepted the trophy for the second straight year. The tournament was inaugurated in 1953.

Chuck Stickels, Hilly Beck and Tim Brockhaus shot holes in Kearney's defense from every spot on the court. Kearney was unable to muster much of an offense except from the foul line. The Antelopes hit 15 of their first 16 free throws to stay with the pace during the first half.

An early blast by Hastings broke an 8-8 tie. Eeverybody hit for the Broncos and Hastings shot into a 19-8 lead with eight minutes gone

In the first 10 minutes of the second half Kearney hit only five points In that same period Hastings made 13 and had an insurmountable lead which they boosted in the last 10 minutes.

Beck scored six field goals on close shots. Stickels made most of his off the post and Brockhaus made the Bronc attack complete by hitting nine field goals, most of them from far outside

Bob Armstrong hit 12 points in the first half as Chadron chased Doane to the dressing room with a 16-point deficit. Doane kept the pace in the second half and Ron Gray of Hebron sparked a comeback which pulled the Tigers up to 61-50.

Gray and Armstrong ended with 18 points each.

Huskers Look Better In Last Scrimmage

Kansas State, Cyclones Move Up In Big 7 Meet

Kansas Ousted In Startling Upset; Huskers Tangle With Colorado Today

By SKIPPER PATRICK

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Kansas State's Wildcats rolled to an easy 88-75 victory over the guest California Bears to advance to the semi-finals of the Big Seven Conference's basketball tournament Tuesday night.

In Tuesday night's first game, played before a full house of 10,500 Iowa State upset defending tourney champion Kansas 82-81 for their first victory over the Jayhawks since 1949.

In the semifinals tonight Missouri and Oklahoma play at 8 o'clock (CST) and Iowa State meets Kansas State at 9:30. There will be afternoon consolation bracket games between Colorado and Nebraska and Kansas and California.

California, which came to the tournament with a 7-1 record, appeared to be on its way midway of the first half and had a 29-24 lead before Kansas State's six foot 11 inch Jerry Jung came in to hit four successive field goals for the Wildcats.

Kansas State edged into a 45-41 halftime lead then rolled to a 17-point advantage midway of the last half and coasted in. Bob McKeen, California's 220-pound center, led the scoring with 32 points. Ten of the 11 K-State players scored with guard Kent Poore hitting 17.

Kansas State had a fine 40.9 shooting percentage, 27 of 66. California hit 25 of 71 for 35.2.

Chuck Duncan, 6 foot 5 senior center hit for 34 points, 24 of them in the first half as Iowa State handed Kansas, a 10-point favorite, its first loss in five games this season.

Duncan's total was a new school record for an Iowa State player.

Down 7 points, 43-50, at the half, Iowa State went ahead on Duncan's whirl shot, 76-75 with four and a half minutes to go. Duncan hit another one to make it 78-75 and the Cyclones were ahead to stay as they effectively used a freeze.

Sophomore Forward Gene Ellston scored 18 points for Kansas' best individual effort. Guard Dallas Dobbs, only holdover starter from Kansas' tournament winner and Big Seven Conference co-champion last season, helped keep the Jayhawks in the game with 16 points.

Rebels Miss Pass Practice

Meanwhile, Mississippi for a second straight day was denied the heavy drill Coach Johnny Vaught deemed necessary because of rain at Biloxi, Miss., 90 miles up the coast.

The rains may force Vaught to change his planned strategy for the game.

"We have relied all year on our throwing to break a game open," he said, "but nothing needs rehearsals like long pass plays. Again we are being denied good practice because of rain."

Another thing that may have influenced Vaught is the condition of Bob Adams, co-regular with George Harris of the left end position. Adams, a defensive star, suffered a knee injury in the game against Houston in mid-November and still hasn't recovered completely.

"Strong defensive end play is vital against Navy's style of attack." said Vaught.

Eddie Erdelatz, Navy coach, opened his workout by saying his players "hadn't come this distance to lose."

"Our players will be up for the game Saturday. It will take an all-out effort to win from Mississippi," he added.

Told that Mississippi would outweigh Navy, Erdelatz quickly answered that "we have been outweighed in every game this season. But my mother told me that the small potatoes always are the hardest to peel."

Lincoln Star Special

LEMARS, Ia.—Buena Vista college exploded in the last seven minutes to overcome a 10-point Wayne lead and defeat the Nebraskans 59-50 in the opening round of the Westmar College Invitational Basketball Tournament here Tuesday night.

Westmar blasted Midland College 100-88 to reach the finals tonight against Buena Vista.

Julian Erickson, a 6-2 forward, hit five field goals in the last period to lead the surge which brought victory to Buena Vista. He scored 19 points while Jim Whitney hit 16 for Wayne. The halftime score was 29-25 in favor of Wayne.

Ron Donahue and Larry Fuerst scored 18 points each for the Midland Warriors but 6-7 Rex Browning wrecked the Nebraska College Conference team with a 36-point night. The host team was ahead at the half 49-44.

Plainsmen Cop Opener

HURON, S.D. — Nebraska Wesleyan dominated the boards Tuesday night and defeated Huron College 87-74 in the first round of the Huron Invitational Basketball Tournament.

St. Thomas College of Minneapolis, Minn. beat Cornell, Ia. 76-64 and will meet Wesleyan tonight at 9:30 in the finals.

Mel Sheary led Wesleyan with 27 points, most of them coming on drive-ins.

Jerry Kroeger got 17 and Jack Wood 14 for the Plainsmen who hit 44 per cent of their shots from the field.

Wesleyan led most of the way and controlled the backboards well.

Arnelle Sets Motor City Point Record

DETROIT (AP)—A searing second-half surge led by forward Guy Sparrow erased a 10-point deficit and carried the University of Detroit to an 82-57 victory over Wayne (Mich.) Tuesday night for the championship in the annual Motor City Basketball Classic before a crowd of 6,373.

Penn State, sparked by Jesse Arnelle's 34-point show, trounced Toledo, 71-53 in the consolation game.

Sparrow, who was unable to walk at the age of 10 because of paralysis, banged in 31 points, 20 of them in the second half. His shotmaking enabled Detroit to overcome a 40-30 halftime deficit and win going away.

In a breathtaking 2-minute stretch, Detroit rolled up 12 consecutive points while holding Wayne scoreless to take a 48-44 lead. It was the Titans' ninth victory against only one loss.

An effortless shotmaker, Arnelle dropped in eight field goals—mostly hook shots from the circle—and converted 18 of 24 free throw attempts.

The single-game scoring record for the tournament had been 31 points, set by Walter Poff of Detroit in 1952.

Arnelle also scored 26 points Monday night against Wayne.

After nine deadlocks in the first half, Penn State pulled away midway in the second half to record its sixth victory against two losses.

The loss was Toledo's seventh against a single victory.

MIAMI—Stanley Woodward, writing in the Miami Daily News, penned a few words shortly before the arrival of the Nebraska football team here and the only visible result is that they made the Huskers just a little more mad.

Scribes in most areas have done nothing but insult the Nebraska squad and the boys seem to be getting in the mood for taking their veangence out on Duke. At least that's the hope of Bill Glassford and the rest of the non-playing members of the Nebraska party.

Woodward's comment came in the article objecting to the NCAA's investigation of Oklahoma.

His Husker string was: "The only factor which justifies the Orange Bowl's current contract, matching teams of the Big Seven and the Atlantic Coast Conferences, is the assurance that it will get Oklahoma, perennial champions of the Big Seven, at least every other year."

Talk around the Flamingo Hotel—Husker headquarters—is that Nebraska is ready to post a second justification for the current Big Seven-ACC pact.

Incidentally, wouldn't it be nice if the Huskers could manage to beat Oklahoma next fall and the Sooners would have to come to Miami as a "second place team?"

Speaking of Oklahoma, Kurt Burris, the Sooners' All-American center, was quartered at the Flamingo during the first two days of Nebraska's stay.

Burris, resting up after the North-South game on Christmas night, revealed that his loyalty was with the Big Seven Representatives and expressed the opinion that Nebraska is in a good position to spring a not-too-surprising upset.

The Oklahoma "brute" played on the winning South side in the North-South contest and his coach, Jim Tatum of Maryland, also staying at the Flamingo, had some words of encouragement for Glassford Sunday night.

Husker headquarters are located on Biscayne Bay—the Miami Beach side—and the setting is beautiful. Luxurious yachts are anchored a few steps from the hotel patio. A swimming pool is only a short distance away and an 18-hole putting green graces the "back yard."

At night the huge palm trees that highlight the landscape are illuminated by colored lights, lending a deluxe tropical atmosphere.

Although the wives of six players are with their husbands here, they are actually "widows."

Since the boys practice most of the day and attend Duke movies and skull sessions at night, the gals are pretty much on their own.

They're banded together and have formed a "Widows Club" but they haven't announced any officers yet. Offhand we'd say that Nebraska's womanhood—as represented so ably by these fine young wives—needs to take no back seat to the renowned Florida beauties. We've got the South whipped in this department.

Duke Still Sluggish; NU Players Get Acclimated

By DON BRYANT

Sports Editor, The Star

MIAMI, Fla.—Things were picking up in the Nebraska football camp at Flamingo Park Tuesday as the Huskers continued preparations for the Orange Bowl battle with Duke.

The tempo speeded up physically and spirit was back in the groove after Monday's sluggishness.

"We looked a lot better today," Coach Bill Glassford smiled after two sessions in the hot Florida sun. "The boys have more fire and are starting to get in shape."

Members of the squad were in better spirits Tuesday, too.

Most of the players said they were feeling better and the heat wasn't bothering them as much as it was the first day.

The morning practice was devoted to defensive drills and a long session of pass defense, while the afternoon workout wound up the scrimmage for the game.

Rough Work Over

After lunch and a rest period, the Cornhuskers worked on their offense — running and passing—and punt returns. Glassford then issued orders for about 15 minutes of rough-house — the orders were followed to the letter — and as a reward, the coach announced, "that's all the scrimmage we're going to do. Now we'll just polish."

Glasssford still is not sure of his starting backfield, except for two positions — Dan Brown at quarterback and Bob Smith at fullback.

Possibilities

If Korinek doesn't start, he may run at left half on the No. 2 squad and team with Rex Fischer at right, Don Erway at quarter and John Edwards at fullback.

"It all depends on how the boys look in pass defense drills in the next couple of days," Glassford said Tuesday.

Ron Clark ran well in the morning session, but was forced to sit out the afternoon drill when his ankle began to swell again.

After the practice, Glassford said, "I'm afraid Ron won't be able to help us much. It looks like he is very doubtful."

Trainer Paul Schneider, therapist George Sullivan and Dr. Paul Goetowski are working feverishly on Clark, but it seems that time is against them.

Win Friends, Influence People

Everyone else is in good shape and the Huskers appear to be gaining many friends because of the showing of several boys and because of their size which is greater than Duke's.

Coach Bill Murray of Duke complained Tuesday that his players were sluggish — "tired, beat and slow." He ordered no scrimmage, however, and made the prediction that "We'll be in good shape and good spirits by game time."

Duke quarterback Jerry Barker attracted the most attention Tuesday. Not fast and not a great passer, Barger is a daring team leader and was the key to Duke's success in winning the Atlantic Coach Conference championship.

Silent Coach

Bob Pascal, bulky but swift left halfback who led the team in scoring with 54 points, was another standout in practice.

There were no Duke casualties. Fullback Worth Lutz received a hard kick on the leg but examiration disclosed the injury was more painful than serious.

Murray wasn't saying anything during practice. The Duke coach had lost his voice because of a severe case of laryngitis and ran the day's two drills by making motions to the players and assistant coaches.

During the morning workout, quarterbacks Jerry Barger and sonny Jurgens were hitting their targets consistently with short passes. The Blue Devils returned in the afternoon for a 90-minute drill on punting and punt protection.

Rock 'Em, Sock 'Em

The major problem facing the Blue Devils, according to Murray, was the outbreak of blisters. "We brought the wrong type of equipment here for this warm weather," he scribbled. "We brought all wool socks which proved harmful to the players' feet. However, Coach Andy Gustafson (of the University of Miami) loaned us cotton socks Tuesday morning. I hope we didn't get them too late."

Isaak Walton Elects Officers

New officers were elected at the annual meeting of the Lincoln Chapter of the Isaak Walton League Tuesday night and will be installed at the annual banquet Jan. 25.

Harry Bowmaster was elected president. Other officers are:

Harold Stoehr, vice president; Richard A. Wiegand, secretary; Herman Studier, treasurer; and Dr. J. A. Green, Frank Wyman and Robert Schmaltz, members of the board of directors.

Michigan State's Carl (Bucky) Nystrom is a rugged performer in two sports. He is a guard on the football team and a defenseman on the hockey squad.

1954 'Boom' Year For Prep Athletics

CHICAGO (AP)—Prep sports had a boom year in 1954, the National Federation of State High School Athletic Assns. reported Tuesday in a year-end survey.

The survey showed that approximately 10,200 teams participated in 11-man, 6-man or 8-man football, involving 650,000 players. Upwards of 75,000 games were played.

In basketball, more than 98 per cent of all high schools fielded a team and at least one million games were played.

Lincoln Midgets Trim Philadelphia, 26-0

Lincoln Star Special

LAKELAND, Fla. — Lincoln breezed past Philadelphia, 26-0, in the first round of the Santa Claus Bowl midget football festival here Tuesday night but faces a tougher opponent in the finals tonight—Houston.

Houston beat Atlanta in the first game. The score was 0-0 but Houston won on a first-down basis with an 8-4 edge.

Donnie McWilliams, who turned in one of the best performances ever seen in the bowl, and Glen Heckman sparked Lincoln to its easy win over Philadelphia. The two backfield stars of the Lincoln Jaycee League ran behind a sharp-blocking line and built a 20-0 halftime lead.

The second team played the second half for Lincoln as head Coach Chuck Worrall cleared the bench.

Mac Rolls For Two

McWilliams, speedy halfback on Worrall's Downtown team, uncorked two scoring runs of 25 and 28 yards in the first quarter to start Lincoln rolling. He also added the first extra point on a plunge.

Sub quarterback Dick McCoy tallied for Lincoln in the second period. He ran 53 yards on a keeper. McWilliams plunged for the extra point.

In the third period Steve North went over the right side on a dive buck for 15 yards to score untouched.

Heckman's ball-handling dazzled the losers and added to the effectiveness of the Lincoln runner's. Lincoln piled up 267 yards rushing and resorted to a pass only once, failing on that attempt.

Defense Sharp

Philadelphia completed one pass in five attempts for a loss of two yards.

Lincoln's defense was outstanding and well-balanced, with halfback LeRoy Bentz drawing praise.

Two Lincoln guards were praised by game officials as "the finest midget football guards they had ever seen."

Guard Lige Powell drew the comment for his offensive play, and guard Lon Dubois was cited for his work on defense.

Meets Houston

Lincoln will play Houston at 8:05 p.m. CST. The game will be broadcast by Mutual.

Houston, called by Worrall "one of the smoothest midget teams I've seen," just missed scoring against Atlanta.

Ninety-two pound Bobby Baker of Houston ran 54 yards to the one-yard line as the first half ended. He also prevented an Atlanta touchdown by catching John Critchfield, who was in the clear on a 47-yard pass play in the fourth quarter.

Hastings Wins Grand Island Trophy; Chadron Rips Doane

Lincoln Star Special

GRAND ISLAND—Hastings kept its record in the Grand Island Invitational basketball tournament clean here Tuesday night by winning the championship game, 82-54, from Kearney.

Chadron beat Doane, 82-62, in the consolation game.

Hastings accepted the trophy for the second straight year. The tournament was inaugurated in 1953.

Chuck Stickels, Hilly Beck and Tim Brockhaus shot holes in Kearney's defense from every spot on the court. Kearney was unable to muster much of an offense except from the foul line. The Antelopes hit 15 of their first 16 free throws to stay with the pace during the first half.

An early blast by Hastings broke an 8-8 tie. Eeverybody hit for the Broncos and Hastings shot into a 19-8 lead with eight minutes gone.

In the first 10 minutes of the second half Kearney hit only five points. In that same period Hastings made 13 and had an insurmountable lead which they boosted in the last 10 minutes.

Beck scored six field goals on close shots. Stickels made most of his off the post and Brockhaus made the Bronc attack complete by hitting nine field goals, most of them from far outside.

Bob Armstrong hit 12 points in the first half as Chadron chased Doane to the dressing room with a 16-point deficit. Doane kept the pace in the second half and Ron Gray of Hebron sparked a comeback which pulled the Tigers up to 61-50.

Gray and Armstrong ended with 18 points each.

Kentucky Solidifies No. 1 Spot

By. MURRAY ROSE
The Associated Press

Kentucky's undefeated Wildcats retained their No. 1 ranking among the nation's college basketball teams Tuesday by an overwhelming margin as the result of their decisive triumphs over Utah and LaSalle.

By defeating two of their leading contenders for the top position in their own tournament, the Wildcats (5-0), gained solid support from all over the nation.

A week ago when they moved past LaSalle into first place, the Kentuckians were named first by only 21 of the sportswriters and sportscasters participating in the weekly Associated Press poll. This time, 79 of the 101 voters favored Kentucky.

N.C. State Moves Up

Adolph Rupp's talented quintet accumulated 963 points, on a 10 basis. North Carolina State (10-0) moved up from fourth to second with 11 first place votes and 587 points.

LaSalle, which had dropped to fourth, advanced to third with 467 points followed by: 4-Dayton, 466; 5-San Francisco, 422; 6-Illinois, 403; 7-Utah, 330; 8-Duquesne, 214; 9-George Washington, 166, and 10-Niagara, 145.

While there was considerable shuffling among the Top Ten, only one new team made the elite list. San Francisco (7-1) jumped from a tie for 17th to 5th by winning the Oklahoma City tournament. To make way for the Dons, Missouri was shunted from 7th to 11th.

Shakeup in Order?

Most of the leading teams were involved in the many holiday tournaments this week and the Top Ten may be in for another shakeup as a result. Kentucky, however, made its point by its 70-65 victory over Utah, which was second a week ago, and its 63-54 conquest of LaSalle.

Idle since last Tuesday, Kentucky takes to the home court again on Thursday to play St. Louis and on New Year's Day journeys to Philadelphia to face Temple. The Wildcats routed Temple 79-61 on Dec. 18.

Garbage Bowl Queen Elected

MONTREAL (AP) — Miss Garbage Bowl of 1955—Queen of Canada's only New Year's Day football "bowl" game — was crowned Tuesday night at suburban Montreal's West's Town Hall.

The whole thing has the blessing of Montreal West dignitaries. And the Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four Union are expected to send observers, including Joy Dibble, their duly-elected queen.

The first Garbage Bowl game was played in 1950 by teenagers who figured sub-zero temperatures, several feet of snow and a crowd of 3 constituted ideal football conditions. The high school's football posts had been taken down, so garbage pails in the end zones were used for conversions after touchdowns.

Crowds have grown to 1,000 at the annual event, and last year $650 was raised for the school for crippled children. This year, the aim is $1,000 to build a summer camp for the school, an official of the GBA (Garbage Bowl Assn.) reported.

In the forthcoming event, the Northern Combines will play the Southern Bombers.

Smith-Andrews Winner Gets Title Shot

By BEN FUNK

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Boardwalk Billy Smith, hottest of the current light heavyweight campaigners, is a 2-1 favorite to defeat Paul Andrews here Wednesday night and win a February title shot against champion Archie Moore.

The 10-round battle at Dinner Key Auditorium will be televised nationally (CBS) starting at 9 p.m. (CST). The International Boxing Club has promised the winner a championship bout with Moore Feb. 4 in Madison Square Garden.

Jumps to No. 1 Contender

The 33-year-old Smith, a veteran of 14 years of professional fighting, has won 8 in a row, 7 by knockouts, since Moore chased him out of the ring in the 8th round in 1951. He vaulted into the No. 1 title contender's position two months ago by stopping Harold Johnson in the second round.

Andrews had won four straight this year before clever Joey Maxim outboxed him Nov. 24. The 24-year-old Andrews, rated fifth among the light heavyweight contenders, has won 28 of 32 pro fights, stopping 16 of his rivals. One of his two losses this year was to Johnson.

If Smith, a part-time deputy sheriff from Atlantic City, gets into the ring with Moore again, it will be the fifth time. Archie defeated him once in 1946 and twice in 1948 and in 1951 dealt him his last beating.

After his fourth loss to Moore, Smith quit the ring for 18 months. Then Gerrard Gormley became his manager and he hasn't lost since. He says Gormley "has done more for me in two years than my other managers did in 12."

Southern Conference Teams Swamp Foes At Richmond

RICHMOND, Va.—George Washington, the nation's ninth-ranked team, downed a stubborn Colgate University outfit, 92-77, Tuesday night to become the fourth Southern Conference club to survive the first round of play in the Richmond Invitational Basketball Tournament.

In the three earlier opening-round games, Johnny Mahoney's 27 points paced William & Mary to an 84-77 victory over Boston University; Virginia Tech whipped Rutgers, 80-77, and Richmond finished fast to crush Boston College, 90-68.

Colgate, the best of the four Northern teams here, made one serious mistake. The Red Raiders spotted George Washington 10 points before they dented the scoreboard.

Time after time thereafter, the Raiders whittled the Colonial lead to two, three, four and five points. Every time they did, though, deadly Walter (Corky) Devlin came up with one of his famous push shots to widen the gap again.

Devlin definitely was the fellow who broke the Raiders' backs, though his teammate Joe Holup outscored him. Holup dumped in 25 points while Devlin and Colgate's Bill Willgohs were right behind with 23.

Free Throws Kill Richmond

A crowd of 3,000 watched underdog Boston College use long, outside shots to keep in the game against Richmond. There were less than five minutes left when Boston College's Tom Cullinane dropped in two free throws to pull the Eagles to within six points of the Spiders.

Walt Lysaght sank a pair of free throws for Richmond, however, and Ken Daniel contributed seven in a row before the Eagles could score again. That made it 80-65 and three minutes remained. Richmond had a mere 2-point advantage at halftime 38-36.

After the first few minutes, Rutgers never was in the game with Tech. With veteran Bill Matthews, sophomore Clayton Coates and freshman Dave Kuhn finding the range often, Tech built up a 43-33 lead at the half.

25-Point Margin

Midway the second half, the Techmen owned a 25-point advantage. The Rutgers regulars, paced by center Jack Woolley, put on a belated drive against the Tech reserves and slashed the final margin.

The opener was a seesaw battle during the first half, in which the score was deadlocked 10 times. It was tied at 37-37 with 1:17 remaining in the half.

William and Mary, with Mahoney getting three free throws and a field goal, then streaked to a 46-39 halftime advantage. Mahoney's last field goal came as the buzzer sounded. He was fouled and made good on the free toss.

Coach Protests

Boston Coach Matt Zunic vigorously protested Mahoney's basket, charging the timekeeper failed to start the clock when time was out for a free throw with a second left. W&M Coach Boyd Baird offered to cancel the three points, but Zunic refused.

Center Kevin Thomas, with 21 points, topped the Boston scorers.

Fighter Knocked Out One Week Late

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Miami Beach Boxing Commission has ruled the fight between middleweights Gus Rubicini of Toronto and Andy Mayfield of Miami here last Tuesday night was a double technical knockout.

Both fighters suffered serious cuts when they butted heads in the fourth round.

Referee Petey Sarron stopped the fight and awarded Mayfield a technical knockout because of Rubicini's cut on the head. Later, Dr. Alexander Robbins examined a laceration over Mayfield's eye and said the fight also could have been stopped on that account.

Only three tie games have been played in World Series competition and the Giants have been involved in two of them.

Marquette Cops

MILWUAKEE, (AP)—Marquette defeated San Jose State, 80-68, Tuesday night for the Warriors' seventh straight basketball victory of the season. The game was played before 1,100 fans at the Marquette gym.

Connecticut Hits Harvard

STORRS, Conn. (AP) — Coach Hugh Greer cleared his bench before the first half ended Tuesday night as the University of Connecticut bowled over Harvard 98-60, in the final game of the opening round of the New England Invitational College Basketball Tournament here.

Earlier Brown upset Colby, 64-57, Middlebury beat undefeated Amherst, 71-68, and Dartmouth downed Massachusetts 87-65.

About the only honor Harvard got was scoring thhe first basket. But Connecticut, favored to win the tournament, quickly took over and rattled in 18 points.

Ten minutes after the game started Greer had his entire sophomore squad in, and it was sophomore center Bob Malone who got the game's high-scoring honors with 16 points.

The winners of today's two night games meet for the tournament title Thursday night.

Colby, unbeaten in seven games, played Brown on even terms in the first half, but the surprising Bruins shot into a 10-point lead early in the second half and stayed ahead. Colby appeared to have trouble with Brown's deliberate style of play.

Bobby Popp was the key playmaker for the winners, and Ray Malkiewicz was a contant scoring threat with outside jump shots.

Dartmouth caught up with Massachusetts when the second half was five minutes old. Then came the Massachusetts collapse as Dartmouth, its superior height giving it control of the boards, scored 24 points while holding Massachusetts to 2.

Huskers Robbed

MIAMI, Fla.—Thieves looted Nebraska's dressing quarters during the Tuesday noon-hour and stole five helmets and miscellaneous other items.

Athletic Director Bill Orwig has ordered a 24-hour guard put on the building.

Party Time

Tuesday night the squad and six wives, under the direction of Trainer and Mrs. Paul Schneider, visited the Copa City nightclub for dinner and entertainment. Peter Lind Hayes is the featured entertainer at the Copa. Original plans called for the party to be staged at the Latin Quarter—where Johnny Ray moans—but enough room for the Husker group could not be obtained.

Not Enough Sun

Most of the wives were registering "complaints" Tuesday because they "aren't getting tan."

After spending all Monday afternoon at the pool, the gals woke up with lily white complexions. But by noon Tuesday, traces of pink were noticeable.

Mrs. Bob Wagner (Phyllis) seems to be the die-hard. Long after the others give up, she soaks up the sun—and remains unblistered and un-tan.

Mrs. Bill Glassford and Mrs. Bob Davis are the current sun-tan leaders.

Chancellor Arrives

Chancellor and Mrs. Clifford Hardin and their children were on hand Tuesday morning, arriving late Monday night.

Kickoff Luncheon

Wednesday noon is the big kickoff luncheon at Bayfront Auditorium.

Players, coaches, wives, officials and the press will attend the talent-studded program.

Well-Kept Secret

One of the best kept secrets in the world is the Orange Bowl Parade.

Queries about this year's theme are parried with "Wait 'til Friday night."

Grocer Will Head Santa Claus Bowl

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)— George Jenkins of Lakeland, president of a grocery chain, Tuesday was elected president of the Pop Warner-Connie Mack Foundation which, with the Lakeland Chamber of Commerce, sponsors the annual Santa Claus Bowl football games for boys.

Directors reelected were J. Gordon Roberts, Omaha, Neb.; Gen. James A. Van Fleet, USA (ret.), Auburndale, Fla.; Msgr. Nicholas Wegner, Boys Town, Neb.; Paul Jonas, Mutual Broadcasting System, New York, and Thomas W. Bryant, Lakeland.

John Bryson of Lakeland was reelected secretary-treasurer.

Gophers, N.C. State In Classic Final

By REESE HART

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—Minnesota came from behind in the last four minutes of a nip-and-tuck game to defeat defending champion Duke, 79-73, Tuesday night and move into the final of the Dixie Classic Basketball Tournament against unbeaten N. C. State.

In the other night game, Wake Forest took a high-scoring thriller from West Virginia, 96-94, despite a spectacular 47-point performance by West Virginia's brilliant sophomore guard, Rod Hundley.

Tuesday afternoon, State ran its winning streak to 11 by battling from behind in the final minutes to defeat neighborhood rival North Carolina 47-44, in a game that saw the losing Tar Heels employ freeze tactics much of the way.

In the other afternoon match, Southern California swept past Cornell, 77-58.

Mencel Stars

Guard Charles Mencel, with 24 points, sparked Minnesota as the Gophers overcame a Duke rally that saw the Blue Devils go ahead, 67-65, with 5:25 remaining, on two free throws by forward Ronnie Mayer. The Gophers had built an 8-point lead after holding a 40-38 halftime edge.

Mencel and forward Dick Garmaker were the stars in the Minnesota attack. It was Garmaker who dropped in a goal to tie the score after Duke had gone ahead late in the game and then he sank a free throw to put his team out front, 68-67. Gerald Lindsley followed with a 2-pointer and the Gophers held on despite a dogged Duke drive.

Minnesota had a 41.2 shooting percentage, hitting on 28 of 68 attempts. Duke clicked on 31 of 85 for 38.5. Forward Jack Kalbfus was high scorer for Duke with 21.

Hundley, who fouled out in the last second, tied a Dixie Classic scoring record set last year by Pennsylvania's Ernie Beck. After scoring 12 points in the first half, Hundley ran wild to bang in 35 points in the wrapup half.

Within One Point

He brought the Mountaineers to within one point of tying the score after Wake Forest had grabbed a 57-40 halftime lead.

All-American center candidate Dickie Hemric, with 35 points, sparked Wake Forest's attack, which was deadly accurate during the first half. However, the Deacons had to go all out to stem the West Virginia rally which shaved the lead to 93-92 with little more than a minute to go.

The combined score of 190 points by the two teams was a new Classic finals.

State's Wolfpack, winner of four Classic crowns, defeated North Carolina in a battle of zone defenses that saw the Tar Heels employ "freeze" tactics much of the game.

'Freeze' Tactics Blasted By Coach

RALEIGH (AP)—N. C. State basketball coach Everett Case, whose team came within an eyelash of getting whipped by North Carolina in the Dixie Classic today, scored the freeze tactics employed by Coach Frank McGuire of the Tar Heels.

"That type of play isn't good for the game," Case said. "It's legitimate, of course, but it just isn't a good thing. It's obvious they were trying to hold down the score."

Prior to Tuesday's game, State had averaged more than 90 points per game. The Wolfpack had to overcome a 5-point deficit in the second half to defeat North Carolina in a Classic semifinal match, 47-44.

Case proposed that a college team should have to shoot after it had possession of the ball for 30 seconds-similar to the pro's 24-second rule.

Case pointed out that North Carolina held the ball for a 3-minute period in the early part of the game without attempting a shot.

Knick Lead Fades As Warriors Rally

NEW YORK (AP)—The Philadelphia Warriors overcame a 13-point deficit late in the third period to defeat the New York Knickerbockers 84-78 Tuesday night before a crowd of 14,813 Madison Square Garden fans. The loss, coupled with Syracuse's 84-82 victory over Rochester in the opening game of the National Basketball Assn. doubleheader, dropped the Knicks a game and a half behind Syracuse, the Eastern Division leaders.

Kentucky Solidifies No. 1 Spot

By MURRAY ROSE
The Associated Press

Kentucky's undefeated Wildcats retained their No. 1 ranking among the nation's college basketball teams Tuesday by an overwhelming margin as the result of their decisive triumphs over Utah and LaSalle.

By defeating two of their leading contenders for the top position in their own tournament, the Wildcats (5-0), gained solid support from all over the nation.

A week ago when they moved past LaSalle into first place, the Kentuckians were named first by only 21 of the sportswriters and sportscasters participating in the weekly Associated Press poll. This time, 79 of the 101 voters favored Kentucky.

N.C. State Moves Up

Adolph Rupp's talented quintet accumulated 963 points, on a 10 basis. North Carolina State (10-0) moved up from fourth to second with 11 first place votes and 587 points.

LaSalle, which had dropped to fourth, advanced to third with 467 points followed by: 4-Dayton, 466; 5-San Francisco, 422; 6-Illinois, 403; 7-Utah, 330; 8-Duquesne, 214; 9-George Washington, 166, and 10-Niagara, 145.

While there was considerable shuffling among the Top Ten, only one new team made the elite list. San Francisco (7-1) jumped from a tie for 17th to 5th by winning the Oklahoma City tournament. To make way for the Dons, Missouri was shunted from 7th to 11th.

Shakeup in Order?

Most of the leading teams were involved in the many holiday tournaments this week and the Top Ten may be in for another shakeup as a result. Kentucky, however, made its point by its 70-65 victory over Utah, which was second a week ago, and its 63-54 conquest of LaSalle.

Idle since last Tuesday, Kentucky takes to the home court again on Thursday to play St. Louis and on New Year's Day journeys to Philadelphia to face Temple. The Wildcats routed Temple 79-61 on Dec. 18.

The top 20, with first place votes and season records (through Saturday's games) in parentheses (points on 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis)

1.	Kentucky (5-0) (79)	963

Garbage Bowl Queen Elected

MONTREAL (AP) — Miss Garbage Bowl of 1955—Queen of Canada's only New Year's Day football "bowl" game — was crowned Tuesday night at suburban Montreal's West's Town Hall.

The whole thing has the blessing of Montreal West dignitaries. And the Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four Union are expected to send observers, including Joy Dibble, their duly-elected queen.

The first Garbage Bowl game was played in 1950 by teenagers who figured sub-zero temperatures, several feet of snow and a crowd of 3 constituted ideal football conditions. The high school's football posts had been taken down, so garbage pails in the end zones were used for conversions after touchdowns.

Crowds have grown to 1,000 at the annual event, and last year $650 was raised for the school for crippled children. This year, the aim is $1,000 to build a summer camp for the school, an official of the GBA (Garbage Bowl Assn.) reported.

In the forthcoming event, the Northern Combines will play the Southern Bombers.

Boardwalk Billy 2-1 Favorite

Smith-Andrews Winner Gets Title Shot

By BEN FUNK

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Boardwalk Billy Smith, hottest of the current light heavyweight campaigners, is a 2-1 favorite to defeat Paul Andrews here Wednesday night and win a February title shot against champion Archie Moore.

The 10-round battle at Dinner Key Auditorium will be televised nationally (CBS) starting at 9 p.m. (CST). The International Boxing Club has promised the winner a championship bout with Moore Feb. 4 in Madison Square Garden.

Jumps to No. 1 Contender

The 33-year-old Smith, a veteran of 14 years of professional fighting, has won 8 in a row, 7 by knockouts, since Moore chased him out of the ring in the 8th round in 1951. He vaulted into the No. 1 title contender's position two months ago by stopping Harold Johnson in the second round.

Andrews had won four straight this year before clever Joey Maxim outboxed him Nov. 24. The 24-year-old Andrews, rated fifth among the light heavyweight contenders, has won 28 of 32 pro fights, stopping 16 of his rivals. One of his two losses this year was to Johnson.

If Smith, a part-time deputy sheriff from Atlantic City, gets into the ring with Moore again, it will be the fifth time. Archie defeated him once in 1946 and twice in 1948 and in 1951 dealt him his last beating.

After his fourth loss to Moore, Smith quit the ring for 18 months. Then Gerrard Gormley became his manager and he hasn't lost since. He says Gormley "has done more for me in two years than my other managers did in 12."

Southern Conference Teams Swamp Foes At Richmond

RICHMOND, Va.—George Washington, the nation's ninth-ranked team, downed a stubborn Colgate University outfit, 92-77, Tuesday night to become the fourth Southern Conference club to survive the first round of play in the Richmond Invitational Basketball Tournament.

In the three earlier opening-round games, Johnny Mahoney's 27 points paced William & Mary to an 84-77 victory over Boston University; Virginia Tech whipped Rutgers, 80-77, and Richmond finished fast to crush Boston College, 90-68.

Colgate, the best of the four Northern teams here, made one serious mistake. The Red Raiders spotted George Washington 10 points before they dented the scoreboard.

Time after time thereafter, the Raiders whittled the Colonial lead to two, three, four and five points. Every time they did, though, deadly Walter (Corky) Devlin came up with one of his famous push shots to widen the gap again.

Devlin definitely was the fellow who broke the Raiders' backs, though his teammate Joe Holup outscored him. Holup dumped in 25 points while Devlin and Colgate's Bill Willgohs were right behind with 23.

Free Throws Kill Richmond

A crowd of 3,000 watched underdog Boston College use long, outside shots to keep in the game against Richmond. There were less than five minutes left when Boston College's Tom Cullinane dropped in two free throws to pull the Eagles to within six points of the Spiders.

Walt Lysaght sank a pair of free throws for Richmond, however, and Ken Daniel contributed seven in a row before the Eagles could score again. That made it 80-65 and three minutes remained. Richmond had a mere 2-point advantage at halftime 38-36.

After the first few minutes, Rutgers never was in the game with Tech. With veteran Bill Matthews, sophomore Clayton Coates and freshman Dave Kuhn finding the range often, Tech built up a 43-33 lead at the half.

25-Point Margin

Midway the second half, the Techmen owned a 25-point advantage. The Rutgers regulars, paced by center Jack Woolley, put on a belated drive against the Tech reserves and slashed the final margin.

The opener was a seesaw battle during the first half, in which the score was deadlocked 10 times. It was tied at 37-37 with 1:17 remaining in the half.

William and Mary, with Mahoney getting three free throws and a field goal, then streaked to a 46-39 halftime advantage. Mahoney's last field goal came as the buzzer sounded. He was fouled and made good on the free toss.

Coach Protests

Boston Coach Matt Zunic vigorously protested Mahoney's basket, charging the timekeeper failed to start the clock when time was out for a free throw with a second left. W&M Coach Boyd Baird offered to cancel the three points, but Zunic refused.

Center Kevin Thomas, with 21 points, topped the Boston scorers.

Fighter Knocked Out One Week Late

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Miami Beach Boxing Commission has ruled the fight between middleweights Gus Rubicini of Toronto and Andy Mayfield of Miami here last Tuesday night was a double technical knockout.

Both fighters suffered serious cuts when they butted heads in the fourth round.

Referee Petey Sarron stopped the fight and awarded Mayfield a technical knockout because of Rubicini's cut on the head. Later, Dr. Alexander Robbins examined a laceration over Mayfield's eye and said the fight also could have been stopped on that account.

Only three tie games have been played in World Series competition and the Giants have been involved in two of them.

Marquette Cops

Connecticut Hits Harvard

STORRS, Conn. (AP) — Coach Hugh Greer cleared his bench before the first half ended Tuesday night as the University of Connecticut bowled over Harvard 98-60, in the final game of the opening round of the New England Invitational College Basketball Tournament here.

Earlier Brown upset Colby, 64-57, Middlebury beat undefeated Amherst, 71-68, and Dartmouth downed Massachusetts 87-65.

About the only honor Harvard got was scoring thhe first basket. But Connecticut, favored to win the tournament, quickly took over and rattled in 18 points.

Ten minutes after the game started Greer had his entire sophomore squad in, and it was sophomore center Bob Malone who got the game's high-scoring honors with 16 points.

The winners of today's two night games meet for the tournament title Thursday night.

Colby, unbeaten in seven games, played Brown on even terms in the first half, but the surprising Bruins shot into a 10-point lead early in the second half and stayed ahead. Colby appeared to have trouble with Brown's deliberate style of play.

Bobby Popp was the key playmaker for the winners, and Ray Malkiewicz was a contant scoring threat with outside jump shots.

Dartmouth caught up with Massachusetts when the second half was five minutes old. Then came the Massachusetts collapse as Dartmouth, its superior height giving it control of the boards, scored 24 points while holding Massachusetts to 2.

Huskers Robbed

MIAMI, Fla.—Thieves looted Nebraska's dressing quarters during the Tuesday noon-hour and stole five helmets and miscellaneous other items.

Athletic Director Bill Orwig has ordered a 24-hour guard put on the building.

Party Time

Tuesday night the squad and six wives, under the direction of Trainer and Mrs. Paul Schneider, visited the Copa City nightclub for dinner and entertainment. Peter Lind Hayes is the featured entertainer at the Copa. Original plans called for the party to be staged at the Latin Quarter—where Johnny Ray moans—but enough room for the Husker group could not be obtained.

Not Enough Sun

Most of the wives were registering "complaints" Tuesday because they "aren't getting tan."

After spending all Monday afternoon at the pool, the gals woke up with lily white complexions. But by noon Tuesday, traces of pink were noticeable.

Mrs. Bob Wagner (Phyllis) seems to be the die-hard. Long after the others give up, she soaks up the sun—and remains unblistered and un-tan.

Mrs. Bill Glassford and Mrs. Bob Davis are the current sun-tan leaders.

Chancellor Arrives

Chancellor and Mrs. Clifford Hardin and their children were on hand Tuesday morning, arriving late Monday night.

Kickoff Luncheon

Wednesday noon is the big kickoff luncheon at Bayfront Auditorium.

Players, coaches, wives, officials and the press will attend the talent-studded program.

Grocer Will Head Santa Claus Bowl

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)— George Jenkins of Lakeland, president of a grocery chain, Tuesday was elected president of the Pop Warner-Connie Mack Foundation which, with the Lakeland Chamber of Commerce, sponsors the annual Santa Claus Bowl football games for boys.

Directors reelected were J. Gordon Roberts, Omaha, Neb.; Gen. James A. Van Fleet, USA (ret.), Auburndale, Fla.; Msgr. Nicholas Wegner, Boys Town, Neb.; Paul Jonas, Mutual Broadcasting System, New York, and Thomas W. Bryant, Lakeland.

John Bryson of Lakeland was reelected secretary-treasurer.

Gophers, N.C. State In Classic Final

By REESE HART

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—Minnesota came from behind in the last four minutes of a nip-and-tuck game to defeat defending champion Duke, 79-73, Tuesday night and move into the final of the Dixie Classic Basketball Tournament against unbeaten N. C. State.

In the other night game, Wake Forest took a high-scoring thriller from West Virginia, 96-94, despite a spectacular 47-point performance by West Virginia's brilliant sophomore guard, Rod Hundley.

Tuesday afternoon, State ran its winning streak to 11 by battling from behind in the final minutes to defeat neighborhood rival North Carolina 47-44, in a game that saw the losing Tar Heels employ freeze tactics much of the way.

In the other afternoon match, Southern California swept past Cornell, 77-58.

Mencel Stars

Guard Charles Mencel, with 24 points, sparked Minnesota as the Gophers overcame a Duke rally that saw the Blue Devils go ahead, 67-65, with 5:25 remaining, on two free throws by forward Ronnie Mayer. The Gophers had built an 8-point lead after holding a 40-38 halftime edge.

Mencel and forward Dick Garmaker were the stars in the Minnesota attack. It was Garmaker who dropped in a goal to tie the score after Duke had gone ahead late in the game and then he sank a free throw to put his team out front, 68-67. Gerald Lindsley followed with a 2-pointer and the Gophers held on despite a dogged Duke drive.

Minnesota had a 41.2 shooting percentage, hitting on 28 of 68 attempts. Duke clicked on 31 of 85 for 36.5. Forward Jack Kalbfus was high scorer for Duke with 21.

Hundley, who fouled out in the last second, tied a Dixie Classic scoring record set last year by Pennsylvania's Ernie Beck. After scoring 12 points in the first half, Hundley ran wild to bang in 35 points in the wrapup half.

Within One Point

He brought the Mountaineers to within one point of tying the score after Wake Forest had grabbed a 57-40 halftime lead.

All-American center candidate Dickie Hemric, with 35 points, sparked Wake Forest's attack which was deadly accurate during the first half. However, the Deacons had to go all out to stem the West Virginia rally which shaved the lead to 93-92 with little more than a minute to go.

The combined score of 190 points by the two teams was a new Classic finals.

State's Wolfpack, winner of four Classic crowns, defeated North Carolina in a battle of zone defenses that saw the Tar Heels employ "freeze" tactics much of the game.

'Freeze' Tactics Blasted By Coach

RALEIGH (AP)—N. C. State basketball coach Everett Case, whose team came within an eyelash of getting whipped by North Carolina in the Dixie Classic today, scored the freeze tactics employed by Coach Frank McGuire of the Tar Heels.

"That type of play isn't good for the game," Case said. "It's legitimate, of course, but it just isn't a good thing. It's obvious they were trying to hold down the score."

Prior to Tuesday's game, State had averaged more than 90 points per game. The Wolfpack had to overcome a 5-point deficit in the second half to defeat North Carolina in a Classic semifinal match, 47-44.

Case proposed that a college team should have to shoot after it had possession of the ball for 30 seconds-similar to the pro's 24-second rule.

Knick Lead Fades As Warriors Rally

NEW YORK (AP)—The Philadelphia Warriors overcame a 13-point deficit late in the third period to defeat the New York Knickerbockers 84-78 Tuesday night before a crowd of 14,813 Madison Square Garden fans. The loss, coupled with Syracuse's 84-82 victory over Rochester in the opening game of the National Basketball Assn. doubleheader, dropped the Knicks a game and a half behind Syracuse, the Eastern Division leaders.

Governor To Practice Law Here

Will Be Associated With Pansing, Guenzel

Gov. Robert Crosby will establish a law practice in Lincoln on leaving office Jan. 6.

Crosby, in announcing his plans Tuesday, said that he will become senior member of a firm to be known as Crosby, Pansing and Guenzel.

He will be associated with Robert C. Guenzel, who now is practicing law in Lincoln and serving part time on the University of Nebraska faculty.

Third member of the firm is Thomas Pansing, who is on leave from the firm heretofore known as Pansing and Guenzel to serve as State Director of Insurance.

The firm's offices are in the Federal Securities Building here.

Adris Hunt, who has been the governor's secretary, will become secretary of the new law firm. Like the governor, she comes from North Platte.

Federal Offers

Crosby disclosed recently he had purchased a home at 2828 Jackson Drive in Lincoln and intended to remain here.

He said Tuesday he had seriously considered several offers of federal employment.

"But it would take a considerable inducement to persuade me to leave Nebraska," he commented.

"This is my native state, and I like it. Besides, I doubt if I'm cut out to fill a niche in a federal department. I like being my own boss."

He said he regretted his plans could not include returning to North Platte. He had practiced law there since 1936, except for intervals when he was absent as a legislator, lieutenant governor and as member of the armed forces during World War II.

Second Home

But Crosby pointed out that his son is a freshman at the University of Nebraska and his daughter is a freshman in high school.

"There are impelling reasons for continuing our family life here in Lincoln and we have come to regard the Capital City as our second home," he said.

"However, no lawyer could have a more happy experience than mine has been in the association with my father and brother in the practice of law in North Platte. Also, we shall certainly miss our many friends in our old home town."

Crosby noted that since Pansing went on leave from the law firm of Pansing and Guenzel to become state insurance director two years ago, the firm has avoided representing any insurance companies.

The governor said the firm will continue to follow that policy as long as Pansing remains in his state position.

Omaha Ordinance Is Unenforceable, High Court Rules

An Omaha city ordinance under which Leo Kubik was fined for allegedly maintaining a disorderly house is unenforceable, the State Supreme Court ruled Tuesday.

Kubik had been fined in Omaha Municipal Court and the Douglas County District Court upheld the fine. But the Supreme Court reversed the decision and instructed the lower court to dismiss the case.

Kubik was manager of the Tavern Owners, Bartenders and Waiters' Club, Omaha.

Kubik was charged with violating the ordinance prohibiting the keeping and maintaining a disorderly house on the grounds the club held no liquor license.

The high court's decision pointed out that a member of the club could take his own liquor to the place and leave it in the custody of the manager.

"The owner and his guests only were served from his bottle," the opinion noted.

Disbarment Of Hyannis Attorney Is Ordered

The State Supreme Court, in an original action, Tuesday ordered the disbarment of Lester C. Hungerford, Hyannis attorney.

The action was based on a complaint that Hungerford converted to his own use funds which he held as referee in a partition suit.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

BAERING DOWN ON THE NEWS

By Arthur 'Bugs' Baer

(Distributed by International News Service)

We started this year by stating we would like to see the Republicans and Democrats one big unhappy family. It looks like the wheel of fortune threw a tire.

Bugs Baer

We printed three rules of will-power for the good resolutionists of the New Year. You can break the smoking habit when all your friends leave town. You can stop gambling when the bookies refuse your IOU's. And you can stop drinking when it's your turn to buy.

☆ ☆ ☆

The year started slow but finished faster than a banjo pick. The five per-centaurs were hossing around looking for the stuff that aint hay.

☆ ☆ ☆

Ripley's Parading Peipings were stalling for another of their famous reloading armistices. How's that for hitting the nail on the thumb?

At that time the story of the 11 Americans hadn't broken. Over in the U.N. chatter-stack it was in one ear and out another window.

☆ ☆ ☆

We said at the start of 1954 that Ike had inherited an over-hanging deficit, an underslug budget and nothing but adding machines in the boiler room.

☆ ☆ ☆

There was a Washington argument last December that went into the discard faster than outside leaves of artichokes. Brownell browned off Harry Truman. Who answered by dragging in Edgar Hoover by the large red ears. The FBI chief pulled the plug on Harray. If you can remember what that hassle was about we'll give you an autographed picture of Winston Churchill in tights.

☆ ☆ ☆

Never was the future so bright for a dishonest young man. France elected a president for the next seven years with no time off for good behavior. The Paris taxihorns were tooting and the French were sniffing cognac in nose aquariums because nobody had heard of Mendes-France.

DAILY CRYTOQUOTE

Here's How To Work It

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

DAILY CRYTOQUOTE

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Grains Move Up On Firm Market

CHICAGO (AP)—A brisk buying movement sent grains higher on the Board of Trade Tuesday, March and May wheat setting new seasonal tops.

The market was firm from the start. It was subjected to retreats at times under profit taking by local traders but in many cases the best prices of the day were scored in the closing minutes.

Wheat finished 1⅝-2¼ higher, corn ¼-¾ higher, oats ¼-½ higher corn ¼-¾ higher, oats ¼-½ higher, rye 1⅝-2¼ higher, soybeans 1¾-2¾ higher and lard 7 to 23 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Old crop wheat futures again were bought by grain men who believe supplies in the free market will be relatively tight before the new crop is harvested.

New crop wheat futures did not do as well as the old crop months, failing to make up all the ground lost Monday. Nevertheless they were bought by grain men who felt the moisture received in the Southwest overnight was not as great as anticipated.

Very small receipts of cash grain was one factor behind the upturn in other cereals These totaled only 5 cars of wheat, 26 cars of corn, 23 cars of oats and 2 cars of soybeans. Wheat, corn and oats were called firm in the spot market

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK (AP)—The corporate bond market firmed Tuesday as demand for railroad and convertible obligations became heavy during the final hours

"Big Board" volume jumped to $6 052,000 par value from $4,630,000 Monday as the corporate list improved Railroads were the strongest section, but most utilities also advanced Industrials fluctuated narrowly, but convertibles were strong.

The U.S. government bond market, however, continued Monday's downward direction in moderate over the counter dealings.

Hurt In Absentia

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Mrs. George C. Rankin was sound asleep in her apartment when an automobile crashed into her car parked on the street outside. Awakened by the crash she climbed on a chair to look out of a high window, slipped and broke her leg.

Nicer To Eat Out

PLEASANT HILL, Calif. (AP) — Poochie ate most of his meals at the home of neighbors, Stella and Howard Waite. So they asked his owners, Mr. and Mrs. Art Hakel, for the dog. The Hakels agreed but now the Waites never see Poochie. He went back to scrounging meals from his original owners.

Stocks Move Back Into High Ground

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market shook itself free from a reaction Tuesday and bounded forward into new high ground again.

The surge ahead was quite strong and involved such key divisions as aircrafts, steels, motors, railroads and chemicals. At the same time it caught up in the rise such secondary groups as the tobaccos and textiles.

Gains went to around $6 with a lot of leaders in the plus range of $1 to $3.

Monday was the final day on which sales could be made in the regular way for four-day delivery to register profits for 1954 Tuesday and for the rest of the year, sales to get profits into the 1954 tax return must be made for cash or next-day delivery. There were a moderate number of these transactions Tuesday at small concessions from regular way deals.

The French Cabinet crisis Monday was considered a restraining influence Premier Mendes-France met his first test successfully but uncertainty over the final outcome remains If concern over Wednesday's voting was a market factor Tuesday, it was scarcely apparent.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced $1 50 at $153 80, a new high since Sept 7, 1929, when the average stood at $154 20 Last Thursday the market was at a new high since that same date in 1929 Monday it declined $1 10

The industrial component of the average Tuesday rose $2 70 to a new high of $209 20 railroads were up $1 10 to a new high of $122 60, and the utilities advanced 10 cents

Volume expanded to 3,660,000 shares on the rise, a bullish factor, as compared with 2 970,000 shares traded in Monday's receding market.

The American Stock Exchange was higher on 1,300,000 shares That compares with 1,280 000 shares traded Monday.

Ordinance No. 5943

AN ORDINANCE amending Section 7 of Ordinance No 4626, passed August 29, 1949, as amended by Ordinance No. 5685, passed April 7, 1954, regulating rates and charges for natural gas service, repealing said Section 7 of Ordinance No 4626, passed August 29, 1949, as amended by Ordinance No 5685, passed April 7, 1954, and declaring an emergency.

BE IT ORDAINED by the City Council of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska

Section 1. That Section 7 of Ordinance No. 4626, passed August 29, 1949, as amended by Ordinance No 5685, passed April 7, 1954, be and it hereby is amended to read as follows

"Section 7 RATES AND CHARGES. In consideration of this grant and as one of the covenants and conditions thereof, Grantee agrees, for and in behalf of itself, its lessees, successors and assigns, that from and after the effective date hereof and during the entire term hereof, it will provide two classes of service for its customers to be known as "Firm Gas Service" and "Interruptible Gas Space Heating Service" and that it will not charge, collect or receive for natural "Firm Gas Service" in said City or territory under its jurisdiction without prior approval of the City Council, to exceed the following rates and charges, as set forth in Schedule I hereof

SCHEDULE I—FIRM GAS SERVICE

FIRM GAS SERVICE. "Firm Gas Service" is defined as gas service that is supplied on a non-interruptible basis. Firm gas service shall be available to all domestic and commercial customers whose maximum requirements are less than 1,000 cubic feet per hour, provided that this limitation shall not apply to the present use of existing firm gas users

AVAILABILITY This service shall be available only to domestic and commercial customers whose maximum requirements for natural gas is less than 1,000 cubic feet per hour The Grantee shall not be required to provide firm gas service to any customer whose maximum requirements amount to 1,000 cubic feet or more per hour.

RATE

First 500 cubic feet or less used per month—One and 15/100 ($1.15) Dollars
Next 1,500 cubic feet used per month—One and 01/100 ($1 01) Dollars per 1,000 cubic feet.
Next 3,000 cubic feet used per month—Eighty cents (80c) per 1,000 cubic feet;
Next 5,000 cubic feet used per month—Seventy-two cents (72c) per 1,000 cubic feet,
Next 40 000 cubic feet used per month—Sixty-five and five-tenths cents (65.5c) per 1 000 cubic feet
Next 50,000 cubic feet used per month—Sixty-three cents (63c) per 1,000 cubic feet
Excess over 100,000 cubic feet used per month—Sixty-two cents (62c) per 1,000 cubic feet

MINIMUM MONTHLY BILL—$1 15 which includes the use of 500 cubic feet of gas

REFUND PROVISION In the event Grantee is not required to pay all of the increase in the wholesale rates for gas as requested by its supplier, Northern Natural Gas Company, in Federal Power Commission Docket No. G-2505, which increased rates will become effective under Federal Power Commission Refunding Bond on December 27, 1954, then the Grantee will make a "Cost of Gas" credit refund to the customers billed at the rates for firm gas service as shown in this ordinance, of the difference between (1) the average MCF cost of firm gas supplied such customers computed at the wholesale rates set forth in Federal Power Commission Docket No G-2505 and (2) the actual average cost per MCF which Grantee is ultimately required to pay for said gas The amount to be refunded shall be reduced by the cost of computing and making such refunds

Said "Cost of Gas" credit refunds shall be made within a reasonable time after the actual average cost per MCF of said gas to the Grantee has been finally determined and the Grantee has received the refund from its supplier, Northern Natural Gas Company, with respect to the aforesaid gas provided that the total amount of such "Cost of Gas" credit refunds shall not exceed the total amount of the refund, including interest, received by Grantee from Northern Natural Gas Company, applicable to the firm gas sales in Lincoln

SCHEDULE II — INTERRUPTIBLE GAS SPACE HEATING SERVICE

"Interruptible Gas Space Heating Service" is defined as gas service that is supplied on an interruptible basis for space heating only. It shall be subject to curtailment or interruption on demand of the Grantee whenever necessary to protect the service of its firm gas customers.

AVAILABILITY Interruptible Gas Space Heating Service shall be available only on a contract basis to domestic or commercial customers for space heating, whose requirements for natural gas amount to 1,000 cubic feet or more per hour, and who install and maintain sufficient stand-by equipment and stand-by fuel to provide for their entire requirements during periods of curtailment of the use of natural gas by the Grantee in order to protect the service of its firm gas customers.

PENALTY. The Grantee may charge and collect a penalty of Ten Dollars ($10 00) per 1,000 cubic feet of all gas used by any customer, during any period in which Grantee has requested discontinuance of the use of natural gas service to protect the gas service of its firm gas customers

The above mentioned monthly rates shall apply to the combined reading of meter or meters, of each customer as though same were one meter, and there shall be only one meter per customer unless the customer desires to install more than one meter in which event the monthly service charge shall apply to each meter.

The above and foregoing rates shall be understood to apply and be based upon natural gas of the British Thermal Unit heating value of not less than nine hundred (900) British Thermal Units per cubic foot of gas, and in the event at any time the heating value of said gas shall fall below or be less than the minimum of nine hundred (900) British Thermal Units per cubic foot of gas then and in that event the aforesaid rates shall be automatically, proportionately and correspondingly lowered and reduced during any period or periods of time in which any such gas of lower British Thermal Unit value shall be furnished

Grantee further agrees that the rates herein mentioned shall remain and continue as the maximum rate schedule for natural gas service during the entire term of this grant unless altered or modified with the consent and approval of the City Council and that said rate schedule shall not be construed or understood to be a minimum rate schedule and if, as and when, during said period of time, production, operation and other operating conditions and business conditions justify, the Grantee will, from time to time, subject to the approval of the City authorities of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, lower and reduce the aforesaid rates for natural gas service. Grantee further agrees that if at any time during the term hereof, and in the lawful exercise of its regulatory power, the City authorities shall elect to change or alter said rates downward, they may do so.

The Grantee covenants and agrees that at no time during the term hereof and for rate making purposes for natural gas in the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, shall Grantee claim the right of using as a basis for such determination a wholesale gas rate higher or greater than such wholesale gas rate actually charged to Metropolitan Utilities District of Omaha Nebraska, for gas supplied from the same pipe line or lines from which Grantee herein receives its supply for the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, and for a general and similar supply of natural gas to the City of Omaha, Nebraska."

Section 2. That Section 7 of Ordinance No 4626, passed August 8, 1949 as amended by Ordinance No 5685 passed April 7, 1954, be and it hereby is repealed

Section 3 Whereas an emergency exists this ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

Introduced by Clark Jeary
Passed December 27, 1954.
Clark Jeary Mayor.

Grains Move Up On Firm Market

CHICAGO (AP)—A brisk buying movement sent grains higher on the Board of Trade Tuesday, March and May wheat setting new seasonal tops.

The market was firm from the start. It was subjected to retreats at times under profit taking by local traders but in many cases the best prices of the day were scored in the closing minutes.

Wheat finished 1⅝-2¼ higher, corn ¼-¾ higher, oats ¼-½ higher corn ¼-¾ higher, oats ¼-½ higher, rye 1¾-2¼ higher, soybeans 1¾-2¾ higher and lard 7 to 23 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Old crop wheat futures again were bought by grain men who believe supplies in the free market will be relatively tight before the new crop is harvested.

New crop wheat futures did not do as well as the old crop months, failing to make up all the ground lost Monday. Nevertheless they were bought by grain men who felt the moisture received in the Southwest overnight was not as great as anticipated.

Very small receipts of cash grain was one factor behind the upturn in other cereals. These totaled only 5 cars of wheat, 26 cars of corn, 23 cars of oats and 2 cars of soybeans. Wheat, corn and oats were called firm in the spot market.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK (AP)—The corporate bond market firmed Tuesday as demand for railroad and convertible obligations became heavy during the final hours.

"Big Board" volume jumped to $6,052,000 par value from $4,630,000 Monday as the corporate list improved. Railroads were the strongest section, but most utilities also advanced. Industrials fluctuated narrowly, but convertibles were strong.

The U.S. government bond market, however, continued Monday's downward direction in moderate over the counter dealings.

Hurt In Absentia

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Mrs. George C. Rankin was sound asleep in her apartment when an automobile crashed into her car parked on the street outside. Awakened by the crash she climbed on a chair to look out of a high window, slipped and broke her leg.

Nicer To Eat Out

PLEASANT HILL, Calif. (AP) — Poochie ate most of his meals at the home of neighbors, Stella and Howard Waite. So they asked his owners, Mr. and Mrs. Art Hakel, for the dog. The Hakels agreed but now the Waites never see Poochie. He went back to scrounging meals from his original owners.

Stocks Move Back Into High Ground

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market shook itself free from a reaction Tuesday and bounded forward into new high ground again.

The surge ahead was quite strong and involved such key divisions as aircrafts, steels, motors, railroads and chemicals. At the same time it caught up in the rise such secondary groups as the tobaccos and textiles.

Gains went to around $6 with a lot of leaders in the plus range of $1 to $3.

Monday was the final day on which sales could be made in the regular way for four-day delivery to register profits for 1954. Tuesday and for the rest of the year, sales to get profits into the 1954 tax return must be made for cash or next-day delivery. There were a moderate number of these transactions Tuesday at small concessions from regular way deals.

The French Cabinet crisis Monday was considered a restraining influence. Premier Mendes-France met his first test successfully but uncertainty over the final outcome remains. If concern over Wednesday's voting was a market factor Tuesday, it was scarcely apparent.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced $1.50 at $153.80, a new high since Sept. 7, 1929, when the average stood at $154.20. Last Thursday the market was at a new high since that same date in 1929. Monday it declined $1.10.

The industrial component of the average Tuesday rose $2.70 to a new high of $209.20, railroads were up $1.10 to a new high of $122.60, and the utilities advanced 10 cents.

Volume expanded to 3,660,000 shares on the rise, a bullish factor, as compared with 2,970,000 shares traded in Monday's receding market.

The American Stock Exchange was higher on 1,300,000 shares. That compares with 1,280,000 shares traded Monday.

Notice to General Contractors

Sealed proposals will be received by the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, at the office of the City Clerk, Theo H. Berg, until 10:00 o'clock a.m., Central Standard Time, January 12, 1955, at which time and place all proposals will be immediately and publicly opened and read, for Contract No. 4, Additions to the "A" Street Station of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, as shown in this Notice, and more fully explained in complete plans and specifications on file with said City Clerk.

The work is briefly described as follows:

Contract 4,
Section 1.

Installation of four new water pumps and the motor drives thereof, and suction and discharge piping including valves and meters; removal of two existing pumps and motors, their foundations, and the piping which interferes with placing new piping; and the construction of new foundations, pipe supports, reservoir sumps, manholes, pump house substructures and miscellaneous items.

Contract 4,
Section 2

Electric wiring for four new water pumps and the starting and control equipment thereof; installation of new auto-transformer; supplying certain apparatus and the alteration of four existing switchboard panels; wiring between transmitters and receivers of four Venturi meters; removal of three transformers and existing wiring which interferes with placing new wiring; and miscellaneous electric items.

Pumps, motors, piping, valves, meters, and various other equipment, machinery and supplies, as shown in detail in the technical specifications, have been heretofore purchased and delivered to the City and are to be used in constructing this project.

Each bidder may submit a bid for one of the sections listed above and he may also submit a separate bid for the other section.

The Engineer's estimates of cost are as follows:

Section 1, the sum of $63,000.00.
Section 2, the sum of $13,000.00

A performance bond, in amount equal to 100% of the contract price, shall be supplied by the successful bidder as part of his contract.

Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check or cashier's check, drawn on a bank which is insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, in a sum equal to at least 5% of the amount bid, and made payable to Frank J. Miller, City Treasurer of Lincoln, Nebraska, as guarantee that the bidder to whom the award is made will enter into contract and furnish the required bond.

Detailed plans and specifications may be seen in the offices of the City Clerk; the City Engineer; and the Consulting Engineers, Fulton & Cramer, 922 Trust Building, Lincoln, Nebraska. Bidders desiring plans and specifications for their individual use may obtain the same from the office of the Consulting Engineers upon a deposit of Ten Dollars per set. If such plans and specifications are returned to said Engineers in good condition, within ten days after the contract award, a partial refund (the cost of reproduction and mailing being deducted) will be made to unsuccessful bidders.

Bids made upon blanks other than those furnished with the Contract Documents, or exact duplicates thereof, will be rejected.

The City reserves the right to reject any and all bids, and to waive informalities in bids submitted.

The City also reserves the right to take up to 15 days for consideration of the bids received, during which time no bids may be withdrawn.

City of Lincoln, Nebraska
Theo H. Berg, City Clerk

Ordinance No. 5943

AN ORDINANCE amending Section 7 of Ordinance No. 4626, passed August 29, 1949, as amended by Ordinance No. 5685, passed April 7, 1954, regulating rates and charges for natural gas service; repealing said Section 7 of Ordinance No. 4626, passed August 29, 1949, as amended by Ordinance No. 5685, passed April 7, 1954, and declaring an emergency.

BE IT ORDAINED by the City Council of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska:

Section 1. That Section 7 of Ordinance No. 4626, passed August 29, 1949, as amended by Ordinance No. 5685, passed April 7, 1954, be and it hereby is amended to read as follows:

"Section 7. RATES AND CHARGES. In consideration of this grant and as one of the covenants and conditions thereof, Grantee agrees, for and in behalf of itself, its lessees, successors and assigns, that from and after the effective date hereof and during the entire term hereof, it will provide two classes of service for its customers to be known as "Firm Gas Service" and "Interruptible Gas Space Heating Service" and that it will not charge, collect or receipt for natural "Firm Gas Service" in said City or territoy under its jurisdiction without prior approval of the City Council, to exceed the following rates and charges, as set forth in Schedule I hereof:

SCHEDULE I—FIRM GAS SERVICE.

FIRM GAS SERVICE. "Firm Gas Service" is defined as gas service that is supplied on a non-interruptible basis. Firm gas service shall be available to all domestic and commercial customers whose maximum requirements are less than 1,000 cubic feet per hour; provided that this limitation shall not apply to the present use of existing firm gas users.

AVAILABILITY. This service shall be available only to domestic and commercial customers whose maximum requirements for natural gas is less than 1,000 cubic feet per hour. The Grantee shall not be required to provide firm gas service to any customer whose maximum requirements amount to 1,000 cubic feet or more per hour.

RATE.

First 500 cubic feet or less used per month—One and 15/100 ($1.15) Dollars;
Next 1,500 cubic feet used per month—One and 01/100 ($1.01) Dollars per 1,000 cubic feet;
Next 3,000 cubic feet used per month—Eighty cents (80c) per 1,000 cubic feet;
Next 5,000 cubic feet used per month—Seventy-two cents (72c) per 1,000 cubic feet;
Next 40,000 cubic feet used per month—Sixty-five and five-tenths cents (65.5c) per 1,000 cubic feet;
Next 50,000 cubic feet used per month—Sixty-three cents (63c) per 1,000 cubic feet.
Excess over 100,000 cubic feet used per month—Sixty-two cents (62c) per 1,000 cubic feet.

MINIMUM MONTHLY BILL—$1.15 which includes the use of 500 cubic feet of gas.

REFUND PROVISION. In the event Grantee is not required to pay all of the increase in the wholesale rates for gas as requested by its supplier, Northern Natural Gas Company, in Federal Power Commission Docket No. G-2505, which increased rates will become effective under Federal Power Commission Refunding Bond on December 27, 1954, then the Grantee will make a "Cost of Gas" credit refund to the customers billed at the rates for firm gas service as shown in this ordinance, of the difference between (1) the average MCF cost of firm gas supplied such customers computed at the wholesale rates set forth in Federal Power Commission Docket No. G-2505 and (2) the actual average cost per MCF which Grantee is ultimately required to pay for said gas. The amount to be refunded shall be reduced by the cost of computing and making such refunds.

Said "Cost of Gas" credit refunds shall be made within a reasonable time after the actual average cost per MCF of said gas to the Grantee has been finally determined and the Grantee has received the refund from its supplier, Northern Natural Gas Company, with respect to the aforesaid gas; provided that the total amount of such "Cost of Gas" credit refunds shall not exceed the total amount of the refund, including interest, received by Grantee from Northern Natural Gas Company, applicable to the firm gas sales in Lincoln.

SCHEDULE II — INTERRUPTIBLE GAS SPACE HEATING SERVICE.

"Interruptible Gas Space Heating Service" is defined as gas service that is supplied on an interruptible basis for space heating only. It shall be subject to curtailment or interruption on demand of the Grantee whenever necessary to protect the service of its firm gas customers.

AVAILABILITY. Interruptible Gas Space Heating Service shall be available only on a contract basis to domestic or commercial customers for space heating, whose requirements for natural gas amount to 1,000 cubic feet or more per hour, and who install and maintain sufficient stand-by equipment and stand-by fuel to provide for their entire requirements during periods of curtailment of the use of natural gas by the Grantee in order to protect the service of its firm gas customers.

PENALTY. The Grantee may charge and collect a penalty of Ten Dollars ($10.00) per 1,000 cubic feet of all gas used by any customer, during any period in which Grantee has requested discontinuance of the use of natural gas service to protect the gas service of its firm gas customers.

The above mentioned monthly rates shall apply to the combined reading of meter or meters, of each customer as though same were one meter, and there shall be only one meter per customer unless the customer desires to install more than one meter in which event the monthly service charge shall apply to each meter.

The above and foregoing rates shall be understood to apply and be based upon natural gas of the British Thermal Unit heating value of not less than nine hundred (900) British Thermal Units per cubic foot of gas, and in the event at any time the heating value of said gas shall fall below or be less than the minimum of nine hundred (900) British Thermal Units per cubic foot of gas, then and in that event the aforesaid rates shall be automatically, proportionately and correspondingly lowered and reduced during any period or periods of time in which any such gas of lower British Thermal Unit value shall be furnished.

Grantee further agrees that the rates herein mentioned shall remain and continue as the maximum rate schedule for natural gas service during the entire term of this grant unless altered or modified with the consent and approval of the City Council and that said rate schedule shall not be construed or understood to be a minimum rate schedule and if, as and when, during said period of time, production, operation and other operating conditions and business conditions justify, the Grantee will, from time to time, subject to the approval of the City authorities of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, lower and reduce the aforesaid rates for natural gas service. Grantee further agrees that if, at any time during the term hereof, and in the lawful exercise of its regulatory power, the City authorities shall elect to change or alter said rates downward, they may do so.

The Grantee covenants and agrees that at no time during the term hereof and for rate making purposes for natural gas in the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, shall Grantee claim the right of using as a basis for such determination a wholesale gas rate higher or greater than such wholesale gas rate actually charged to Metropolitan Utilities District of Omaha, Nebraska, for gas supplied from the same pipe line or lines from which Grantee herein receives its supply for the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, and for a general and similar supply of natural gas to the City of Omaha, Nebraska."

Section 2. That Section 7 of Ordinance No. 4626, passed August 8, 1949, as amended by Ordinance No. 5685, passed April 7, 1954, be and it hereby is repealed.

Section 3. Whereas an emergency exists, this ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

Introduced by Clark Jeary.
Passed: December 27, 1954.
Clark Jeary, Mayor.
ATTEST: Theo. H. Berg, City Clerk.

SALESMEN
ARE MADE, NOT BORN
If you can sell or ambitious to learn, I'd like to talk to you. If selected you will have a permanent position with our firm. Has integrity and background. Our organization is the oldest and largest in its field. Have several offices being opened in this territory. Ground floor opportunities. We will demonstrate sales made. Have 3 field trainers in Lincoln to assist in training. Our men make much better than average earnings. Mornings see E. E. (Casey) Jones. 2025 O. 4

SALESMAN
$5,000 to $20,000 Yearly
Plus bonus arrangement. Will train you, we have the number appliance being sold today. Must be neat, have car, be ambitious & have a desire to earn more than in '54. See E. E. JONES, SALES MANAGER, 2525 O. mornings. 4

We are a 53 year old concern with a product to be introduced into the home. The want and need of this product is a salesman's dream. It has been on the market for years but was never sold. We have discovered a new way to present it, which has proven very successful in other parts of the country. If you want a future and security, get in on the ground floor. This is not books, insurance, vacuum cleaners, food plans, or any other high pressure item, but there is a definite need for it in the home. No canvassing or traveling, plenty of leads, come in, 314 So. 11. Ask for Mr. Gluck anytime Tues, Wed, or Thurs. -30

Why Settle for Less Than
$14,000 IN A YEAR
The days are gone when a "few thousand" a year salary was enough for a man to take care of his family, buy a new car, and "salt some away for the future."

If you are a middle-aged man who has reached the "ceiling" on your earnings and now want to make good in a new field, we can make you a fine offer to join our organization, where top men are paid up to $22,000 in a year.

In spite of shortages in other businesses, our volume is expanding at a terrific rate. We have an opening in the Lincoln area for a man over 45. The man we want must be high grade (not high pressure), ambitious and sincere. Earnings are paid in advance, no investment is needed, no collections, no deliveries.
Write a personal letter to our PRESIDENT, Dept. C-7, P.O. Box 711, Fort Worth 1, Texas. 29

We are a 53 year old concern with a product to be introduced into the home. The want and need of this product is a salesman's dream. It has been on the market for years but was never sold. We have discovered a new way to present it, which has proven very successful in other parts of the country. If you want a future and security, get in on the ground floor. This is not books, insurance, vacuum cleaners, food plans, or any other high pressure item, but there is a definite need for it in the home. No canvassing or traveling, plenty of leads, come in, 314 So. 11. Ask for Mr. Gluck anytime Tues, Wed, or Thurs. -30

Why Settle for Less Than
$14,000 IN A YEAR
The days are gone when a "few thousand" a year salary was enough for a man to take care of his family, buy a new car, and "salt some away for the future."

If you are a middle-aged man who has reached the "ceiling" on your earnings and now want to make good in a new field, we can make you a fine offer to join our organization, where top men are paid up to $22,000 in a year.

In spite of shortages in other businesses, our volume is expanding at a terrific rate. We have an opening in the Lincoln area for a man over 45. The man we want must be high grade (not high pressure), ambitious and sincere. Earnings are paid in advance, no investment is needed, no collections, no deliveries.
Write a personal letter to our PRESIDENT, Dept. C-7, P.O. Box 711, Fort Worth 1, Texas. 29

Richard Jay To Fill Vacant School Board Post

$10 Million Bond Vote Up In February

RICHARD A. JAY

Richard A. Jay, 36, manager of the Lincoln Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. plant has been appointed to fill the vacancy created on the Board of Education by the death of the late Dr. John P. Senning.

Jay, who has been a Lincoln resident since 1948, will serve until the next general city election in May of 1955. A Board member must be elected at that election to serve out the remaining four years of Senning's term.

Board Attorney Willis Hecht stated that the candidate elected in May will take office the third Monday of that month.

Jay has been active in various community projects, including the Red Cross, Community Chest, Chamber of Commerce and Boy Scout work. He has also served on the Lincoln and Lancaster County Safety Council, Community Hospital Fund, Inc., and the City Council's Power Advisory Board. Jay is a graduate of Iowa State College and came here from the Goodyear plant at Akron, Ohio. His home is at 2009 Lake.

$10 Million Vote

He took office in time to give the Board a unanimous vote in favor of a resolution calling for the special $10 million school bond election on Feb. 8. The resolution stipulated the 20 years amortization period for the bonds, set the time for voting at 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. and other routine matters.

In support of the bond issue, Superintendent of Schools Steven N. Watkins submitted a report showing total proposed costs for new buildings and facilities of $10,517,035. This includes $9,838,000 in new construction to meet school needs through 1959.

The new construction figure would provide some 242 new classrooms to meet an expected increase of 7,250 pupils in the elementary grades by the fall of 1959. Also included in that figure are 62 classrooms on the secondary level.

The total $1,517,035 includes also $133,500 for additional equipment and $545,535 to be applied to Pershing and Eastridge Schools.

Plungied further into the building program, Jay voted along with other Board members approval of preliminary plans and authorization for preparation of specifications on a new 12 classroom addition to Belmont School. This estimated $400,000 structure will also contain a combination auditorium and stage and a gymnasium.

The addition will be constructed to facilitate the later erection of another six classrooms.

Probation Violations Bring New Sentence

Edith Humrich, 26, of Lincoln has been sentenced to one to two years in the Women's Reformatory at York following the revocation of her probation in Lancaster District Court.

She had been placed on two years' probation last July 2 after pleading guilty to issuing a no-account check with intent to defraud.

In pleading guilty to violation of probation, the defendant admitted not reporting as required and leaving the county without an order from the court. She was returned from Illinois on a bench warrant.

Firm Files Answer

Blue Star Foods, Inc., of Wahoo, defendant in a $3 153 agency service agreement suit brought by Edward J. Kurts, trustee for Langhammer Inc., bankrupt of Omaha, has filed an answer and cross-petition in Federal Court. Blue Star contends that all of the trustee-alleged claims were satisfied and asks judgment for $2,177.31.

Suicides In Japan Set Record In '54

TOKYO (INS)—Suicides in Japan this year added up to a record-breaking 20,000, according to a Welfare Ministry "white paper" which said the main cause was worsening deflation.

There was a total of 710,000 deaths in 1954, the paper said, with apoplexy the largest lifetaker. Other causes of death in order were: Cancer, old age, tuberculosis, heart disease, pneumonia, accidents, diarrhea, enteritis, suicides, nephiritis and hephrosis.

Reformatory Escapee Gets One More Year

A Nebraska Reformatory escapee, Billy G. Wagner, 21, from Tulsa, Okla., has been sentenced to the Penitentiary for an additional year for escape.

Wagner pleaded guilty in Lancaster District Court to escaping from the Reformatory on Aug. 28, 1951, in a pickup truck.

Authorities said Wagner and another inmate drove the pickup truck to Crete, where they stole a car and drove to Denver. There they took another car.

Wagner was apprehended in Utah and was prosecuted as a juvenile offender in Federal Court there. He was committed to a Federal institution, and later escaped.

Apprehended, he was sentenced to a year-and-a-day for escape and transferred to the Federal Penitentiary at Leavenworth.

At the time of his escape from the Reformatory here, Wagner was serving a three-year term for auto theft given in 1950 from Lancaster County.

He was returned to the Reformatory recently from Leavenworth.

Just Visiting

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Twentieth Century-Fox movie studio says its prize performer, Marilyn Monroe, has not gone into hiding to lick her divorce wounds, but is merely visiting in New York and will report back to work in Hollywood next week.

New School At 48th, South Investigated

The Board of Education has voted to investigate the possibility of acquiring property around 48th and South for construction of a new primary school.

Superintendent of Schools Steven N. Watkins reported that the development of the Randolph district will add another unit load (six classrooms) on the Randolph School. But rather than deciding this now, Dr. Watkins stated, a study should be made of the possibilities of developing a primary school unit which might draw from Randolph, Holmes and Sheridan.

Forty-eighth and South would be about equally distant from all three schools.

Preliminary plans for the second Holmes addition are expected to be presented to the Board at the Jan. 11 meeting.

On Thursday, Feb. 10, the Board will receive bids on the Lincoln public schools activity building.

Rotarians From Nebraska And Iowa To Hear International President

The president of Rotary International, Herbert J. Taylor of Chicago, will be in Lincoln Wednesday to address representatives of 60 Rotary Clubs in Nebraska and western Iowa.

Taylor

Taylor, who has traveled widely in Europe, the Near East and South America during the past year, will discuss his travels and impressions of the clubs visited in those regions.

He will speak at a noon luncheon and a 6:30 p.m. dinner at the Cornhusker Hotel Wednesday night.

A director of the Monarch Aluminum Mfg. Co. of Cleveland and the First National Bank of Barrington, Ill., he is president of the Club Aluminum Co. of Chicago. He is also director of the Chicago Federal Savings and Loan Co.

He has been a Rotarian since 1923, and has served Rotary International as vice president, director, district governor and committee chairman.

Taylor was a Navy officer during WW I, and in WW II, he served as vice president of the War Department price adjustment board.

He is the author of the 'Four-Way Test'—a business action creed which he had copyrighted and donated to the Rotary.

He is a former chairman of the National Boys and Girls Week committee and a sponsor of one of the largest boys camps in the country.

A graduate of Northwestern University, he received an honorary doctor of law degree from Houghton, N. Y., College.

Mrs. Taylor will be the guest of Rotary ladies at a separate luncheon Wednesday noon.

Pleas Entered In $35 Larceny Case

Paul Barnes, 35, of 1327 O, was bound over to District Court under $2,000 bond after waiving preliminary hearing on a charge of larceny from person.

Barnes pleaded not guilty before County Judge Herbert Ronin to a charge of taking $35 on Dec. 18 from John Shea, 51, of 716 B. Barnes' co-defendant in the case, Carl H. Butler, 26, of 1424 O, has pleaded guilty to the same charge and has been bound over to District Court under $2,000 bond.

Warned Again

TOKYO (INS)—Red China warned the U.S. again to pull out the Seventh Fleet as a move "imperative" in the interests of peace and repeated threats to "liberate" Formosa at all costs.

The warning was given in Peiping Radio propaganda broadcasts which quoted a lengthy editorial from the Peiping People's Daily which alleged that the recently concluded U.S.-Nationalist Chinese defense pact represents a "conspiracy" against world peace which the (Red) Chinese people "will not tolerate."

Mrs. Miller, 53, Dies At Hospital

Mrs. Iva Lee Miller, 53, a bookkeeper for Hill Hatchery, died Tuesday at a local hospital. Her home was at 1143 Saratoga.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Rose Wood of Lincoln.

Insurance Pay Deductions OK'd

A program of insurance payroll deductions for employees who request it has been approved by the Board of Education.

The Board acted after it had determined that one insurance carrier has policies in force on more than 50 per cent of the school district's employees. This was a requirement for the deductable plan under a previously adopted Board policy.

Richard Jay To Fill Vacant School Board Post

$10 Million Bond Vote Up In February

RICHARD A. JAY

Richard A. Jay, 36, manager of the Lincoln Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. plant has been appointed to fill the vacancy created on the Board of Education by the death of the late Dr. John P. Senning.

Jay, who has been a Lincoln resident since 1948, will serve until the next general city election in May of 1955. A Board member must be elected at that election to serve out the remaining four years of Senning's term.

Board Attorney Willis Hecht stated that the candidate elected in May will take office the third Monday of that month.

Jay has been active in various community projects, including the Red Cross, Community Chest, Chamber of Commerce and Boy Scout work. He has also served on the Lincoln and Lancaster County Safety Council, Community Hospital Fund, Inc., and the City Council's Power Advisory Board. Jay is a graduate of Iowa State College and came here from the Goodyear plant at Akron, Ohio. His home is at 2009 Lake.

$10 Million Vote

He took office in time to give the Board a unanimous vote in favor of a resolution calling for the special $10 million school bond election on Feb. 8. The resolution stipulated the 20 years amortization period for the bonds, set the time for voting at 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. and other routine matters.

In support of the bond issue, Superintendent of Schools Steven N. Watkins submitted a report showing total proposed costs for new buildings and facilities of $10,517,035. This includes $9,838,000 in new construction to meet school needs through 1959.

The new construction figure would provide some 242 new classrooms to meet an expected increase of 7,250 pupils in the elementary grades by the fall of 1959. Also included in that figure are 62 classrooms on the secondary level.

The total $1,517,035 includes also $133,500 for additional equipment and $545,535 to be applied to Pershing and Eastridge Schools.

Plungied further into the building program, Jay voted along with other Board members approval of preliminary plans and authorization for preparation of specifications on a new 12 classroom addition to Belmont School. This estimated $400,000 structure will also contain a combination auditorium and stage and a gymnasium.

The addition will be constructed to facilitate the later erection of another six classrooms.

Probation Violations Bring New Sentence

Edith Humrich, 26, of Lincoln has been sentenced to one to two years in the Women's Reformatory at York following the revocation of her probation in Lancaster District Court.

She had been placed on two years' probation last July 2 after pleading guilty to issuing a no-account check with intent to defraud.

In pleading guilty to violation of probation, the defendant admitted not reporting as required and leaving the county without an order from the court. She was returned from Illinois on a bench warrant.

Firm Files Answer

Blue Star Foods, Inc., of Wahoo, defendant in a $3.153 agency service agreement suit brought by Edward J. Kurts, trustee for Langhammer Inc., bankrupt of Omaha, has filed an answer and cross-petition in Federal Court. Blue Star contends that all of the trustee-alleged claims were satisfied and asks judgment for $2,177.31.

Suicides In Japan Set Record In '54

TOKYO (INS)—Suicides in Japan this year added up to a record-breaking 20,000, according to a Welfare Ministry "white paper" which said the main cause was worsening deflation.

There was a total of 710,000 deaths in 1954, the paper said, with apoplexy the largest lifetaker. Other causes of death in order were: Cancer, old age, tuberculosis, heart disease, pneumonia, accidents, diarrhea, enteritiеs, suicides, nephiritis and hephrosis.

Reformatory Escapee Gets One More Year

A Nebraska Reformatory escapee, Billy G. Wagner, 21, from Tulsa, Okla., has been sentenced to the Penitentiary for an additional year for escape.

Wagner pleaded guilty in Lancaster District Court to escaping from the Reformatory on Aug. 28, 1951, in a pickup truck.

Authorities said Wagner and another inmate drove the pickup truck to Crete, where they stole a car and drove to Denver. There they took another car.

Wagner was apprehended in Utah and was prosecuted as a juvenile offender in Federal Court there. He was committed to a Federal institution, and later escaped.

Apprehended, he was sentenced to a year-and-a-day for escape and transferred to the Federal Penitentiary at Leavenworth.

At the time of his escape from the Reformatory here, Wagner was serving a three-year term for auto theft given in 1950 from Lancaster County.

He was returned to the Reformatory recently from Leavenworth.

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Twentieth Century-Fox movie studio says its prize performer, Marilyn Monroe, has not gone into hiding to lick her divorce wounds, but is merely visiting in New York and will report back to work in Hollywood next week.

New School At 48th, South Investigated

The Board of Education has voted to investigate the possibility of acquiring property around 48th and South for construction of a new primary school.

Superintendent of Schools Steven N. Watkins reported that the development of the Randolph district will add another unit load (six classrooms) on the Randolph School. But rather than deciding this now, Dr. Watkins stated, a study should be made of the possibilities of developing a primary school unit which might draw from Randolph, Holmes and Sheridan.

Forty-eighth and South would be about equally distant from all three schools.

Preliminary plans for the second Holmes addition are expected to be presented to the Board at the Jan. 11 meeting.

On Thursday, Feb. 10, the Board will receive bids on the Lincoln public schools activity building.
